ROOSEVELT'S WOUND "SERIOUS, NOT MERE FLESH WOUND"

Bullet Lies Against Fourth Rib; No Operation Considered at Present

CHICAGO, OCT. 15.

"The examination of Col. Roosevelt at 1 p. m. showed that his temperature was 98.8, his pulse 92, his respiration normal. It pains him to breathe. He must have absolute quiet; must cease from talking and must not see anyone until we give permission.

UMPIRES—Evans, Rigler, O'Loughlin and Klem.

FENWAY PARK, Boston, Oct. 15.—"Smoky Joe" Wood, Boston's star pitcher, who twice has defeated the Giants in the world's championship struggle, was humbled by the New Yorkers today, when they scored six runs and made seven hits off him in the first inning. Hall relieved him in the second round. Tesreau was on the mound for New York and started in great style.

New York's onslaught revived the hope that New York would win the series.

First Inning.

GIANTS—The game was late in starting because the temporary fence in left field was broken down by the crush of spectators. Devore got an infield hit when Wagner could not field his roller. Doyle singled to center. Devore and Doyle worked a double steal. Wood's pitch was low and Cady did not try to throw out either man. Devore and Doyle scored on Snodgrass' two-base hit. Murray sacrificed, on a grounder to Stahl. Snodgrass scored on a single by Merkle, who took second on the throw in. The wind carried Merkle's fly out of Lewis' reach. On Herzog's grounder Merkle was out, Wood to Wagner to Gardner. Herzog took second on the out. Meyers singled to left, scoring Herzog. Fletcher singled and Meyers took third when Gardner fumbled the throw in. Meyers scored on Tesreau's hit through the pitcher. Fletcher scored on a delayed steal. Tesreau being out, Cady to Yerkes to Stahl to Wagner. SIX RUNS, SEVEN HITS, ONE ERROR.

RED SOX—A wind storm began as Boston went to bat. Great clouds of dust were blowing around the field. Hooper struck out. Yerkes walked. Speaker flied to Murray. Lewis died, Herzog to Merkle. NO RUNS, NO HITS, NO ERRORS.

Second Inning.

GIANTS—Hall replaced Wood. Devore walked. Devore stole second. Doyle walked. Devore was caught off second, Hall to Wagner. Snodgrass singled to right. Doyle scored when Hall threw wild to catch him napping. Snodgrass took third. Murray flied to Wagner. Merkle died, Wagner to Stahl. ONE RUN, ONE HIT, ONE ERROR.

RED SOX—Gardner knocked a home run to the center field fence. It was the first home run of the series. Stahl fouled to Meyers. Fletcher threw out Wagner after Tesreau had knocked down the ball. Cady fanned. ONE RUN, ONE HIT, NO ERRORS.

Third Inning.

GIANTS—Herzog singled to center. Meyers singled to left. Herzog was forced at third when Hall took Fletcher's grounder and threw to Gardner. Hall threw out Tesreau. Devore flied to Hooper. NO RUNS, TWO HITS, NO ERRORS.

RED SOX—Merkle threw wild to Tesreau on Hall's grounder, and the pitcher went to second. It was scored as a hit and an error. Hooper singled to center, Hall stopping at third. Yerkes fanned. Speaker flied to Devore, who threw out Hall at the plate. NO RUNS, TWO HITS, ONE ERROR.

Fourth Inning.

GIANTS—Doyle was out, Stahl unassisted. Snodgrass flied to Wagner. Murray was out, when his grounder was deflected by Hall to Yerkes, who threw to Stahl. NO RUNS, NO HITS, NO ERRORS.

Fifth Inning.

DEAD MAN IN FULL DRESS STORY A HOAX

Police Received Message Body Had Been Found by Ragpicker Under a Porch.

A message received at Police Headquarters, about noon Tuesday, to the effect that a man in full dress had been found dead under some steps at the Rappahannock Apartments, 5573 Delmar boulevard, proved, after much excitement on the part of policemen and reporters, to have been a hoax.

The patrolman on the beat said he had been informed that a ragpicker found the bondy, and ran away after informing several persons in the neighborhood. A suspicious policeman went into a Rappahannock suite occupied by six reporters for morning newspapers and informed the two men then in the suite that he didn't want "anything else like that put over."

The reporters informed him that they were absolutely at a loss to account for his remarks, whereupon he departed, the crowd that had gathered dispersed, and the incident was closed.

Sidelights On the B g Game

FENWAY PARK, BOSTON, Oct 15.

Despite the six hard-fought games which they have gone through, the players on both sides were in fine physical form today. Only Devore, the Giant outfielder, has an ailment. He jammed his left thumb in a parlor car door last night, but he said today he thought he could play without great trouble.

The plea of the players for a share in the proceeds of the tie game in this city Oct. 9 was refused today by the National Commission on the ground that the commission had no power to change the rules drawn up for the series and ratified by the two leagues.

PEACE TREATY IS SIGNED

By Associated Press.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 15.—John W. Schrank, would-be assassin of Col. Roosevelt, was taken to District Court at 10:30 o'clock this morning for preliminary examination. This action was taken on recommendation of District Attorney Zabel, who issued a warrant charging Schrank with shooting Col. Roosevelt, with an attempt to kill.

Judge N. B. Nolen of the District Court, immediately after the arraignment of John Schrank, who attempted to assassinate Col. Roosevelt, ordered Prof. E. W. Somer, head of the chemical department of Marquette University, to make a chemical test of bullets remaining in the prisoner's revolver.

Judge Nolen announced that this action was taken to determine immediately if the bullet which entered Col. Roosevelt's body had been poisoned.

The Judge said that this action was prompted by memories of the bullet which killed President McKinley and also by a personal desire to give the surgeons at Chicago every possible aid in treating Col. Roosevelt's wound.

Schrank's arraignment caused little excitement at the City Hall, where Judge Nolen's courtroom is located. Early in the day it had been announced that Schrank would not be taken to court before tomorrow, so his appearance in charge of a half dozen detectives was not noted.

District Attorney Zabel read the formal charge of attempted murder, based on a warrant for Schrank, issued today.

"Do you understand the charge which the District Attorney has just read here?" asked Judge Nolen.

Wants Case Tried at Once.

"Have you an attorney?" asked the Judge.

"No, I have not," replied Schrank. The District Attorney interrupted:

"Do you want this case tried in a hurry, Shrank?"

"Yes, sir," said Schrank.

"All right," remarked Judge Nolen, "I think this disposes of the matter so far as we can go. I will fix bail at $7500, the maximum under the charge."

Schrank was returned immediately to the police station.

As soon as Schrank had left the courtroom the Judge called the District Attorney and Peter Paulus, city jailer, to the bar.

"Who has the revolver and the remaining cartridges?" asked the Judge.

"I have," replied Paulus, "and am holding them as exhibits in the case."

"Well, I desire to have a chemical examination made of the remaining bullets to determine if they are poisoned," said the Judge. "I therefore order you personally to take the revolver and the bullets to Prof. E. W. Somer for a chemical test.

"Also, it is my urgent order that this test be made immediately, and the information of the results conveyed to me so that I may be in a position to telegraph Col. Roosevelt's surgeons in case the test shows that there will be further complications from poison in the wound."

Jailer Paulus and Attorney Zabel hastened by motor car to Prof. Somer's laboratory, having previously telephoned the chemical expert of their urgent mission.

Shrank insisted again today that a

ROOSEVELT MAN SHOT BY FANATIC CRYING "HURRAH"

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 15.—Charles Brown, a Roosevelt supporter, was shot today by a fanatic who was apparently celebrating the shooting of Col. Roosevelt.

Brown had purchased a paper from a newsboy who cried out the news of the shooting, when a man standing a few feet distant drew a revolver and shouting "Hurrah!" fired two shots, one of which struck Brown.

Brown collapsed and the shooter escaped. His wound is not serious.

Physicians Description of Wound

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.

THE following official statement was issued at 10:30 a. m. by the surgeons attending Col. Roosevelt:

"Col. Roosevelt's hurt is a deep bullet wound of the chest wall without striking any vital organ in transit. The wound was not probed. The point of entrance was to the right of and one inch below the level of the right nipple. The range of the bullet was upward and inward, a distance of four inches deeply on chest wall. No evidence of bullet penetrating the lungs, pulse, 90; temperature, 99.2; respiration, 20; leucoyte count, 82 at 10 a. m. No operation to remove bullet is indicated at present time. Condition hopeful, but wound so important as to demand absolute rest for number of days.

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—Col. Roosevelt's wound is not a mere flesh wound, but is a serious wound in the chest, said a bulletin issued this afternoon by physicians at Mercy Hospital.

This bulletin was issued by the doctors after a late examination of the wound made by the bullet of an assassin in Milwaukee last night.

An hour after the examination ,Col. Roosevelt dropped into a peaceful sleep which his physicians said would be very beneficial.

Half a dozen of the most noted and skilled surgeons in Chicago, led by Dr. John B. Murphy, made X-ray examinations of the Colonel's wound and announced that the bullet did not pierce the lung, but had lodged in the chest. They had not planned to operate this morning.

The surgeons' official statement on the Colonel's condition, issued at 10:30, filled his friends with hope. The later one caused some alarm.

Medical men, when shown the statement, seemed to think conditions were most favorable. In their opinion, the chief danger would lie in the formation of pus within the chest cavity. As the bullet did not penetrate that far, this danger was, of course, obviated.

Dr. Murphy said the Colonel would be in the hospital for at least 10 days.

The bullet entered above the upper border of the liver, less than an inch below the lower line of the lungs. The wound, it is said probably would have been fatal if the ball had penetrated either the lung or the liver. If the bullet had entered the same point on the left side, instead of the right, it would have penetrated the heart and caused instant death.

The first person whom the Colonel asked to see after he had his breakfast was the Very Rev. Edward J. Vattman, a former army chaplain, who retired with the rank of Major. He and the

COLONEL EATS HEARTILY

When Father Vattman departed he said:

"He'll get well. There is no danger that he will die at this time."

Medical men, after reading the official statements issued by surgeons attending the former President, were of the opinion that he would be able to leave the hospital within twelve or fifteen days. With the bullet removed, they said, the Colonel would require absolute rest for that period to insure speedy recovery.

Taken to Hospital at 6 A. M.

Sitting up in his bed and taking tea and toast, Col. Roosevelt early this afternoon read a volume of essays. This was the word brought out by Medill McCormick as he left the Colonel's room in the hospital.

"Col. Roosevelt is still in active charge of his campaign," said McCormick, "though it has been decided, to his regret, that his speaking tour be abandoned. He expressed the wish that he be permitted to talk with O. K. Davis at the hospital this afternoon."

Col. Roosevelt, with the bullet still in his body, was taken to Mercy Hospital at 6 a. m. after a consultation of physicians who ordered a second X-ray examination with a view to an immediate operation.

The Colonel had declared that he would not enter an ambulance, but would ride in an automobile and walk to and from the vehicle. He walked to the ambulance from the train wrapped in an army overcoat and at once lay on the couch awaiting him.

The Colonel walked into the X-ray room of the hospital without assistance. He was reading a message as he walked and, having glanced at the sheet, looked up and joked those near him because his pajamas had been forgotten in the trip from his car. He showed much interest in the preparations for the radiograph.

The patient was taken to a suite on the third floor and prepared for the X-ray examination by Dr. George Hochrein. Besides Dr. Murphy, Dr. Philip Kreusher, Dr. W. B. McCaley, Dr. John P. Golden, Dr. Terrell and Dr. Sayler of Milwaukee were in attendance.

Wound Deep in Tissues, but Away From Lung.

The X-ray examination of the wound in Col. Roosevelt's breast located the bullet deep in the tissues, but at a safe distance from the lung apparently. A telegram at once was sent to Mrs. Roosevelt in New York by the Colonel's orders. It read:

"Present examination shows no further danger beside that of which you were informed from Milwaukee. Respiration good. Pulse normal. Bullet in safe place. No blood expectorated."

Col. Roosevelt had sent the following message to Mrs. Roosevelt last night:

"Am in excellent shape. Made an hour and a half speech. The wound is a trivial once. I think they will find that it merely glanced on a rib and went somewhere into a cavity of the body; it certainly did not touch a lung and isn't a particle more serious than one of the injuries any of the boys used continually to be having. Am at the Emergency Hospital at the moment, but anticipate going right on with my engagements. My voice seems to be in good shape. Best love to Ethel."

"Col. Roosevelt is normal in everything. He says he is feeling fine but complains of a little pain in the side. If an operation is necessary, Dr. [illegible]ler says it can be performed with only a local application of cocaine."

The patient was stronger after the X-ray examination. He ordered a hearty breakfast of tea, bacon and eggs and toast, his customary morning [illegible], saying he was hungry.

The Colonel at 9 a. m. was much stronger than he was in the early morning. He was bright and cheerful and seemed rested. He suffered little pain from the wound.

"The tremendous vitality of Col. Roosevelt is beginning to assert itself again," said Dr. Terrell. "I expect his fine sphysical condition to bring him through."

Announcement was made by Col. Roosevelt's secretaries that the Colonel would not attempt to make any more speeches during the campaign unless unforeseen circumstances arise.

As soon as the Colonel's condition will warrant it he will be removed to Oyster Bay.

Ignores Physicians and Minimizes the Danger.

The Colonel slept on the trip from Milwaukee. His refusal to cancel the speech, his delivery of nearly an hour and a half address and his walk to and from his motor car in Milwaukee, all the time with the bullet still in the deep wound, were regarded by his physicians as imprudent in the extreme, but the Colonel insisted on having his own way and minimizd the danger and pain of the wound. His stained garments and bullet-pierced eyeglass case and bundle of papers were the chief evidence on the train that anyone had been wounded.

The train was met by local physicians. Col. Roosevelt said he was fairly comfortable and in little pain, but the doctors at once let it be known that vigorous measures were to be taken to prevent complications.

Col. Roosevelt slept two hours after his arrival in Chicago before he was awakened and taken to Mercy Hospital. Meanwhile his train, which consisted of two private coaches and two baggage cars, was being viewed silently by 400 persons who had gathered in the railway station.

A white automobile backed up to within two feet of the private car, "Mayflower," when all was ready to take the Colonel to the hospital. Immediately the rear door of the coach was opened by Dr. Murphy and Col. Roosevelt stepped out with a steady stride. He was supported slightly by the physician.

"Gosh! Shot Again," He Says When Photographed.

As the Colonel was descending the steps of the car, several flashlight photographs were taken.

As he walked to the automobile, Col. Roosevelt saluted newspaper men and policemen with a cheery good morning.

After being assisted into the ambulance, the Colonel slowly reclined on the stretcher. His cousin took a seat beside him and with Dr. Murphy directing the chauffeur the drive to Mercy Hospital, two miles distant, was accomplished in eleven minutes.

Col. Roosevelt alighted, unassisted, and walked slowly to an invalid chair. He waved salutes to a group of reporters.

As soon as possible after the patient was in the suite of two rooms which had been prepared for him on the third floor, Dr. Hochrein began taking an X-ray photograph of the portion of the body where the bullet had entered. A consultation was held immediately afterward to determine whether an immediate operation should be made.

The X-ray photograph was completed shortly before 8 a. m. Col. Roosevelt was inclined to converse while the photograph was being taken. He also put in part of the time reading, chiefly from magazines.

A crowd gathered in front of Mercy Hospital, eager for news of the Colonel's condition. In spite of its size, the throng was quiet and nothing but a subdued murmur came from it as messengers hurried back and forth. The doctors refused to answer any questions except through authorized channels.

The special car, the "Mayflower" in which the Colonel has been traveling, and the "Sunbeam," the correspondent's car, both were released by the Colonel's managers today.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 15.—The attack on Col. Roosevelt occurred in the street in front of the Hotel Gilpatrick. Col. Roosevelt reached Milwaukee shortly after 5 o'clock and making his way through the crowd which had gathered at the station, entered an automobile and was driven to the hotel. He took dinner in a private dining room on the main floor with members of the party on his private car.

After his dinner the ex-President went to his room on the second floor of the hotel, and shortly before 8 o'clock he started for the auditorium. His automobile stood in front of the door and about it were [illegible] hundred persons who were waiting for a glimpse of the Colonel. With the Colonel were Philip Roosevelt, a young cousin; Mr. Cochems, Mr. Martin and Capt. Girard.

The crowd pressed close about the Colonel and cheered as he appeared. As the party reached the automobile Col. Roosvelt's companions stood aside and he stepped into the car. Martin entered directly behind him and sat on the farther side of the car.

Col. Roosevelt stood up, waved his hat in answer to the cheers of the crowd.

Steps to Side of Car, Fires.

The assassin was standing in the crowd a few feet from the automobile. He stepped to the side of the car and fired.

Martin caught the flash of the revolver and leaped out of the car a second after the shot was fired.

Roosevelt barely moved. Before the crowd knew what had happened Martin, who is 6 feet tall and a former football player, had landed on the assassin's shoulders and had thrown him to the street. He threw his right arm about the man's neck and with his left arm seized the hand that held the revolver. In another second he had disarmed him.

Col. Roosevelt stood calmly looking on Martin picked up the man as though he were a child and carried him the few feet almost to the car.

Roosevelt gazed curiously at the man who attempted his life before the stunned crowd realized what was going on. Then a howl of rage went up.

"Lynch him, kill him," cried a hundred men. The crowd pressed in and Martin and Capt. Girard, who had followed Martin over the side of the automobile, were caught with their prisoner in the midst of a struggling throng of maddened men. It seemed for the moment the assassin would be torn to pieces by the crowd, and it was Roosevelt who intervened on behalf of the man.

"Stop, stop," he cried; "stand back; don't hurt him."

The throng at first was not disposed to heed his words, but at length fell back.

Martin was still holding Schrank in his grasp. Henry F. Cochems, who had jumped in front of the Colonel, turned to him.

"He pinked me, Harry, he pinked me," said the Colonel, with his hand over the wound in his right breast. "I got that all right."

"For heaven's sake, Colonel, go to a hospital," said Cochems. "Don't try to speak."

"I will go there and speak tonight," said Roosevelt with deliberation, "if it kills me, I will speak if I fall on the platform.

"I have a message to deliver. This may be the last chance to deliver it. I may be hurt worse than I feel. This may be my last speech. I am strong now. I want to go right away, while I am good for it."

Col. Roosevelt opened his waistcoat and bloody shirt, and looked at the wound. Little blood came from it, which at first seemed to indicate that the flow might be internal.

"Looks like a shot from a .38," said Roosevelt, "but I'm not coughing. I guess I'm all right. Somebody give me a handkerchief."

Dr. Terrel handed him a fresh handkerchief and he put it over the wound and closed his shirt over the place. Few persons saw the Colonel bandage his own wound, a he took pains to conceal his movements and the operation took but a moment. He had been standing all the time and he turned and waved his hat as cheerfully as he had a little while before.

Dr. Scurry Terrell of Dallas, Tex., Col. Roosevelt's physician, who had entered the automobile just before it started off, insisted that the Colonel return to the hotel. He would not hear of it, however, and the car was driven to the Auditorium.

There the Colonel was taken into a dressing room and his outer garments were removed. Dr. Terrell, with the help of Dr. John Stratton of Milwaukee and Dr. S. S. Sorenson of Racine, Wis., who were in the audience and came to the dressing room on a call from the platform, made a superficial examination of the wound. They agreed it was impossible to hazard a guess as to the extent of the Colonel's injuries, and that he should by all means go at once to a hospital.

"I will deliver this speech or die, one or the other," was Col. Roosevelt's reply as he walked from the dressing room to the stage, despite the physicians' protest.

He took his usual firm steps to the platform from which he spoke, and sternly resisted all efforts to get him to shorten his speech. One of these behind him attempted to take his manuscript, but the Colonel picked it up, with a rebuking remark.

Jokes at the Hospital.

At the Emergency Hospital, he looked calmly around the waiting room open doors, and kept on his feet in opposition to the wishes of his friends and the orders of his physician.

"A 38, eh, some drive, that," he said looking again at the wound, as he stretched out on the operating table and submitted to the examination of the physicians. After the hospital examination was over and it had been decided to defer probing for the bullet until the party arrived in Chicago, the Colonel rode in his motor car to the railroad station sitting upright and responding to the greetings of the crowds that lined the route.

He stepped lightly from the car, waving his hat, and walked rapidly to the train, some distance from the car.

"Bully for you, Teddy." "You are a brave man, Teddy, all right," yelled the crowd, and the Colonel waved his hand and smiled.

In the car he first refused to go to bed. He went to his stateroom and called for hot water.

"I want to shave," he said. "I must shave before I can be comfortable, and I'm going to do it."

He did, taking his time about the operation, going twice over his face and then consented to go to bed. He undressed himself. That was about an hour before his train pulled out, and before it had started he had his first doze. The train had not been in motion many minutes before he was in a quiet slumber, and this continued almost unbroken until he reached Chicago.

Further details of the attack upon Col. Roosevelt will be found on pages 6 and 7.

The superior fit and quality of this famous make of underwear has won for itself a high place in the esteem of discriminating women. The manufacturers of these garments have greatly improved their entire line for the Fall and Winter of 1912. Just as the automobile is improved from year to year, based on the experience of the foregoing year, so is the quality of the "Harvard Mills" Hand-finished Underwear improved. New lines and shapes are added and particular attention is always given to the improving of the finishes, trimmings, etc. For instance:

The 50c garment this season will be hand-crocheted in the same pattern that was formerly used for the higher priced grades only, with no advance for this improvement.

"Harvard Mills" Underwear will be found most economical in the end because of its long-wearing qualities and the high degree of comfort which is felt by every user.

This Is the Greatest Rug Sale Ever Held

Our Sale of Renard & Co.'s Entire Stock Shatters All Records

We are selling so many Rugs that we cannot hope to duplicate this sale unless another occasion equally as unusual as this should arise. And we believe that we will easily set a "record-week" for Rug selling in St. Louis. When we had the opportunity to buy all the Rugs these noted jobbers had, we knew that it meant values such as we have never before had to offer; that it meant thousands of homes would be furnished with new Rugs, that are bright, clean and perfect, at but a fraction of their worth. We gave over all our Rug space to this sale and we trebled our sales force; yet we couldn't wait on all today. We hope we will be able to give our patrons tomorrow full attention.

NEW YORK PAPERS DEPLORE ATTACK ON COL. ROOSEVELT

REMEDY IS NOT AT HAND

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The morning papers comment editorially on the shooting of Col. Roosevelt and deplore the conditions which make such attacks possible. Among the leading editorials are:

The World: Must public men in the United States be forever at the mercy of any lunatic who happens to develop a homicidal mania?

Mr. Roosevelt was shot at Milwaukee last night, but fortunately, the wound is not likely to prove serious. Nevertheless, the man shot to kill, and had he realized his expectations, Mr. Roosevelt would now be dead. Only two years ago Mayor Gaynor was shot as he was preparing to leave for Europe, and although he recovered, he still carries the assassin's bullet in his throat.

What happened to Mr. Roosevelt yesterday may happen to Mr. Taft today or to Mr. Wilson tomorrow, or even to Mr. Debs the day after tomorrow. Government and society alike seem powerless to provide adequate protection for public men and public officials in this country.

Mr. Roosevelt himself has always regarded assassination or attempted assassination as one of the "trade risks" of American public life and there is probably no means of making it otherwise. Public officials and candidates cannot be very well surrounded by bodyguards like a European monarch. Neither can they maintain a remote and isolated existence from their fellow citizens.

Public questions must be discussed. Public issues must be threshed out, and whatever danger follows must inevitably be assumed. Nevertheless, it ought to be possible to keep crazy men out of shooting distance of Presidents and candidates for President. It ought to be possible to furnish enough police protection to enable the United States to conduct a presidential campaign without the possibility of assassination.

The attempt upon Mr. Roosevelt's life is an exceptional case so far as candidates are concerned. The country has passed through a dozen campaigns in which popular passion ran much higher than it does now, without menace to the life of a candidate. But there is no way of calculating the mental processes of a lunatic or of knowing what may or may not inflame his mind to murder.

In the circumstances there is nothing to do but to congratulate Mr. Roosevelt on his escape and to congratulate the country upon its escape from another red blot upon the pages of American history.

American: Every American will rejoice from the bottom of his heart if the weirdly wicked attempt on the life of Theodore Roosevelt at Milwaukee last night does no serious permanent harm to him.

Deep moral harm, alas, was done when the demented fiend fired the shot. The harm was not alone to the illustrious man, of whose career this and future generations of Americans will be proud. The crime was against the republic, against all democracy.

By the new law passed after the assassination of Mr. McKinley, a mere attempt on the life of a President, however impotent or harmless, is punishable by death. If Col. Roosevelt were President, therefore, instead of ex-President, the insane criminal who shot with intent to kill him, would expiate the crime by death. As Col. Roosevelt is now a plain citizen his would-be assassin will undoubtedly end his days in an asylum for the criminal insane. If we knew Col. Roosevelt he will not even prosecute his assailant. Fortunately, his testimony will not be necessary.

How appalling it is that in this freest of all countries, where the wildest of free speech is not only permitted by law, but tolerated—where the selection of our rulers is made by public opinion, and where even our fundamental laws are changed in obedience to the wishes of the majority, that the serious crime of assassination should ever exist in even the weakest brain or the blackest heart.

Every American citizen may devoutly thank God that ex-President Roosevelt escaped an untimely death, and, praying for his speedy recovery, will fervently hope that the foul and infamous crime of political assassination may be blotted from the fevered brains of frenzied partisans, and from the annals of this great republic.

Times: The whole country will be inexpressibly shocked by the news of the murderous assault on Col. Roosevelt in Milwaukee last night, and admiration for the courage which impelled him, after he was wounded, to deliver the address that was expected of him will be general. It is to be hoped, however, that this imprudence may not have serious results.

A bullet fired by a madman hit him in the right breast, and after he had spoken for 50 minutes, it was discovered that he had been bleeding profusely and was weakened by the loss of blood. A gunshot wound in the body is always serious, but it seems likely at this hour that Col. Roosevelt's rugged constitution will enable him to overcome the effects of the wound, if no vital [illegible] has been in-

Home-Makers' Week

There isn't anything in the way of making homes habitable for winter, that we haven't tried to make Home-Makers' Week include.

Our experts are here to give advice and guidance, suggestions and help in every way, in the decorating and furnishing of the home, wholly or in part.

Of particular interest: Linen Sale, the Lace Curtain Sale and the Sales of Furniture, Carpets, Rugs, Blankets, Fancy Linens, Artwares, China and Housefurnishings.

Hand-Embroidered Shamrock Linens at Half

Still a plentiful selection from that remarkable purchase of entire samples and trial pieces from John S. Brown & Son, Belfast, Ireland.

Included are beautiful all-linen Pillowcases, Towels and Bedspreads, Doylies, Centerpieces, Tray Cloths, Scarfs, Pillow Shams, Lunch Cloths, Sheets and Table Sets, in all sizes, and hand hemstitched, hand-scalloped and hand-embroidered in all sizes and in so many designs that selection is a treat.

And then remember, they are being offered at actual half value or less—pieces that would ordinarily be $5 and $6 are $2.50 and $3—pieces that would ordinarily be $10, $15, $25 and even $30, are just exactly half those prices—and there are pieces at all prices in between.

$1 Hand-Emb'd Linens, 50c.
$1.25 Hand-Emb'd Linens, 60c.
$1.50 Hand-Emb'd Linens, 75c.
$2 Hand-Emb'd Linens, $1.
$3 Hand-Emb'd Linens, $1.50.
$3.50 Hand-Emb'd Linens, $1.75
$4 Hand-Emb'd Linens, $2.
$5 Hand-Emb'd Linens, $2.50.
$6 Hand-Emb'd Linens, $3.
$8 Hand-Emb'd Linens, $4.
$9 Hand-Emb'd Linens, $4.50.
$10 Hand-Emb'd Linens, $5.

A Sale of Used Pianos

Good Pianos, in excellent condition, to be disposed of at prices that make the purchase of a piano a trivial consideration, as far as price is concerned.

We have on the floor today about 85 used Pianos and discontinued styles of new Pianos, which we must dispose of before Friday night.

These are taking up the room that we need for new Pianos, and they must be sold quickly or else sent to the warehouse.

The first way is best, and so they are to be closed out Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, October 16th, 17th and 18th, without regard to what they would ordinarily bring if left upon the floor to be disposed of one by one, as they would be called for in the usual course of business.

Remember, these are all good Pianos, and considered worth a great deal more than the price we ask in each case—yet they can be purchased for

A Little Down and Less Each Month

Included are several excellent Player-Pianos, and many of the Pianos and Player-Pianos in this sale are from some of the most exclusive homes.

"I HAVE SAID NOTHING I WOULD NOT SAY AGAIN" ROOSEVELT DECLARES

WOUNDED COLONEL ROOSEVELT MAKES DRAMATIC SPEECH

Great Audience Watches Candidate's Face for Signs of Weakness as He Digresses From Set Address to Declare He Cares Nothing for His Injury and to Draw a Moral From the Shooting.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 15.—Although weakened by the shot, Col. Roosevelt kept his audience at the Coliseum last night in good spirits by an occasional joke which served to relieve the tension. The people watched him fixedly, following his every movement with their eyes for any suggestion that he was becoming weak. They shifted their feet nervously and gripped the backs of the chairs in front of them. Col. Roosevelt talked on as though he were ignorant of the strange circumstances under which the speech was being made.

At one juncture he turned to the table upon the stage for the manuscript of his speech, which had been penetrated by the bullet. It was not on the table where he had left it, and he saw it in the hands of one of the men on the stage. He demanded it back with the words: "Teach them not to grab." The people, glad of an opportunity of relieving their pent-up feelings, laughed hilariously.

This is a stenographic report of Col. Roosevelt's introduction to his speech after being wounded:

"Friends, I have to ask you to be as quiet as possible. I know you fully understand that I have just been shot, but it takes more than that to kill a Bull Moose, but, fortunately, I had my manuscript (holding up manuscript showing audience hole where bullet had gone through), so you see I was going to make you a long speech.

"And friends, the hole in it is where that bullet went through and it probably saved it from going into my heart. The bullet is in me now, so that I can not make a very long speech. But I will try my best.

"And now, friends, I want to take advantage of this incident to say a solemn word of warning to my fellow Americans.

"First of all, I want to say this about myself. I have altogether too many important things to think of to pay any heed or feel any concern over my own death. Now I would not speak to you insincerely within five minutes of being shot. I am telling you the literal truth when I say my concern is for many other things. It is not the least for my own life.

Life a Happy One.

"I want you to understand that I am ahead of the game anyway. No man has had a happier life than I have had, a happier life in every way. I have been able to do certain things that I greatly wished to do and I am interested in doing other things. I can tell you with absolute truthfulness that I am very much uninterested in whether I am shot or not.

"It was just as when I was Colonel of my regiment, I always felt that a private was to be excused for feeling at times some pangs of anxiety about his personal safety, but I cannot understand a man fit to be Colonel who can pay any heed to his personal safety when he is occupied as he ought to be occupied with the absorbing desire to do his duty.

"I am in this cause with my whole heart and soul. I believe in the Progressive movement—a movement for the betterment of mankind, the movement for making life a little easier for all our people, a movement to try to take the burdens off the man and especially the woman in this country, who is most oppressed. I am absorbed in the success of that movement. I feel uncommonly proud in belonging to that movement, friends. I ask you now this evening to accept what I am saying as absolute truth when I tell you I am not thinking of my own success, I am not thinking of my life, or of anything connected with me personally.

Shows Spectators Blood Stain.

"I am saying this by way of introduction because I want to say somethng very, very serious to our people, especially to the newspapers.

"I don't know who the man was who shot me tonight. He was seized by one of my stenographers, Mr. Martin, and I suppose is in the hands of the police now. He shot to kill me. He shot the bullet. I am just going to show you. (Colonel then unbuttoned coat and vest and showed his white shirt badly stained with blood.)

"Now, friends, I am going to ask you to be as quiet as possible, even if I am not able to give the challenge of the Bull Moose quite as loudly. Now I do not know who he was or what party be represented. He was a coward. He stood in the darkness, in the crowd around the automobile and when they cheered me and I got up to bow he stepped forward and shot me in the breast.

"It is a very natural thing that weak and vicious minds should be inflamed to acts of violence by the kind of foul mendacity and abuse that have been heaped upon me for the last three months by the papers in the interests not only of Mr. Debs, but of Mr. Wilson and Mr. Taft.

"Friends, I will disown and repudiate any man of my party who attacks with such vile, foul slander and abuse any man attached to any other party.

When Minds Are Not Strong.

"Now, I wish to say seriously to the speakers and to the newspapers representing both Republicans and Democratic and Socialist papers that they cannot, month in and month out, year in and year out, make the kind of slanderous, bitter and malevolent assaults that they have made and not expect that the brutal violence, brutal and violent characters—especially when the brutality is accomplished by a not too strong mind—they cannot expect that such natures will be unaffected by it.

"I am not speaking for myself at all, I give you my word. I do not care a rap about being shot, not a rap. I have had a good many experiences in my time and this is only one of them.

"What I do care for is my country. I wish I were able to impress on our people the duty to feel strongly, but to speak truthfully of their opponents.

"I say I have never said on the stump one word against any opponent that I would not defend in the laboratory.

"I have said nothing that I could not substantiate, and nothing I ought not to have said, nothing that, looking back at, I would not say again. I am all right."

After Col. Roosevelt had concluded that portion of his speech in which he referred to his injury, he turned to concrete issues of the campaign, and spoke as though he were making one of the addresses which are a matter of daily routine with him. After he had been speaking for some time, he turned to Dr. Terrell and said:

"How long have I been speaking?"

The crowd laughed, and then broke into a cheer.

Roosevelt was driven in his automobile from the Auditorium to the emergency hospital.

Even after the six physicians there had made their examinations, and were unable to determine the depth of the wound, Col. Roosevelt refused to take the wound seriously.

The operating room had been placed in readiness to receive him, and six of the leading surgeons of Milwaukee were awaiting his arrival.

The physicians found that they knew no more after their examination than before as to the location of the bullet and it was decided to send for an X-ray machine.

While he was waiting for the X-ray machine to be adjusted, Col. Roosevelt talked politics with the physicians, and he refused to be checked despite their

HEARS OF SHOOTING AS HE CALLS COLONEL TRAITOR

Harlan Arranging Roosevelt at Rally When Progressive Scribbles Message on Card.

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—Announcement was made at Progressive headquarters today that a statement concerning the row said to have been precipitated by Senator Walter Clyde Jones, a State Progressive leader, at the Republican rally at the Coliseum last night, might be expected later in the day.

The occasion was a largely attended meeting addressed by J. Adam Bede and John Maynard Harlan, who have been following Col. Roosevelt. Harlan arraigned Col. Roosevelt, declaring that he was "a traitor and ingrate."

Senator Jones, approaching the speaker's stand, while Harlan was speaking, asked permission to be heard.

"Hire a hall!" shouted several in the audience. "Put him out!" cried a score more. Senator Jones was insistent. Two policemen stepped to his side and laid their hands on his shoulders with an admonition to keep quiet.

"Senator Jones, I think you are a gentleman," remarked Harlan. "Try to behave like one."

Senator Jones was persistent. Undaunted by the jeers of the crowd and the ridicule of the speaker he scribbled a few words on a card and handed it to Harlan. It is stated that on the card was written:

"Do you know that Col. Roosevelt has just been shot by a would-be assassin, incited by just such talks as you are now giving?"

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.

GEORGE W. PERKINS, chairman of the Executive Committee of the Progressive National Committee, who raced to headquarters immediately on hearing of the attempted assassination of Col. Roosevelt, was greatly agitated and wrote this for publication:

"I have just this to say: A few sheets of paper stopped a bullet that would have otherwise taken the life of the first citizen in the United States—for whatever our differences may be at the moment in the fierce political fight that is going on, no man with a fair mind will deny that, in all that goes for good citizenship, faithfulness to trust in public life, fearlessness in the discharge of duties, Theodore Roosevelt stands pre-eminently the leading citizen of our land.

"GEORGE W. PERKINS."

ROOSEVELT OFTEN CARRIED A PISTOL

Friends Recall His Insistence That He Could Care for Himself.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—News that Col. Roosevelt had been shot brought vividly to the minds of his friends here that they had often expressed the fear when he was in the White House that he would meet with some such attack. They recalled, however, that he always insisted that he could look out for himself and often resented the secret guards following too closely on his footsteps.

Roosevelt, when he was President, always carried a loaded revolver in his hip pocket and on several occasions when he was speaking, the wind blew aside the tail of his coat, showing his audience the glint of the revolver handle.

His custom of carrying a revolver got him into one or two embarrassing predicaments. At St. Paul he took another man's overcoat by mistake and the fellow who got the Colonel's got a fine big 44-caliber revolver in the pocket. Again he took off his overcoat in church in Washington one day and left his revolver lying in the seat.

When he went to call on Elihu Root as the latter was retiring from the Cabinet, the wind blew his coat tail and showed the barrel of his pistol sticking from his hip pocket. The incident greatly tickled a troop of cavalrymen who were drawn up near Root's house.

Roosevelt's friends here assert that the possibility of his being assassinated has for several years been a source of much fear to Mrs. Roosevelt. She earnestly urged him not to aspire again to sit in the White House. Her opposition to Col. Roosevelt's ambition for another term was so strong that when she had failed in her own efforts, she enlisted the aid of several senators, including Henry Cabot Lodge, who was Col. Roosevelt's warm friend.

While Col. Roosevelt always insisted that he could protect himself if he only had warning, he was fully alive to the danger to which the President of the United States was exposed. He was the first President to have an unduly large force of secret service guards.

Roosevelt, on his trips in the present campaign, had a few guards occasionally, but they had been used chiefly as a help in getting him through crowds. He has insisted since he left the White House that he was a private citizen and had nothing to fear from any American.

PUBLIC MEN IN CONSTANT DANGER

Secret Service Chief Not Greatly Surprised That T. R. Was Shot.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—Chief John E. Wilkie of the United States Secret Service was shocked by the news of the attack on Col. Roosevelt, but not essentially surprised, as, no matter how well a public man is guarded, it is impossible to anticipate and prevent the vagaries of cranks.

Chief Wilkie said it is unfortunate that it is necessary to guard public men at all. He added that Roosevelt, being no longer President, he is not, of course, under the guardianship of the United States Secret Service.

Moses Edwin Clapp, Progressive Senator from Minnesota, said:

"In 90,000,000 of people, there necessarily is a large percentage who are insane, but not yet confined."

The Senator was told that the Colonel continued his speech after the attempted assassination. "Of course he did," said Clapp.

Congressman Albert S. Burleson of Texas, a member of the Wilson Campaign Committee, in speaking of the attempt to shoot Col. Roosevelt at Milwaukee, said: "I am deeply glad that the bullet went wide. The incident is most regrettable. I hope that the person who fired the shot will be punished to the limit of the law."

Secretary of Agriculture Wilson, who was a member of President Roosevelt's Cabinet for seven years, said:

"While the news that his life was attempted is shocking, I am glad, as glad as I ever have been in my life, to hear that Col. Roosevelt was not injured.

"This business of shooting prominent men is becoming too common. There have been too many prominent men killed, and such action as that which occurred in Milwaukee last night ought to be condemned by everyone, friend or foe of Col. Roosevelt. It was a dastardly act."

MOOSE LEADERS HERE DECLARE VICTORY ASSURED

Progressive Headquarters Get Long-Distance Telephone Reports on Roosevelt.

BULLETINS EVERY HOUR

Speakers' Committee Chairman Fears That a Poisoned Bullet Was Used.

Bulletins on Col. Roosevelt's condition were received every hour Tuesday at Progressive headquarters, 517 Olive street. B. F. Beazell, chairman of the Speakers' Bureau in Missouri, had long distance telephone calls from all parts of the State, requesting information as to the probable outcome of Col. Roosevelt's injuries.

He answered the inquiries by repeating the statement made to him by O. K. Davis in Chicago, one of Col. Roosevelt's secretaries. Davis said that Col. Roosevelt was resting easy at the Mercy Hospital, and that there was absolutely no cause for alarm.

Beazell said that the reports were far from reassuring, however, and he feared Col. Roosevelt was much more seriously injured than indicated in the press dispatches and private telephone communications.

Workers Depressed.

The Progressive workers who rushed into headquarters Tuesday to get the latest reports appeared to be much depressed over the attack made upon their champion, but all expressed the conviction that the attempted assassination would insure Col. Roosevelt's election.

"This settles it," said Harry J. Cantwell, chairman of the Progressive City Committee. "The attempt to kill Col. Roosevelt, in the heat of his campaign, will turn the tide to him and elect him."

Chairman Beazell of the Speaker's Bureau, was at his desk Monday night when he heard the news of the attack. He telephoned immediately to Milwaukee for confirmation of the report. Col. Roosevelt was then delivering his speech, and the fears of the Progressive leaders that he was dangerously injured were allayed.

Fears Bullet Was Poisoned.

"It is a deplorable state of affair when a public man cannot go out and talk on the great issues of the campaign without jeopardizing his life," said Beazell. "I fear that the bullet used by the assassin was poisoned, and that complications from the wound will result that may produce alarming conditions.

"It is hardly likely that an assassin would track Roosevelt all over the United States waiting for an opportunity to kill him and then fail to use a poisoned bullet.

"I have always believed that President McKinley's death was caused by a poisoned bullet. Col. Roosevelt should have had the bullet removed immediately. I think he took his life in his hands by going on with his speech. The bullete should have been taken out before it had a chance to infest the wound.

"We are keeping in close touch with Col. Roosevel's personal secretaries and advisers, and we will hear from him every hour during the day. There is great interest among his supporters as to the probability of his recovery.

"While we think that this attack on him assures his election in November, yet we would regard a victory won under such conditions as a costly one."

Jacob Riis to Speak Here.

The attack upon Col. Roosevelt will cause the Progressive campaign to be pushed with greater vigor in Missouri, according to the party leaders.

The Speaker's Bureau announced Tuesday that Jacob Riis of New York, whom Roosevelt once declared was the most useful man in America, will speak at the Odeon the night of Oct. 23. He will speak at noon the same day at the City Club.

Judge Albert D. Nortoni, Progressive party candidate for Governor, will speak at the City Club at noon Wednesday. David T. Punch, a nephew of Judge Jacob Trieber, will preside.

One of the Roosevelt supporters in Cape Girardeau County got the speakers' bureau in a tangle by printing big circulars announcing that Henry J. Allen of Wichita, Kan., would speak at Cape Girardeau and Jackson. He had not been billed for either place, but after the announcements were circulated all over the county, Beazell sent him word to make an effort to fill both engagements.

NEW COMMANDER FOR THE MEXICAN FEDERALS

Reorganization of Army Follows Sensational Charges, Recently Made.

DOUGLAS, Ariz., Oct. 15.—A general reorganization of Federal troops in the north of Mexico is under way, it is said, as a result of sensational allegations of a month ago. Gen. Augustin San Jines, commander of the Federals operating out of the Agua Prieta, has been recalled because of ill-health. Gen. Manuel Gil is on his way from Mexico City to replace him.

The removal of San Jines makes the third case of similar nature in the last few weeks. Gen. Huerta of the entire zone was first removed, failing eyesight being given as the cause. Next Rabago operating in the Casas Grandes district, under Huerta's orders left for Mexico City.

MANY THRILLING ADVENTURES IN THE COLONEL'S CAREER

PERILS HAVE BEEN VARIED

Former President Threatened by Bandits, Cranks and Beasts of the Jungle.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The whistle of a bullet passing near him is no unusual experience in the life of Roosevelt, nor danger which might have had a fatal ending for him. From the days of his ranching life in the West, where, as cow boy and hunter in risking his life herding cattle, in hunting beasts, in joining posses to hunt down outlaws, through the details of his police commisioner days in New York and his experience as soldier in the Spanish War, down on through his terms as vice-president, president, and hunter-at-large in Africa, he has been confronted by beasts and men who would do him harm.

In his own books of the West, Roosevelt has described some of his dangerous experiences, and contemporary newspaper history records the rest.

He was Police Commissioner in New York City in 1896. On April 14 somebody addressed to him a bomb which would explode the moment the wrapper of it was torn. A postoffice clerk caught this package as it went through his hands and sent it to headquarters where it was not opened until after it had been soaked in water. It was then found to contain explosives which would have maimed or killed the person who opened the package.

Many Threatening Letters.

The assassination of President McKinley developed a horde of cranks and lunatics, who, for the most part, contented themselves with writing threatening letters until the guard about the President was reinforced several times and the chief executive himself went openly armed.

On Sept. 2, 1902, at Pittsfield, Mass., an electric trolley car cut down a four-in-hand in which the President, Gov. Crane of Massachusetts, Secretary Cortelyou and the secret service guard, were riding. William Craig, a secret service man, was killed, and another grievously injured. The President was hurled some distance, but received only bruises.

There was a scare in Philadelphia in the following November, when a man made a dash at the President, who was riding with Cortelyou in an open carriage. The Secretary and the secret service men covered the President and the man was captured. He declared he only wanted to shake hands. He was unarmed.

A man who said his name was Everett H. Leighton got into the executive office at Washington Jan. 7, 1902, and, just before the President was to appear for his regular reception, mentioned that he had a "matter he wanted settled personally."

They got him away and had his sanity tested. He carried nothing more deadly than a small pocket knife.

Imperiled by Lunatic.

The President went West in May, 1903, to hunt mountain lions. The day he was to reach Salt Lake City a heavily armed lunatic was picked up in the street. He announced openly that he was going to assassinate the President. He was sent to an asylum.

Just before the President was to go to Syracuse in September, 1903, a man named Miller was arrested on the complaint of Mrs. Mary Smith of that city. He had informed her that he was going to assassinate the President, she said:

Henry W. Weilbrenner, a half-witted farmer of Syosset, N. Y., invaded Sagamore Hill in September, 1903, at night. He was armed. Secret service men caught him within 100 feet of the veranda on which the President was sitting.

A Swede, who gave his name as Peter Elliott and said he was from Lancaster, Pa., was arrested in the White House Oct. 5, 1903. He was armed with a revolver, knife and scissors. He had sent letters and poems before that time and the police were looking for him. He fought desperately against capture, and injured a secret service man before he was subdued.

Five Men in Plot.

The arrest of a Pole at Portland, Ore., on June 2, 1906, revealed the fact that five men had agreed to go to Washington and each try separately to kill the President. These men were all anarchists, but no arrests were made, as the men were reported to have fled across the border.

From time to time in 1903, '04, '05, '06 and '07 anarchist plots were reported from various centers of the country.

One such came from Haselton, Pa., in April, 1907. The year previous a similar conspiracy had been reported from Paterson. Usually the plots were found to be dreams of the narrators.

A demented man appeared at Sagamore Hill in September, 1907, saying that he was going to compel President Roosevelt to collect $10,000,000 from John Rockerfeller. He hinted something of dynamite, but got away. A woman was arrested in Louisville, Ky., in May, 1908, as she was boarding a train with a ticket to Washington. She announced calmly that she was going to kill the President.

In the following month, while the President was fording Rock Creek, Wash., on a skittish horse, the animal reared up and fell backwards. The President freed his feet of the stirrups in time, and lighted standing up.

Confronted by Wild Beasts.

After the end of his term, Roosevelt undertook his famous trip to Africa which concluded with fraternal visits to the great countries of Europe. He has himself described his experiences of standing the charge of wild beasts in which a straight shot was all that stood between him and almost certain death. The shot always was made.

There has been no record of any attempt on his life until last night, since his retirement from the presidency.

It has been said that Socialists from all over the country have written to him denouncing the alleged theft of their platform by the Progressive party, but that actual threats have been few and far between.

Progressive Meetings to Open With Prayer for Roosevelt.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Progressive State Chairman Hotchkiss today announced that he had requested all his party county chairmen by telegraph to open their meetings hereafter with prayer for Col. Roosevelt's recovery. He added that he would seek to make this a national movement.

Post-Dispatch Extra Monday Night Gave News of Shooting

THE Post-Dispatch's extra on the Roosevelt shooting in Milwaukee, issued before 11 p. m. Monday, contained details of the affair, and gave full information as to the Colonel's condition up to that hour. It was the only extra issued by an evening paper.

The extra was sold throughout the residence district, and on downtown streets, and thousands of theater-goers and persons staying at home thus received information concerning the attempted assassination.

Sympathy From Massachusetts Progressives.

BOSTON, Oct. 15.—The State Committee of the Progressive party in Massachusetts, on learning of the attempt on the life of Col. Roosevelt, sent to him the following telegram:

"Massachusetts has just learned of the attempt on your life. The Progressive committee, now in session, sincerely hopes that the injury is not serious and that the Almighty may protect you to carry on the great work you have so ably begun in behalf of the American people."

"Fighter and Unafraid, He Will Carry on Crusade," Says Johnson.

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 15.—"He's a fighter and he is unafraid. Regardless of what they may do, he will carry on his crusade as long as he is able." Thus spoke Gov. Johnson, Col. Roosevelt's running mate on the Progressive ticket, today, when he learned the details of the attack on the Colonel.

ANGRY CROWD THREATENS TO TEAR ROOSEVELT ASSAILANT TO PIECES

ST. LOUIS DOCTORS DISCUSS WOUND OF COL. ROOSEVELT

St. Louis physicians and surgeons were deeply interested in the dispatches telling of the wounding of Col. Roosevelt and were especially attentive to details concerning the wound and its treatment. Some of them discuss the immediate and possible consequences in such a case, basing their opinions on telegraphic descriptions which, they point out, cannot be accepted as scientifically exact:

DR. FRANK J. LUTZ: From a general description of the wound, I think it fair to assume that the bullet did not penetrate the chest cavity. Otherwise, Col. Roosevelt could hardly have continued speaking. The greatest danger is from infection. Pneumonia, or pleuro-pneumonia, must also be reckoned with, as it might develop in case of infection, even if the chest cavity were not pierced. The fact that the bullet passed through so many things will hinder, rather than hasten, the development of infection, unless some particles of one of the things it penetrated were carried with it into the body. Col. Roosevelt's ability to continue speaking for a long a time after being shot was due to the fact that he is a pronounced neurotic and was in a state of great nervous excitement.

DR. JOHN YOUNG BROWN: As far as I can judge, Col. Roosevelt's wound is superficial and I do not believe there is any danger of its becoming infected if it was properly handled, as it undoubtedly was. The fact that he was able to speak for so long after being shot is almost conclusive proof that the pleural cavity was not penetrated. The only danger is that bullet may have carried into the wound some particles from the things it penetrated. The bullet itself need not be feared. A bullet is sterilized by friction with the air and other things through which it passes, and is rarely dangerous of itself. I consider the prognosis excellent in Col. Roosevelt's case. The bullet evidently was deflected from the chest cavity and proper treatment will prevent infection.

DR. HARVEY G. MUDD, surgeon: The nature of Col. Roosevelt's wounds are so meagerly described in the dispatches that it is impossible to form any opinion regarding them. The passage of the bullet through the clothes and manuscript in the pocket minimizes the danger of infection.

DR. WILLARD BARTLETT: As the wound is described to me, I hardly see how it can be considered dangerous. The bullet undoubtedly lodged in the wall of the chest without penetrating the chest cavity at all. In such a case, the only thing to be reckoned with is possible infection, but even that could be handled satisfactorily in a patient of Col. Roosevelt's strength, since the wound is not within the body cavity.

DR. AMAND RAVOLD: I think Col. Roosevelt is more dangerously injured than the dispatches indicate. From latest reports the wound seems to be a serious one. Apparently the bullet has not pierced the lung cavity, but is lodged in the tissues. It undoubtedly carried into the wound particles of the clothing and manuscript, which will increase the chances for infection. It was a bad thing for Col. Roosevelt to proceed with his speech after he was shot, although his act was that of a courageous man. While I am not in a position to express an opinion as to the probable outcome of the injury to Col. Roosevelt physically, I am quite certain that this attack on him will result in his election as President.

DR. H. WHEELER BOND: Since the bullet did not penetrate the chest cavity, the wound does not seem to me to be of much consequence. The only danger is from infection and that is very remote unless the bullet carried particles of clothing or paper into the wound.

DR. FREDERICK HAGLER, resident physician, city hospital: The fact that the bullet passed through so much clothing, and the spectacle case and manuscript besides, lessens the only possibility of danger from infection. The clothes would have sterilized the bullet unless they were not surgically clean. If the wound has been correctly described, I believe it will not give much trouble. Col. Roosevelt should be out again in a few days.

DR. PAUL R. FLETCHER, member of the City Council and formerly an army surgeon for 21 months in the Philippine campaigns: If the bullet which struck Col. Roosevelt is lodged, as the dispatches say, in the heavy muscles of the chest, there can hardly be any danger except from secondary infection. That might be produced by particles of clothing, paper or lint carried into the wound by the bullet.

However, as the chest cavity does not appear to have been penetrated, infection, if it develops, need not be greatly feared. It might be simple and localized and in such a case could be easily removed by simple treatment. On the other hand, it might become general and far more serious.

There is more danger from a lead bullet, as this one evidently is, than from a steel-jacketed bullet. The lead missile has more or a tendency to spread and become deformed—known in army circles as "dum-dumming"— with naturally a greater tendency to carry foreign matter with it. Lead bullets, moreover, are usualy dirty. They are coated with grease before being packed and the grease may contain germs or may catch and hold them.

Wound Not Dangerous Unless It Entered Thoracic Cavity.

AFTER the X-ray examination the surgeons in attendance on Col. Roosevelt gave out a statement that the bullet did not take a dangerous direction, unless it entered the thoracic cavity.

St. Louis physicians explained that the terms "thoracic cavity" is used to designate all of the portion of the body inclosed by the ribs. It extends from the neck to the abdomen. To reach the heart or the lungs a bullet must penetrate into the thoracic cavity.

Its presence there, the physicians say, is usually, but not always, attended by hemorrhages at the mouth. In some cases the hemorrhages are entirely internal, causing a fatal outcome from wounds at first believed to be superficial.

The nickel-steel jacketed bullet from the Mauser and Krag-Jorgensen rifles pierces the body like a needle, making a hole, on entering, about as big as the end of a lead pencil. Infection arising primarily from such bullets is very rare.

Col. Roosevelt evidently has a "freak wound," of which I saw many examples in my army practice. I once was called to treat a man who had been shot in the chest with a Mauser bullet. He was bleeding very slightly and had no symptoms of having been shot through the lung, but when I turned him over I found a bullet hole of similar size in his back.

Uncertain as to the exact nature of the wound, we put the man to bed. The next day a red streak appeared around his body, from one bullet hole to the other, showing that the bullet had run around the chest above the ribs, but under the skin, not penetrating the chest cavity at all. In spite of the length of the wound, no infection developen.

Another man, lying in the trenches, was shot from above. The bullet struck him in the shoulder, fractured the humerus and burrowed over the shoulder above the chest cavity, stopping under the skin in the back, where it appeared as a livid discoloration, like a bruise. The wound was puzzling at first because of the bullet's unusual course, but it gave little trouble. If infection had developed in either of these cases it could have been drained away by simply opening the wound. The same would be true in Col. Roosevelt's case, if I understand the nature of the wound.

DR. G. W. CARSON: The wound, as described, cannot be dangerous in itself, but the possibility of infection must be reckoned with. The bullet would have been sterilized slightly by the heat arising from its friction with the air, but parts of it would not have been affected at all in that respect. All of it, therefore, could hardly have been sterile. The danger of infection in this case depends chiefly on whether the bullet carried poisonous foreign matter into the wound. I would not, however, consider Col. Roosevelt's condition dangerous now.

DR. WALDO BRIGGS: Col. Roosevelt's wound does not seem to be of much consequence, and if it is properly drained and sterilized, there can be very little danger of infection. Such a wound in anybody but a celebrity, would probably attract slight attention, and would occasion no alarm.

DR. R. SHEPARD BRYAN: I judge from the dispatches that the bullet inflicted a "freak" wound. By that I mean it kept plowing along the chest wall without penetrating the cavity. Such a wound is not serious in itself, but there is a danger of infection. The gun, according to the dispatches, was foul. That increases the possibility of danger. Furthermore, minute particles of clothing may have been carried in by the bullet, and clothing is not by any means sterile from a surgical point of view. This would be especially true in the case of a man like Col. Roosevelt, who is traveling and coming into close contact with thousands of people under all kinds of conditions.

DR. O. G. GIBSON: If Col. Roosevelt's wound is accurately described, there can be no danger except from infection. It is probable, furthermore, that should the wound become infected its location would permit of good drainage and satisfactory handling. It must not be overlooked, however, that the bullet may have carried particles of foreign matter with it. Minute particles of clothing, thus taken into a wound by the instrument of puncture, are among the common causes of lockjaw. Such cases demand the closest attention.

DR. CLEVELAND H. SHUTT, Hospital Commissioner: I would hardly consider Col. Roosevelt's wound serious although, in such cases, there always is a remote danger of blood-poisoning, and, in rare instances, of lockjaw. A similar wound on a hand is more apt to produce lockjaw, because the hand is exposed and may be covered with tetanic germs. If those germs, however, happen to be on clothing particles which are carried into a wound by a bullet, tetanus is to be feared. Nevertheless, I think that, with proper treatment, which he undoubtedly has, Col. Roosevelt soon will be all right.

DR. MAX C. STARKLOFF, Health Commissioner: There is no danger in a simple muscular wound, such as Col. Rosevelt evidently has, unless a septic condition arises. That is a different matter and a serious one. I am always afraid of gunshot wounds, because it is impossible to know whether the bullet carried the germs of tetanus. These germs live without oxygen and therefore are often inclosed in cartridges. That is one reason we have so many cases of tetanus arising from injuries inflicted by blank cartridges on the Fourth of July and similar occasions. If the bullet did not penetrate Col. Roosevelt's chest cavity, I see no reason why anything but tetanus should be feared in his case.

DR. JOHN M. GRANT: I do not believe Col. Roosevelt's wound, as described in the early dispatches, is dangerous. It did not penetrate the chest cavity, and there is consequently nothing to be feared, except a remote danger of infection. His physicians, of course, are taking every precaution against that. An infected condition might arise from particles of foreign matter carried by the bullet, but I believe there is little danger of that. Col. Roosevelt has a wonderful physique, and I believe he will soon be all right.

DR. E. M. SENSENEY: I do not consider Col. Roosevelt in any danger at all, if the bullet merely lodged in the chest muscles without penetrating the thoracic cavity. The possibility of infection is very remote, and if infection did develop, it could be easily handled in that location.

FELICE LYNE IS SUED

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 15.—Oscar Hammerstein has sued Felice Lyne, the singer, here, to recover half of the receipts of her Kansas City performance. He asks an injunction preventing her further appearance except under his direction; charging violation of contract.

Col. Roosevelt's Characteristic Remarks After He Was Shot

"I WILL finish this speech or die."

"I am carrying a bullet in my body now. I may have to cut my speech short."

"I'm going to ask you to be very quiet and please excuse me from making you a long speech."

"I'm going to finish this speech. I'm all right; let me alone."—Reply to doctors who sought to end address.

"I'm feeling fine!"—Colonel's declaration when he was on way to board special to take him to hospital.

"The poor creature!"—His comment on assassin as he was hustled away by captors.

"You see, it takes more than that to kill a Bull Moose."—Declaration to audience, as he pointed out bullet holes in copy of his speech.

"He pinked me, Harry, he pinked me."—Remark to Henry F. Cochems.

"Looks like a shot from a .38—but I'm not coughing. I guess I'm all right. Somebody give me a handkerchief."—His comment on looking at the wound.

"I'll walk to the hospital from the car. I'm no weakling to be crippled by a flesh wound."—Words following refusal to ride in an ambulance.

"A .38, eh? Some drive, that!"—What he said as he stretched out on operating table.

Post-Dispatch Telegraphs Sympathy of St. Louis to Col. Roosevelt

Col. Theodore Roosevelt, Milwaukee:

The news of an attempt on your life was a profound shock to St. Louis, thousands of whose citizens personally welcomed you on the occasion of your recent visit here. The Post-Dispatch hastens to express this city's deep sympathy with you and your family and to wish you a speedy recovery.

POST-DISPATCH.

HADLEY SURE OF THE COLONEL'S FUTURE USEFULNESS

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Oct. 15.

GOV. HADLEY today gave out the following brief statement concerning the attempted assassination of Col. Roosevelt: "I sincerely hope Col. Roosevelt's wound is as the reports indicate, neither a serious nor dangerous one. Whatever difference of opinion may exists as to the advisability of his candidacy in this campaign, there can exist no difference as to his future usefulness to the American people whether in public office or private life."

COLONEL'S MOVEMENTS DAY HE WAS SHOT

5 p. m.—Col. Roosevelt arrived in Milwaukee.

"BOY" WITH HEAVY BEARD PROTESTS HE'S ONLY 16

Authorities Hold Prisoner to Determine Age—He Says He's a Burglar.

With a bristly three-days growth of beard Edward Israel, known also as Edward Wentz, protested in Justice Willecken's court at Clayton Tuesday that he was only 16 years old. In order to hold him, pending an investigation as to his age, he was arrainged on a charge of carrying concealed weapons.

The "boy," who looks like a man, was arrested in University City on the night of Oct. 5 while prowling about a meat shop with a large revolver in his pocket. He told Policeman Walsh that he was preparing to rob the shop and when taken to the police station he gave his occupation as "burglar."

On the witness stand Tuesday Israel smilingly said that he had committed burglaries in New York, Jersey City, Philadelphia and Baltimore and had served time in a New York reformatory. His case was continued a week to give the authorities time to learn his real age from prison and police records. If he is not more than 16 he will be tried in the Juvenile court.

TWO ARE KILLED WHEN AIRSHIP FALLS 80 FEET

BERNE, Switzerland, Oct. 15.—A double flying fatality occurred today at Chaux-de-Fonds, near Neuchatel. A Swiss airman named Cobini was making an aeroplane flight carrying a newspaper man named Bippert as passenger, when the machine collapsed and fell from a height of eighty feet, killing both.

Suits Against Compresses.

GALVESTON, Tex., Oct. 15.—Twelve suits are to be filed against that number of cotton compresses charging violation of the "spider" law designed to regulate the placing of loose spiders on cotton bales. The suits will be filed in the counties where the compresses are located.

MAN WHO CAUGHT SCHRANK, TELLS OF THE SHOOTING

Martin, Who Roosevelt Says, "Has a Punch," Declares Colonel's Plea Saved Assailant From Lynching.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 15

Elbert H. Martin, one of Col. Roosevelt's secretaries, who seized the would-be slayer, told the story of his adventure.

"I walked downstairs with the Colonel and out to the car," he said, "and had taken my seat before anything happened. As Col. Roosevelt was standing in the car waving his hat to the crowd, the flash of metal caught my eye.

"I did not stop to think what I was doing, and before I really knew it, jumped over the side of the car and had my arm around the neck of a man I had hardly seen. Everything seemed to happen at once.

"There was a flash, a sound of a shot and I was on the ground with the man. I threw one arm about his neck and held him fast. At the same time I caught his gun hand with my free hand and wrenched the revolver from him. He struggled for a minute, but in spite of the fact that he was acting like a madman, he did not keep up the fight long, and, with the help of Capt. Girard, I soon had him under control.

"I picked the man up and held him where Col. Roosevelt could see him.

"'The poor creature,' said the Colonel.

"I put the revolver into my pocket and began to drag the man out of the crowd, who were on us in a minute and were struggling to get at the prisoner.

"The Colonel saw the man was in danger, and it was his act which saved him. He told the crowd to stand back and they did. Capt. Girard and I dragged him into the hotel and turned him over to the police.

COSTLY NEW WEAPON USED BY SCHRANK

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 15.

THE revolver which John Schrank used in his attempt on Col. Roosevelt's life, is of 38-caliber. It is large and shining in its newness. It is of a kind used extensively in the army, and is expensive and efficient.

Assassin Talks Rationally, Says He 'Feels Pretty Well'

vision in which former President McKinley appeared to him caused him to shoot the Colonel. Schrank looked little the worse for a night spent in a cell at the Central Station. He ate a sandwich, although he said his appetite was not very keen.

"How do you feel?" Schrank was asked.

"Oh, pretty well, considering everything," he answered.

He appeared unperturbed over the probable consequences of the shooting. He talked rationally. He said he usually voted the Democratic ticket, but that sometimes he voted as a Republican.

Lost Sweetheart on Slocum.

It was learned from him that his sweetheart, whom he called Emily Zeigler, lost her life on the steamship Gen. Slocum in New York several years ago. He never married, he says.

Schrank is a curious study. His hands are small and well formed, and smooth, as though unused to toil. He talks fluently at times, using excellent English, but often stops abruptly and refuses to say another word until his changing mood makes him talkative once more. His appearance is that of an intelligent man and his large, clear eyes, which he holds steadily upon his inquisitors, do not seem like those of most men who are insane.

The police believe, however, that Schrank is afflicted with some mental disorder. His stories of dreams and visions and the curious letters and clippings found in his pockets seemed to bear out their theory.

Whatever his state of mind, it was apparent to all who saw him that Schrank was thoroughly in earnest, that he felt that it was a matter of high duty for him to kill Roosevelt.

Schranck had on his person a complete description of the Colonel's itinerary, which was written on the back of a sheet of note paper taken from the Bismarck Hotel and Cafe, at Nashville, Tenn.

The would-be assassin is 5 feet 5 inches in height, weighs 170 pounds, is of light complexion and bald.

He confessed to the police that he fired the shot, and made the remark:

"Any man looking for a third term ought to be shot."

A written proclamation found on the clothing of the man who did the shooting reads:

"Sept. 15, 1912.

"Sept. 15, 1901, 1:30 a. m.—In a dream I saw President McKinley sit up in a monk's attire in whom I recognized Theodore Roosevelt. The dead President said: 'This is my murderer; avenge my death.'

"Sept. 12, 1912, 1:30 a. m.—While writing a poem, some one tapped me on the shoulder and said: 'Let not a murderer take the presidential chair. Avenge my death.'

"I could plainly see Mr. McKinley's features.

"So long as Japan could rise to the greatest power of the world despite her surviving a tradition more than 2000 years old, as Gen. Nogi so nobly demonstrated, it is the duty of the United States of America to uphold the third term tradition.

"Let every third termer be regarded as a traitor to the American cause. Let it be the right and duty of every citizen to forcibly remove a third termer. Never let a third term party emblem appear on the official ballot.

"I am willing to die for my country God has called me to be his instrument, so help me God.

"INNOCENT GUILTY."

"In German, a strong tower is our God."

Shooting Result of Careful Plan.

After a long cross-examination Col. Roosevelt's assailant talked more freely. The shooting was the result of a carefully laid plan by Schrank, which often was frustrated, according to his story.

He formerly had a saloon at 370 East Tenth street, between Avenues B and C, New York City. He was born in Erding, Bavaria, two hours out of Munich, the capital. He is 36 years old, and came to this country with his parents when he was 9 years old. He had been engaged in the saloon business, as proprietor and as an employe of members of his family nearly all his life, until he decided that it was his duty to kill Col. Roosevelt.

He said he had been personally acquainted with Roosevelt since the former President was Police Commissioner of New York City, in 1895.

He said he was first attracted to him as a political personage during the Chicago convention. Then he said he began to think seriously of him as a menace to his country when he cried "Thief" at that convention. He looked upon his plan to start a third party as a danger to the country, he said. He said that his knowledge of history, gained through much reading, convinced him that Roosevelt was engaged in a dangerous undertaking. He declared he was convinced that if he was defeated at the fall election he would again cry "thief" and that his action would plunge the country into a bloody civil war.

He said he deemed it his duty to put him out of the way. He was living at his home soon afterward, he had a dream in which former President McKinley appeared to him. He was told by McKinley in this dream that it was not Czolgosz who murdered him, but Roosevelt. He said McKinley told him Roosevelt had killed him, so that he might become President.

Schrank said he was a person more deeply impressed by what he read in the newspapers than others, and that after having this dream he was more convinced than ever that he should free the country from the menace of Roosevelt's ambition.

Sept. 21 he removed to the White Hotel at 156 Canal street, near the Bowery. He did this as his first step in a plan to kill Roosevelt. He went soon afterward to a gun store on Broadway and purchased a revolver.

He then purchased a ticket to Charleston, S. C., and went to that city by steamboat. His first plan was to catch the Roosevelt party in New Orleans, he said, but he found this was impossible. He accordingly went to Charleston, and on his arrival there had $300 left. He left a bag at the Mosley House in that city, which contained, besides the box in which the revolver had been packed, a deed to property at Eighty-first street in New York, worth $25,000, and his naturalization papers. That bag is there now.

Not being able to carry out his plan in Charleston, he proceeded to Atlanta, Ga., then to Chattanooga, Tenn., and from there to Evansville and Indianapolis, Ind., and to Chicago. In each of these cities he tried to shoot Roosevelt, but was unable to waylay him. He decided to shoot him as he arrived in Chicago and waited for him at the Chicago & Northwestern Station, but the intended victim did not arrive there. He then decided to do the shooting at the Coliseum, but in this case as in others, Roosevelt left the building by an entrance other than the one at which he had stationed himself.

During all this time he had traveled under the name of Walter Ross, except at Charleston, where he gave his right name.

While in Chicago on Saturday he was at the Jackson Hotel and he decided after his failure at the Coliseum to come to Milwaukee in advance of the party and lay his plans so carefully that he could not fail. He came to Milwaukee Sunday morning and went to the Argyle, a lodging house on Third street. He said he then purchased newspapers to inform himself as to Roosevelt's whereabouts and learned Monday he was to arrive at 5 o'clock.

He learned also that he was to be a guest at the Gilpatrick, and managed to get in a position near the entrance, where he could shoot to kill when Roosevelt appeared.

Schrank said he was sorry he had caused all this trouble for the good people of Milwaukee and Wisconsin, but he was not sorry that he carried out his plan.

New York Acquaintance Tells of His Movements.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—At 705 East Tenth street, the address given by Col. Roosevelt's assailant, no one knows him, nor was he known in the immediate neighborhood. At 207 East Tenth street, were found Stephen Anotke and his wife. Anotke said he knew a man who answered Schrank's description, as did Mrs. Anotke. She declared that Schrank's name was Schreck and that he had lived at 310 East Tenth street until recently.

"Schreck and his wife and my husband and I came here from Hungary about five years ago," said Mrs. Anotke. "Since then the Schrecks have had a daughter, who is now 3 years old. Schreck is a Socialist. About a year ago Schreck opened a laundry on Third street, between First avenue and Avenue A, but they sold it a little while ago. Schreck always seemed an orderly sort of a man. He was about 40 years of age, tall, had blond hair and was partly bald."

There are two laundries on Third street. Neither is owned by Schreck and the present owners do not know him.

Champ Clark Sends Good Wishes.

ROCK ISLAND, Ill., Oct. 15.—Speaker Champ Clark, who last night addressed a big political meeting here, telegraphed today to Col. Roosevelt, as follows:

"Col. Roosevelt, Chicago. Awful sorry that you were shot. Glad no worse. Hope for your speedy recovery."

Wilson Wires Sympathy to Col. Roosevelt at Chicago

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 15.

ONE of the first things Gov. Woodrow Wilson did today was to read the newspaper accounts of the attempt to assassinate Col. Roosevelt. He sent the following telegram to the Colonel at Chicago:

"Please accept my warmest sympathy and heartiest congratulations that your wound is not serious."

Taft Gives Statement Deploring the Shooting

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.

PRESIDENT TAFT issued a statement on board the Mayflower this afternoon relative to the shooting of Col. Roosevelt.

"I cannot withhold an expression of horror," he said, "at the act of the maniac who attempted to assassinate Col. Roosevelt."

"WHEN I briefly expressed my regret last night," the President's statement continued, "I had been informed that Col. Roosevelt was then speaking and had escaped injury. The news this morning, however, is of a more serious character. I feel the deepest sympathy for Mr. Roosevelt and his family and I pray that the wound may prove to be only a flesh wound, and that, as the surgeons predict, there may be no complications.

"This assault, following the shooting of Mayor Gaynor, two years ago, and the assassination of three out of the last nine of the presidents elected by our people, are events which must cause solemn reflection by all Americans upon conditions which make it possible that such dastardly deeds may occur in a country affording to its citizens such complete advantages of civil liberty.

"It is, of course, difficult entirely to avoid the malignant purpose of the insane. The severe enforcement of the laws against the carrying of concealed weapons and the more rigorous and certain prosecution of all such attempted crimes, whether against prominent or less conspicuous persons, are, of course, helpful, but the condemnation of all good citizens of such acts and their co-operation in preventing the spread of vicious doctrines which would excuse or palliate an attempt to remedy fancied wrongs by resort to violence will be more effective.

"I speak for the American people in expressing the profound hope that Col. Roosevelt may speedily recover from the effects of this dastardly act."

Mr. Taft sent messages to Col. Roosevelt and Mrs. Roosevelt, respectively, as follows:

"I am greatly shocked to hear of the outrageous and deplorable assault made upon you and I earnestly hope and pray that your recovery may be speedy and without suffering. W. H. TAFT."

"I extend to you my heartfelt sympathy in your present distress. I earnestly hope and pray that you and your family and the country may be promptly relieved of suspense by news that all danger is passed.

"W. H. TAFT."

ROOSEVELT'S WIFE HURRIES TO JOIN HIM IN CHICAGO

DAUGHTER IS ON WAY; WIFE WILL JOIN ROOSEVELT

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 15.

MRS. NICHOLAS LONGWORTH, daughter of Col. Roosevelt, departed today for Chicago. Congressman Longworth, her husband, will go to Chicago tonight.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—After Mrs. Roosevelt had spent a restless night as a result of the shooting of Col. Roosevelt in Milwaukee, it was announced by Senator Dixon today that she would depart this afternoon for Chicago to join the former President.

Following the word of the shooting last night, Mrs. Roosevelt went to the Progressive headquarters, where George W. Perkins read the bulletins. Later she was joined by Senator and Mrs. Dixon and later she went to the home of J. West Roosevelt, where she spent the night.

Early today she was joined by Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Robinson, the latter a sister of Col. Roosevelt, and Dr. Alexander Lambert was called in. The party went again to Progressive headquarters but remained only a few minutes.

Later the announcement that she would start for Chicago and probably would be accompanied by Dr. Lambert was made by Senator Dixon.

Democratic Committee Expresses Its Regret.

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—Judge Martin J. Wade of Iowa, speaking for the Democratic National Committee in the absence of Acting Chairman Davies, said regarding the attack on Col. Roosevelt:

"Every true American must feel regret at the attack on Col. Roosevelt. It is awful to contemplate that prominent men are always in danger of assassination by these poor demented fellows.

"Of course, the attack will have no effect, one way or the other, on the election. No one will be foolish enough to give it any political significance."

All Good Americans Condemn Such a Deed, Says Fairbanks.

BENTON HARBOR, Mich., Oct. 15.—"The news is a shock to me; I regret it very deeply; all good Americans, whether they differ or agree with Col. Roosevelt, will condemn such a deed," said former Vice-President Charles Fairbanks today, with reference to the attempt last night upon Col. Roosevelt's life. Mr. Fairbanks delivered a political speech here last night.

'BUNTY PULLS THE STRINGS' TELLS A DIVERTING STORY

Picturesque Folk-Drama Faithfully Played by Molly McIntyre and Excellent Company.

By RIPLEY D. SAUNDERS.

ALTHOUGH I had seen "Bunty Pulls the Strings" in New York last fall and duly reviewed it for the Post-Dispatch's readers, I went on Monday evening to the Shubert, where it then began its first St. Louis engagement, and saw a second Scottish company interpret its native humor and develop its character-types of homely quaintness.

This second company has carried the Graham Moffatt comedy successfully through a long Chicago run, and the player of the Bunty role, Miss Molly McIntyre, has also played the part in New York with profit to her artistic reputation in this country.

It seemed to me that she was not quite as perfect a realization of the character as was seen in Molly Pearson, who created it in America, lacking something of the placidly demure complacency with which Miss Pearson invested the part, and not quite conveying the same diverting impression of her managerial mastery of all human problems coming within her administrative sphere of influence.

But the truth was apparent that Miss McIntyre cherishes a somewhat different conception of Bunty, emphasizing more notably a certain twinkling sense of fun which was not evident in the original New York portraiture, causing one to believe that Bunty, as well as her audience, perceived the comedy of her complete control of her environment, and, subconsciously, relished it all very keenly.

I am not at all sure that this is the correct conception. The greater humor of the role, it seems to me, is born of the fact that Bunty was vastly earnest in her belief that she was fully competent to direct not only her own destiny, but the destinies of her father, her self-chosen stepmother, her rattle-brained younger brother, his "cute" little Glasgow sweetheart and, most emphatically, her own betrothed, the delightfully solemn, pious, helpless and bewildered "Weelum" Sprunt, a thing of beauty and a joy forever in the line of unconscious and greatly human masculine dependence upon feminine guidance in all things domestic.

But this is solely a matter of individual opinion, and the truth must be conceded that Miss McIntyre makes of Bunty an exceedingly appealing figure, rich in the values of true comedy, and possessed of that lifelikeness which is inseparable from all folk-drama roles when they are played properly, from the inside outward instead of sheerly on the surface of the story's shaping.

Anyway, the Bunty drawn by Miss McIntyre is a distinctly lovable and enjoyable Bunty. When the play's last curtain falls, with Bunty and all her family happily assured of satisfactory matrimonial alliances, thanks to Bunty herself, and the public sentiment of the village of Lintiehaugh so effectively reshaped by her diplomacy that her grim old father, erstwhile under a very black shadow of alleged embezzlement, stands fully rehabilitated and shining brightly in the spotlight, one is very apt to leave the playhouse with the comfortable feeling that a new and most worthy portrait has been added to one's gallery of memorable stage creations.

The "Weelum" Sprunt of William Lennox's playing, second in comedy values to Bunty herself, is sincerely humorous.

In the second act, where "Weelum" in his funereal Sunday clothes "stands at the plate" before the Lintiehaugh kirk door and receives the "Sawbath" contributions of "the elders, shepherds, villagers and other kirk goers" as they pass in, the scene is not made so laughably irresistible as when the role of "Weelum" was played by Graham Moffatt's brother—if I remember rightly—in New York, and the episode of "Weelum's" breathless quest of the missing "meenister" was not so provocative of absolutely uncontrollable mirth.

Yet there were quieter moments of Mr. Lennox's playing of the part when, it seemed to me, he revealed a more genuine artistry and stamped his work even more deeply upon one's grateful thought. He is a character-comedian of undeniable power, justly sharing with Miss McIntyre the major honors of the Shubert presentation.

The "atmosphere" created by the work of the company as a whole, and emphasized, in proper degree, by the stage setting of Graham Moffatt's story, seemed admirably faithful.

Among the more notable of the players assisting to this end were Miss Jean Burnett as Susie Simpson, the sour old maid, who gave Bunty's father a woeful Hobson's choice between marrying her and being arrested for embezzlement; Miss Charlotte Lee Stoyle as Eelen Dunlop, whom Bunty herself chooses and wins as her father's second wife; Mr. J. Nelson Ramsay, as "Tammas" Biggar, the father; Mr. Neil McNeil, as Rab Biggar, brother of Bunty; Miss Lenore Phelps, as Teenie Dunlop, niece of Eelen and sweetheart of Rab, and Mr. W. H. Rotheram as Jeems Gibbs the "meenister's man," or beadle, of the Lintiehaugh kirk.

GILBERT E. SEMPLE WEDS

Post-Dispatch Reporter's Bride Was Miss Rose Smissman.

Miss Rose Smissman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Smissman of 4442A Evans avenue, who for several years has been a librarian in the office of the Post-Dispatch, was married Tuesday afternoon to Gilbert E. Semple, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Semple of 3757 Westminster place. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Samuel Sale at his home at 4621 Westminster place. Semple is a member of the Post-Dispatch staff.

The wedding was quiet, with only members of the immediate families present. After the ceremony the bride and bridegroom departed for a Southern trip, to return about Nov. 1. They will be at home at 5232 Vernon avenue.

NAZIMOVA IN 'THE MARIONETTES' HAS DELIGHTFUL ROLE

Plays Part of Young Marquise Who Becomes Coquette to Win Own Husband's Love.

Three or four minutes of choicest comedy, worth sitting through an evening to see, occur in the second act of "The Marionettes," which Nazimova—she has now pruned her name down to that one word, without even a prefatory "Mme."—brought to the Olympic Monday night.

There are entertaining moments in plenty through the four acts, but it is when the Marquise Fernande de Monclars (Nazimova) and Raymond Nizerolles (Edward Fielding) hold puppets on their hands and, in the squeaking tones of a Punch and Judy show, swap satirical sentiment, that the wit and the philosophy of Playwright Pierre Wolff make their keenest appeal.

"We are but puppet shapes that come and go." So, changing Omar's line by a word, might be expressed so much of serious doctrine as this play contains.

A pitiful puppet, truly, was the convent-bred girl whom the mother of the young Marquis Roger de Monclars forced him, on pain of penury, to wed. No one could wonder that the handsome selfish nobleman should feel a growing repugnance toward this doleful girl of the long face and the tight blue gown. That the chic and charming Nazimova could make herself up, or over, into such a figure as that of the Marquise in the first act, proves how narrow is the line between beauty and ugliness.

To be sure, the husband, an adept in womancraft, ought to have seen the possibilities of the country mouse—her underlying beauty, wit and talent. But the titled cad did not take the trouble to do this. Instead, he cooly told her of his purpose to go his way—and went that way with the first siren who offered herself.

Five weeks in Switzerland with the siren, and Roger is back in Paris. But where is the dour little countrywoman in blue? Can that be she—that creature of the shimmering gown, cut daringly low, the toast of the sated bachelor set in which he had lately moved? And the bachelors, who had lately condoled with Roger on his unhappy marriage of convenience, scarcely notice the return of Ferdande's lord and master, in their enthusiasm over the witty and winsome wife.

So radical seems the transformation that Fernande's good old uncle, M. de Ferney, worries much. It suits his niece's mood to mystify him further with such utterances as this, "If life doesn't fit our ideals, we must cut our ideals down to fit life." But when he realizes that the task at hand is the reclaiming of the husband, he abets the strategy with a little story of his own. His wife did not love him, he related. So he scrawled a love note to himself. Thinking him beloved by another, his wife awoke to her own feeling for him. This little story suggested to the Marquise the employment of a more modern, but equally elemental, device.

The Marquis Roger was in love with his wife from the moment when he saw her at Nizerolles' marionette show. His first avowals might seem convincing enough, but the wife desires more, and produces in him a rage of jealousy by a telephone message to an imaginary suitor, which she contrives that he shall overhear. He has a bad night—and that is about the extent of his penance for the flight to Switzerland. In this, it would seem, he was let down easily—but this is no problem play. It is essentially comedy.

Nazimova's support is uniformly good, and Nizerolles, trifler-in-chief of the Marquis' set, is especially satisfying. "Character" parts abound, and Kate Meek as Baronne Durieu and Arthur Lewis as M. de Ferney are well cast. No more interesting line to womankind occurs in the program that that which names the maker of "Nazimova's gowns." For they are gowns to be remembered, rather than described.

ENGLISH ACTORS STRONGLY OPPOSE SUNDAY OPENING

At Mass Meeting They Indorse Growing Bond Between Church and Stage.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—Practically all the actors in London attended the meeting at His Majesty's Theater at which the proposed opening of the playhouses on Sundays was condemned. Not a single vote was recorded against the resolution declaring it to be the opinion of the profession that opening the theaters on Sunday would be bad for the stage, church and people.

Sir Herbert Tree presided at the meeting and made the principal speech in which he reviewed the growing sympathy between stage and church and expressed the hope that it would continue. Opening of the playhouses, he declared, would rob the churches of at least a part of their congregations, which was not desirable.

The moving pictures, which are open on Sundays, were suggested as an argument, but Ben Webster replied that they did not appeal to persons who could afford to buy theater tickets. He favored the opening of picture galleries and the recent movement for Sunday afternoon concerts. A motion was made that it be the sense of the meeting that the actors content themselves with efforts for more pay and ignore the Sunday question. This motion received two votes and then the resolution opposing Sunday theaters was carried unanimously.

Several speakers referred to the change in the English Sunday from a day of gloom to a day of simple pleasures. All approved of the change and expressed the hope that they might be permitted to enjoy the day of rest.

A recent first night introduced "Everywoman" as a spectacular melodrama at Drury Lane. This successful American play has been repolished by Stephen Phillipps to a point of some literary merit. "The Voysey Inheritance," the old pirate story, has been revived at Kingshighway Theater and has caught on like a new production.

At the Apollo Theater there is a new musical comedy which critics say will be worthy of success after it is revised after the manner of such productions. The story is adapted from German and the principal characters are two girl pupils of a boarding school where there is a rule that any girl caught in company with a man must marry him at once. These two girls are out for a lark and are trapped and forced to marry a Count and his friend, much to the disgust of the bridegrooms. The brides flirt and there are jealousies, but finally the happy ending.

Kerker's music is said not to be up to the "Belle of New York" standard, but Dorothy Minto and Constant Drever, as the two girls, are very clever and await only the right songs for their dances.

The opera season is beginning to be heard in the distance. Ruggiero Leoncavallo, the composer, is here to conduct rehearsals of his new work, "The Gypsies." He says this story is taken from the work of the Russian poet, Pushkin.

The first tableau shows a gypsies' encampment on the Danube at twilight. Fleana, the chief's daughter, is talking to a stranger, and the pair are dragged before her father.

The stranger turns out to be Radu, an adventurous Prince, who has fallen in love with the beautiful gypsy girl. When he proclaims his rank, the couple receive the chief's blessing and arrangements are made for the wedding.

After the wedding the pair become estranged, and Tamar, the gypsy poet, supplants the Prince in the affections of Fleana. One night the jealous Prince hears the voice of Fleana within Tamar's tent.

In a frenzy of rage he sets fire to the canvas and throws a bottle of petroleum on the flames. The gyspies hasten to the rescue, but Radu keeps them at bay with his dagger till the fire has completed his revenge.

Then, after a desperate fight, he disappears in the darkness.

Henry Reinker, Paralyzed for 2 Months Creeps Down Stairs —Niece Hears Him.

Miss Minnie Bock of 3118 North Nineteenth street thought burglars were in the house when she heard footsteps on the stairs leading from the second to the first floor shortly before 1 a. m., Tuesday. Sitting up in bed, she finally recognized the limping step of her paralyzed uncle, Henry Reinker, 78 years old.

The knowledge that it was her uncle increased Miss Bock's fears. He had been considered helpless for two months. She heard him go into the back yard and decided he was seeking fresh air.

When Reinker failed to return to the house at the end of a half hour Miss Bock again became alramed. She summoned her mother, Mrs. Lizzie Bock, and a neighbor, Mrs. G. Baumgargen of 1520 Hebert street. The three women searched the backyard and not finding Reinker went into the woodshed.

By the light of a candle the women found Reinker dead, lying face downward in the shed. He had hanged himself from a rafter.

Reinker, who was a widower and lived with his sister, Mrs. Lizzie Bock, had been ill for two months.

Oil Well Blows Up.

PERPETUAL MOTION IDEA RESULTS IN 2 ARRESTS

Promoters of Third Man's Invention Accused of Taking Wrong Course to Land Investor.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Oct. 15.—Frank Clark's perpetual motion idea has caused the arrest of D. W. McIlhenny, an oil well promoter, and Charles W. Abbott. McIlhenny is charged by W. T. Mann with giving a bad check. Abbott is charged with inducing James Abbott to invest $700 in the machine.

Clark's machine has been the source of many mystery stories within the last year, but it has been closely guarded from unfriendly eyes at Clark's home. The theory is that of dropped balls, the balls falling from pockets at the low point of the wheel, and of being elevated again to the top, again to drop in the pocket. Clark says he has received $1785 from persons who have no kick coming. His connection with the alleged swindle is not stated.

TO COMPLY WITH LAW MADE BY CHARLES II

EDMONTON, Alta., Oct. 15.—The Duke of Connaught, Governor-General of Canada, will become richer by the pelts of two elks and two black beavers, when he visits the Hudson Bay Co. trading posts here next summer, by virtue of a contract made by King Charles of England May 2, 1670, with the Gentlemen Adventurers of London.

And this will be the first time that the Hudson Bay Co., successors of the Gentlemen Adventurers, has paid the rental exacted by the monarch. The contract giving the right of trade in the district dominated by Hudson Bay stipulates that on each visit of the monarch or his heirs and successors to the territory the visitor shall be presented with the four pelts.

A. F. Fugl, district manager of the company, has prepared to comply with the old stipulation, but he is going one better, and will have the stanchest and swiftest vessel owned by the company ready for a dash into the Arctic Sea with his distinguished guests.

Limit on Street Merchants.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—According to a police census of city costermongers and other street traders, 1800 persons earn their living at such occupations. These were registered. No others will be allowed to trade in the city.

BROTHERS, 16 AND 18, HOLD POSSE OF 25 MEN AT BAY

Boy Bandits Steal Store's Entire Stock of Firearms and Ammunition.

By Associated Press.

GREEN BAY, Wis., Oct. 14.—After holding a posse of officers and citizens at bay at Big Bend, on the Wolf River, four miles south of Shawano, Arthur Drier, 16 years old, surrendered, and was placed under arrest. His brother, Calvin Drier, 18 years old, continued to resist arrest by using fire arms which the boys had stolen from a hardware store in Shawano last Saturday evening.

The boys were arrested several days ago for breaking into the same store and were out on bonds. Saturday night they again entered the store and carried away the entire stock of firearms and ammunition.

They were pursued by the chief of police, but the boys escaped by taking a horse from a nearby barn. They entered a cave on Kenesha road, where they fired a number of shots at the chief of police and managed to escape under the cover of darkness. The police later discovered that the boys had taken refuge at Big Bend and a posse was formed to capture them.

When the posse attempted to capture the boys the members were driven back by a volley of shot from the brothers' rifles.

After his surrender Arthur Drier is said to have confessed to the burglarly and to have revealed the hiding place of most of the plunder. Fifty rifles, and 3000 rounds of ammunition were recovered. The posse is guarding the hiding place of the other boy and expects to capture him today.

Would Divorce Plunger.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Oct. 15.—The wife of Steve L'Hommedieu, a well-known bookmaker, has sued for a divorce and the custody of their boy, 13 years old. She says her husband is too much of a rover to have charge of the boy.

Its thoughts are the sparks that set Success in motion

The simplest form of battery requires three factors to make the electric spark— (zinc, copper and an acid.)

The human brain also requires three vital elements to put forth thought—water, albumen and Phosphate of Potash.

In the Brain as in the Battery, let a single element become weakened from yesterday's use and lessened activity follows. Therefore, in order to keep a good working brain or add to its power, one absolutely must use food which contains albumen and Phosphate of Potash.

Why not do a bit of thinking now?

Water and albumen exist plentifully in every-day food but Phosphate of Potash is often lacking.

That missing element exists freely in the outer coating of wheat and barley, but the miller of white bread flour throws it out because it makes his flour brown instead of white.

Grape-Nuts FOOD

Made of choice wheat and malted barley, retains the rich brain-building Phosphate of Potash required by Nature for supporting bright brains and active minds.

Pure! Wholesome! Appetizing! This food is partly pre-digested and quickly absorbed. A morning dish with cream provides force for accomplishment that many a man has come to know and appreciate.

Common Sense goes a long way toward making Success.

Through Her Efforts, 15 Men Are Indicted for Causing Feudist's Death.

JACKSON, Ky., Oct. 15.—Four men charged with murdering former Sheriff Ed Callahan have been indicted by the grand jury, arrested and are now in jail. They are Govan Smith, Will, D. F. and James Deaton, all residents of Jackson. The grand jury has returned an indictment in which nine other men are charged with complicity in this murder, among those named is Elisha Smith and John Clair. The Sheriff and his deputies are out after the other nine, most of whom live in remote parts of the county.

The activity of the grand jury is the result of incessant efforts on the part of Callahan's daughter, Mrs. Clifton Gross, to bring the assassins of her father to justice.

Wilson Callahan, a son of the dead man, left for Mexico as soon as it was known that an indictment had been returned. He said he did not think it was safe for him to remain.

Callahan was shot from ambush when he appeared at the front door of his stockaded store May 4 last.

One of the indicted men while drunk confessed that he and others asked Callahan to come out in front of his store under the pretense that they wished to buy some fencing wire. When he appeared he was shot from the bushes on a hill overlooking the store.

HOUSE AGAIN TO VOTE ON BRIDGE BOND ELECTION

Another attempt to pass the bill providing for the submission of the bond issue of $2,750,000 for the completion of the free bridge, to the voters at the November election, will be made in the House of Delegates tonight.

When the House failed to pass the emergency clause attached to the bill Friday night it was thought that the issue could not be revived for this election. The law firm of Dillon, Thompson and Clay, of New York, municipal bond experts, requires bond issues to be advertised 20 days before they will endorse them. City Counsellor Walther learning that the Missouri law requires only 15 days, communicated with the Eastern bond experts, and Tuesday received a telegram from Dillon, informing him that 15 days advertising would be satisfactory to that firm, which will have much to do with the floating of the bonds should they be issued.

The Council passed the bill for the bond issue, and will probably concur in amendments to the bill desired by the House of Delegates. The House of Delegates passed the bill, but the emergency clause attached to it was lost by a vote of 16 in favor and 5 against. To pass it required 19 votes, a majority of the 28 members of the House.

Walther Tuesday conferred with the Mayor, the president of the Council and the Speaker of the House of Delegates, and thinks enough votes can be mustered in the House to pass the bill. If the House passes the bill tonight the Council will have until tomorrow midnight to pass it again.

SAGE TEA, A SCALP TONIC, DARKENS THE HAIR, STOPS DANDRUFF AND FALLING HAIR

There is nothing new about the idea of using Sage for restoring the color of the hair. Our grandmothers kept their hair dark, glossy and abundant by the use of a simple "Sage Tea." Whenever their hair fell out or took on a dull, faded or streaked appearance, they made a brew of Sage leaves, and applied it to their hair with wonderfully beneficial effect.

Nowadays we don't have to resort to the old-time tiresome method of gathering the herbs and making the tea. This is done by skillful chemists better than we could do it ourselves; and all we have to do is to call for the ready-made product, Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, containing Sage in the proper strength, with the addition of Sulphur, another old-time scalp remedy.

This preparation gives youthful color and beauty to the hair, and is one of the best remedies you can use for dandruff, dry, feverish, itching scalp, and falling hair. Get a fifty-cent bottle from your druggist today, and you will be surprised at the quick results. All druggists sell it, under guarantee that the money will be refunded if the remedy is not exactly as represented.—ADV.

KICKED BY A RABBIT

T. Gilpin of Louisville, roadmaster of the Kentucky & Indiana Terminal Railroad, will carry home with him from St. Louis a scarred left hand, which he can explain to his Louisville friends by remarking, "Oh, a rabbit kicked me."

Gilpin is the guest of G. S. Brooks, roadmaster of the St. Louis Terminal Association, at his home, 2739 Ellendale avenue. Brooks raises rabbits of the strong, sinewy kind, and when Gilpin showed an interest in the pets, he warned his guest not to treat them with too much familiarity. Gilpin went on playing with the "pretty creatures," and presently one of them let fly with his hind legs, skinning the back of Gilpin's hand and three of his fingers. The injured hand was dressed and bandaged, and Gilpin announced that he would take his chances with the heels of a Missouri mule before he would annoy a Missouri rabbit again.

(N. B.—He shows a skinned hand to prove the story.)

Doctor Who Operated on Claimant Probably Will Be Witness.

MAN OF MYSTERY COMING

Will Journey From Oregon to Testify in "Sister's" Suit for Insurance.

Declarations made by the Kimmel claimant, while under the influence of ether, to the surgeon who performed an operation on his skull in Chicago last spring, may be used as evidence in the trial of the Kimmel identity mystery and insurance contest, now on trial in Judge Grimm's Court. It will be contended that men under the influence of ether, like "men in wine," speak the truth.

John F. Green, one of the attorneys for the New York Life Insurance Co., defendant in the suit, told a Post-Dispatch reporter Tuesday that if circumstances seemed to render it appropriate, Dr. Wilder of Chicago would be summoned to tell of the claimant's statement to him.

"The theory of scientists and psychologists," said Green, "is that men under the influence of ether speak the truth about themselves. When the patient is beginning to recover from the anesthetic, the tendency is to talkativeness, and the statements then made are to be relied on, it is believed.

Likely to Be Called.

"I understand that the witness made some statement in Dr. Wilder's hearing after the operation, before he had recovered full consciousness. I don't know just what he said, but I think it quite likely that Dr. Wilder will be asked to repeat it to the jury."

Green said the claimant, who now lives in Portland, Ore., would probably be here the last of the week. The insurance company contends that he is George A. Kimmel, and his claim of identity will be its chief defense against the claim.

Attorney Frederick H. Bacon, representing Kimmel's mother and sister, made his statement of the case to the jury Tuesday.

The jurors, chosen Monday afternoon, are Fred Beckman, 1323 Ferry street; Bernard J. Brinkman, 1828 Lami street; Edward J. Fennel, 4533A Arco avenue; Harvey G. Turley, 3860 Greer avenue; Jos. C. Gooselman, 2121A North Eleventh street; Isaac Hall, 2327A John avenue; August H. Wenzel, 2620 Sidney street; August Wissmann, 1107 Destrehan street; Charles J. Newton, 4267 Margaretta avenue; James Reynolds, 3027A Magazine street; Charles Sambrowitz, 2639 Bacon street; Fred W. Dieckman, 4755 St. Louis avenue.

Shirley D. Gregson, when examined for the jury and asked the usual question whether he knew the lawyers in the case, responded: "I'm happy to say I don't know any lawyers."

"If you could say the same about doctors you'd be a happy man," rejoined Edward O'Bryan, attorney for the New York Life Insurance Co.

The suit on trial in the Circuit Court is practically the same which was tried last winter in the Federal Court. Mrs. Edna K. Bonslett, sister of George A. Kimmel, is suing the New York Life Insurance Co. on two $10,000 policies on his life. He was a banker, and disappeared from Arkansas City, Kan., Aug 15, 1898. Testimony has traced his movements to Kansas City, and from that place his movements are a matter of mystery and legal controversy.

The present suit was filed seven years after the disappearance, so that the legal death of Kimmel is cited. This makes it incumbent on the company to disprove death, and it will undertake to do this by introducing the famous Kimmel claimant.

WASHINGTON U. FRESHIES ARE PLACED IN ASHPITS

Initiation of 25 Architectural Students Includes Doing Lockstep to Museum.

Twenty-five freshmen in the architectural department of Washington University were put through the annual initiation by the upper classmen on Francis field Monday night. At 7 o'clock the "freshies" were placed in ashpits throughout Parkview, in box cars and some perched on the goal posts on the football field where they waited until 8 o'clock when the upper classmen rounded them up and led them back to the campus. Here they were blindfolded and after roll call were forced to lockstep to Art Museum where an eloquent discourse on "The Beauty of Scrambled Eggs" was delivered by Ralph Bryan, '13, President of the Society.

They were then led back to the University and taken to a room where Zoological collections are displayed and each freshman with much ceremony was put through "stunts."

Only two freshmen escaped the initation last night. They were Miss Margaret Steinmesh and Miss Katherine Middleton, the only girls in the class. The girls will be put through an honorary initation later in the week.

DISTRESSES OF INDIGESTION KNOCKED OUT BY SAMUEL'S "3-P"

Put Your Stomach in Trim to Enjoy Food by Taking These Wonder-Working Capsules.

The most successful corrective remedy for all ailments of stomach and nerves is Samuel's "3-P," which has brought happiness to tens of thousands.

It isn't a secret medicine—simply a prescription after the famous Dr. Robin formula, which not only France but all the medical world has found so effective in curing stomach diseases.

If your food distresses you, if you have no appetite, if you are nervous and generally run down, give Samuel's "3-P" a chance to restore that lost appetite, drive away the blues and transform clouds of nervous apprehension into the sunshine of hopeful cheerfulness.

It will surely amaze you how easily and quickly you will be eating what you want and enjoying all the blessings of good digestion and healthy nerves, with no more nervousness or sleeplessness.

SAMUEL'S
FOR INDIGESTION

Ask your Druggist for Samuel's "3P." Look on every packet for the name of "Samuel" and our Trade Mark of the figure "3" in the large letter "P."

Almost all well-stocked drug stores have Samuel's "Three P." Get Samuel's "3-P" from your druggist—if he hasn't it in stock now, he will quickly get it for you, or a postal addressed to The Samuel Chemical Co., Cincinnati, Ohio, will bring you a free sample box by return mail.

Collecting a Handsome Dividend From Your Coal Bin

"A few more winters like the one we went through last and my bank balance will be ciphers without integers."

It was a bank clerk talking, and he was referring particularly to his fuel bills.

"Do you know that I burned 16 tons of coal at my house from October 1 to April 1? Whew! It makes me shiver to think of so much good money going up in smoke," continued the bank clerk.

"I tried a new stunt," said a second bank clerk, "and while I burned just as much coal as you did I made $12 on the deal."

"Made $12 on your coal! Man, you're crazy! What was the stunt?" he incredulously exclaimed, and asked the first clerk all in one breath.

"It wasn't much of a stunt," began the second clerk; "just an experiment. Winter after winter I used to dub along buying one and two tons of coal at a time and kicking like blazes every spring on how much money I burned up to keep warm during the winter.

"Well, last summer I noticed that the coal dealers advertised in the paper that they would fill your bins at prices that in my case were 75 cents a ton less than charged in the winter time.

"I bought my whole winter's supply last summer and paid 75 cents a ton less for it than you did. That is how I made $12 on my coal bill."

Thousands of men and women watch the coal dealers' ads every summer, and to them the cost of fuel loses much of its terror when the bleak December days have come.

Those who do not watch the coal advertisements go right along winter after winter and grumble where they might just as well be smiling.

100 PROFESSIONAL MEN IN COTTON PICKING CLUB

SHERMAN, Tex., Oct. 15.—Bankers, lawyers, doctors and business men of this place are going to the fields every day to pick cotton and thus save the crop for the farmers. A few days ago 100 professional and business men signed an agreement to meet every afternoon at 4 o'clock and go to the fields. And none of them is failing to keep the agreement.

Every afternoon the men leave their offices and stores, pick up long cotton sacks, meet at a street corner, go in automobiles into the country and pick cotton for two hours. Both the Sherman men and the farmers say they are enjoying the experience. Usually the farmers pay stiff prices to negroes and Mexicans for picking, many paying 80 cents a hundred pounds, but under the present arrangement they not only are assured of getting their crop gathered, but are saving money they would pay laborers.

The huge cotton crop and unprecedented scarcity of laborers caused the Sherman men to make the agreement. As a matter of fact, this works to their benefit, as the farmers spend their money in Sherman.

MAN, 74, FATHER OF 18 CHILDREN FALLS TO DEATH

Loses Balance Repairing Leak on Roof of Collinsville Home.

Frederick Wieduwilt, 74 years old, father of 18 children, was killed Monday by a fall from the roof of his home in Collinsville.

He went upon the roof about noon to repair a leak. He lost his footing and dropped 14 feet to the ground. He died several hours later.

Wieduwilt was born in Germany. He is survived by his widow and 15 of the 18 children, most of whom live in Collinsville.

MISS ADA WEBER, IN WEST FOR HEALTH, WEDS

Friends of the pair were surprised at the announcement Tuesday that Miss Ada Weber, 6107 Kingsbury avenue, and Milton Strauss, 6106 Kingsbury avenue, had been married in Colorado Springs, Colo. They had told their most intimate associates they expected to be married upon Miss Weber's return to St. Louis the last of October.

The marriage took place several days ago at the home of Mrs. M. Wendelken, a friend of Miss Weber, in Colorado Springs. Strauss said the ceremony was read by a Christian minister. The pair returned to St. Louis Monday and are stopping at the Marquette Hotel.

Miss Weber went to Colorado several weeks ago on account of her health. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Weber.

HELD CLOTHES, ARRESTED

Circuit Attorney Is Asked to Settle Dispute Over 75c.

Alexander Helm, 65 years old, of 119 North Ninth street, was arrested by Patrolman Mike Doyle of Circuit Attorney Jones' staff because he refused to give up tools and clothing valued at $90.50 belonging to Ben L. Campbell of the Becker Express Co.

Campbell had complained to Jones that Helm, with whom he boarded, was holding the clothes and tools because of a dispute over 75 cents. Helm claimed Campbell owed him that much, and Campbell claimed he did not. Jones detailed Doyle to order Helm to either turn over the property to Campbell or submit to arrest. Helm chose the latter.

PRACTICAL SUGGESTIONS

As a suggestion for those who seek employment, those who are looking for capable workers, landlords, agents, tenants, buyers, sellers, those who would exchange, and scores of others—here's a word as to efficiency.

As to publicity—the means of reaching the greatest possible number of people who are interested in what you seek or what you have to offer, at a minimum expense and in the quickest time—use the Want Columns.

The Wants appeal to all walks of life, they wield an influence in the home, in big business as well as smaller establishments.

The Wants are read by many who are quick to take advantage of opportunity.

14,728 progressive St. Louisans and others advertised last week in the Post-Dispatch Want columns, which means that they had their want filled, for Post-Dispatch Wants produce results.

This was 914 more than the two morning papers, combined, and 10,219 more than the two other evening papers, combined, printed during the same period.

St. Louis' one big want medium.

STUDEBAKER HALE AT 79

South Bend Celebrates Manufacturer's Birthday.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 15.—This city celebrated the seventy-ninth birth day of J. M. Studebaker, the only survivor of the five Studebaker brothers, Thursday.

J. M., as everyone in South Bend calls him, was never in better health. The veteran wagon and buggy maker began the manufacture of vehicles in a log cabin at Ashland, O., when he was a boy, and has been actively engaged in the business since. He is not at his office every day, as he used to be, but he displays the same interest in the work. During the warm weather he attends county fairs and gatherings of farmers. Studebaker's sole amusement in the line of sport is pitching horseshoes, and each year he pitches for the "championship of Indiana" with some other Hoosier.

Lumber Mills Buying Own Cars.

MOBILE, Ala., Oct. 15.—The shortage of cars has become so serious among lumber mills of the South that companies are buying their own equipment. L. N. Dantzler Lumber Co., operating large plants at several places in Mississippi, has given orders to a Chicago firm for 140 cars.

The Post-Dispatch is the only evening newspaper in St. Louis that receives or publishes news gathered by the Associated Press.

UTAH MINES OPEN AGAIN

500 Strike-Breakers Put to Work at Bingham.

BINGHAM, Utah, Oct. 15.—Nearly 500 strike breakers who arrived here yesterday will be put to work by the Utah Copper Co. this morning. The strike breakers who were brought here are all Americans and represent every line of labor employed by the company. The men are being guarded by 250 deputy sheriffs, but so far there has been no demonstration.

The Ohio company will resume operations this morning with 20 men, and the Utah Consolidated company will open its works with 50 laborers.

Extraordinary Sale of High-Class Suits

The Season's Newest and Choicest Styles—Values Up to $25

Tomorrow—Wednesday—at a decided reduction from their former prices.

$14.90

THE truth of the matter is that we have entirely too many Suits on hand at this time—and more coming in by every express for which we have no room—and for this reason we are compelled to take radical measures to reduce the stock.

Judged by every standard, these Suits are worth and cannot be equaled elsewhere for less than $25.00.

ALL of these Suits are of the regular Kline standard—beautifully tailored from the finest fabrics—lined with guaranteed satin and peau de cygne and interlined in a manner that assures their shape-retaining qualities. The assortment comprises mannish serges, beautiful two-tone fabrics, wide-wale diagonal, novelty mixtures and the popular wide-wale corduroy—designed in straight front, cutaway, braid bound, Norfolk and Empire effect—in sizes to fit women, misses and juniors—values that will prove a positive surprise to every patron.

We illustrate four of the exact styles in this sale at $14.90.

20 Different Styles to Select From

YOU are going to be delighted with the handsome Waists we will place on sale tomorrow morning at this price—it's a special lot, just 700 Waists in all, which our Waist buyer, who is now in the East, secured at a considerable price concession and has sent on by express for immediate selling. They are new and beautiful effects, in chiffon, silk, lingerie effects of crepes, voile and sheer Persian lawn—in a variety of the most pleasing and popular styles shown this season—and every one a decided bargain at the price we name...... $1.98

Remarkable Showing of Velvet and Corduroy Frocks
At $12.75

THIS assortment comprises several particularly attractive models which we have reproduced from higher priced dresses, and so closely have we copied the style, fabric and trimmings that you cannot tell them from the original creations—the velvet and corduroy from which they are made is of unusual quality—and all the new Fall colorings are shown in ample variety to assure a most pleasing selection.

Exceptional Values in Corduroy and Velvet Suits
At $24.75 $35.00 $39.75 and $45.00

THOSE ladies who have looked about and compared styles, qualities and prices elsewhere are enthusiastic over this splendid showing of Corduroy and Velvet Suits—in fabric and workmanship they compare favorably with the finest custom-made garments—and the line is so complete in every way that you are sure to find one that will meet with your ideas in every particular.

Over 1000 New Coats at $12.75, $15.00 and $19.75

NATURALLY we keep posted on the values shown in other stores—and we speak from absolute knowledge when we say that equal style, quality and value cannot be seen elsewhere in St. Louis at our prices—the superior buying facilities of the Kline syndicate were never so clearly shown as they are in these offerings. Here are coats in wonderful assortment—in all the prevailing models, in plain tailored and fancy trimmed effects—in beautiful seal plushes, Ural lamb and Persian lamb, novelty mixtures, wide-wale diagonal, serges, zibeline, double texture fabrics, chinchilla, etc.—in full length, in 7/8 and 3/4 style as well as the Mackinaw and Johnny Coats—the newest effects for utility, evening, motor and limousine wear—all will be found in this superb showing.

CARTRIDGE LOADING MACHINE EXPLODES, ONE MAN KILLED

None of Twelve Others in Room Is Seriously Injured.

ACCIDENT KEPT SECRET

Windows Quarter of Mile From East Alton Plant Are Broken.

Theodore Wilkening, 24 years old, an employe of the Western Cartridge Co. at East Alton, was fatally burned by the explosion of a cartridge loading machine Monday at 2:30 p. m. He died at 6 p. m. The accident was kept secret for several hours by denials at the offices of the plant that it had occurred.

Twelve other men working in the same room were badly shaken up, but escaped serious hurts. Girls employed in another building were badly frightened. Windows were broken in houses a quarter of a mile away.

The loading machine is built in two compartments. The upper one is a magazine which holds about 100 pounds of powder. The explosive is piped through small tubes into the cartridges. Heavy wooden doors close the magazine.

The cause of the explosion could not be learned Tuesday. It ripped off one of the heavy doors, which struck Wilkening in the back as it fell, causing the hurt which killed him. His face and hands were severely burned.

Wilkening was the son of William Wilkening of 1110 Putnam street, Alton. The funeral will be held from the father's home Wednesday afternoon.

TEST OF 16 "PICTURE" BRIDES FOR HOOKWORM

After Nov. 1 Japanese and Other Aliens Having Disease Will Be Deported.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—Sixteen "picture" brides from Japan were detained today when they arrived on the liner Siberia. They will be examined for hookworms, and if found to have the disease will be treated on Angel Island before being permitted to land. After Nov. 1 no alien found to have hookworms will be given teatment, but will be deported at once.

Picture brides have always given the immigration officials trouble. If nothing can be shown to impugn the declared honesty of their intent to marry the man whose picture they carry, their treaty rights entitle them to admission, and the last three years they have been flocking into Pacific Coast states.

"SAFETY FIRST" RALLY

To Discuss Railway Protection Devices at K. C. Meeting.

Many St. Louis railroad men are arranging to go to Kansas City Saturday for a "safety first" rally. Safety devices and precautions for the protection of passengers and workingmen will be discussed by employes of the Chicago & Alton, the Burlington, the Chicago Great Western, the Frisco, the Kansas City Belt, the Kansas City Southern, the Missouri, Kansas & Taxes, the Milwaukee, the Missouri Pacific, the Santa Fe, the Union Pacific and the Wabash lines.

Don't Be Fussy About Eating

Your Stomach Will Digest Any Kind of Food When Given the Proper Assistance.

We are prone to fall into the error of singling out some article of food and soundly berating the fiend who first invented the dish. The habit grows with some people till almost all food is put on the blacklist. This is all wrong. What is required is a little assistance with those agencies upon which scientific students for many years have set their seal of approval because they have become absolute facts. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets for all stomach disorders are recognized; they have a fine record; they are rated reliable, dependable and worthy of confidence just as the president of a big bank puts his O. K. on a depositor's check. And so you can eat what you want, whatever you like, knowing well that should indigestion, sour risings, gas formations, fermentations or any other stomach distress arise, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in a few moments will put you right.

Coated tongue, bad breath, heartburn, belching, flatulency, bloat—all the symptoms of digestive troubles disappear quickly when these tablets are used. They are not a cure for anything but dyspepsia and kindred complaints. But they have brought relief to more sufferers from digestive diseases than all the patent medicines and doctor's prescriptions put together.

The stomach does the heaviest work of any of the bodily organs, yet it's the one we treat with the least regard. We eat too much of the wrong kind of food at any time. The patient stomach stands such treatment as long as it can and then it rebels. You get notice of the rebellion in the shape of the gases and pains caused by undigested, fermenting food.

Pittsburg Girl, Fiancee of Vincent Campbell

MISS KATHERINE MUNHALL

THIS is a portrait of Miss Katherine Munhail of Pittsburg, whose engagement to A. Vincent Campbell of St. Louis is announced. Campbell is a member of the Boston National League baseball team. He has announced that this is his last season in professional baseball, and that he will return to St. Louis and open a brokerage office.

ANOTHER ARREST IN O'MEARA ROBBERY CASE

Police to Question Harry Koch—Lynch and Stevenson Charged With Robbery.

Another arrest in connection with the police investigation of the O'Meara auto bandit robbery was made Monday night when East St Louis detectives arrested Harry Koch.

Koch had been wanted by the St Louis police for interrogation since the Hufnagel killing. He refused to cross the Mississippi River without extradition. Chief Young sent Hufnagel witnesses to East St. Louis Tuesday to see if they could recognize him.

Koch is chiefly remembered through the robbery of the Steinberg Fur Co., one of the most daring burglaries in the St. Louis records. He was tried by a jury and acquitted. Afterwards a charge of receiving stolen goods was placed against him, but he beat that also.

He was arrested near the saloon in which detectives believe the O'Meara robbery was planned. He refused to make any statement.

V. S. HOLM SCULPTOR OF THE IVES MEMORIAL

Instructor in School of Fine Arts Selected by Memorial Association Committtee.

The Executive Committee and Jury of Awards of the Halsey C. Ives Memorial Association have selected Victor S. Holm, instructor in sculpture at the St. Louis School of Fine Arts, as sculptor of the memorial to be placed in the City Art Museum in honor of its former director, the late Dr. Halsey C. Ives. The memorial will be 14 feet high, 3 feet wide and 2 feet 11 inches deep.

Tennessee and Pavanozza marble will be used in the memorial. They were chosen for their harmonious blending with the bronze. The marble will be honed, but no polished surfaces will appear, according to present plans.

Hellmuth & Hellmuth, architects, will have charge of the erection of the memorial. The Jury of Awards went to the museum Monday and examined the models exhibited by Holm, Robert P. Bringhurst and George Julian Zolnay. The report was made to the Executive Committee at the Noonday Club.

GONE SINCE SATURDAY

Tea and Coffee Firm Department Manager Missing.

Though two sons and many friends have been searching for Lorenz J. Hohl, 66 years old, of 3808 Cook avenue since Saturday, they have found no trace of him.

Hohl was a department manager for the Athletic Tea & Coffee Co., and a member of Post A., T. P. A. He was in good health and prosperous, his relatives say. He left home to go to his office Saturday morning and dropped out of sight after being shaved in a barber shop on Lucas avenue near Broadway.

GREEKS RETURNING HOME

400 Leave Kansas City to Serve in Balkan War.

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 15.—A general exodus of Greeks bent on serving their country in the war in the Balkans, began here yesterday when 400 Greeks left Kansas City. They were employed in many lines of business.

Leaders said last night the departing band was but a small portion of the Greeks that would return to their native land from the Southwest, where it is said 5000 are employed.

Woman and 3 Babies Burn to Death.

OXNARD, Cal., Oct. 15.—Mrs. J. Ferdmadez and her three small children were burned to death when a can of gasoline exploded, setting fire to their home.

$198 IN PAY ENVELOPES TAKEN FROM OFFICE SAFE

Thief Was Familiar With Combination of American Car Company's Vault.

The police were informed Monday night that some person familiar with the combination of the safe in the offices of the American Car and Foundry Co., 134 Russell avenue, had opened the vault Sunday and removed 13 pay envelopes containing $198.30. The outer doors of the vault were found locked, but the inner doors had not been locked.

According to police investigation the safe was locked Saturday afternoon by Philip Neu, a clerk, of 3731 Arkansas avenue. It was opened Monday morning by Alton Mudd of 3836 Kensington avenue, who discovered the robbery. The pay envelopes were in the cash box, and to reach them the thief worked combinations on two doors.

Col. Lewis' Jewels Recovered.

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—Valuable jewelry including a number of rings and pins, the property of Col. James Hamilton Lewis, Democratic candidate for United States Senator from Illinois, were among stolen property recovered by the police. They arrested two former employes of a residence hotel. The total amount recovered today was about $10,000.

WILLING TO TAKE OATH

As to the Truthfulness of Statements in Beneath Letter, Says Mrs. Cook.

"You may print any statement from this letter you please," writes Mrs. Jess Cook, of 207½ Main St., this city, "and I am willing to swear to its truthfulness.

"On the third of April I had an operation performed, for womanly trouble, thinking that would make me well.

"In a few weeks after the operation, I got down again, and I was advised to have another operation. I would not listen to this.

"Having heard so much about Cardui, the woman's tonic, I decided I would try it.

"I have taken only seven bottles, and believe I am a well woman. Have no pains at all, and the other trouble has disappeared. Have gained both in health and strength.

"My weight now is 149 pounds. Before taking Cardui it was 105 pounds.

"I really know that I am well, but keep a bottle of Cardui in the house all the time, for use in case I need it.

"Several of my lady friends are already taking Cardui on my advice, and I wish all other suffering women would try it."—Dennison, Texas.

Cardui will surely do as much for you, as it did for the writer of the above letter, if you will only give it a trial.

If you are sick, it may be just the medicine you need.

$1,000,000 MILL TAX SUITS AGAINST U. R. WON BY THE CITY

Proceedings Decided by Judge Shields, but the Defendants Are Expected to Appeal as Has Been the Custom in the Prolonged Litigation and in Which City Has Won Nearly Every Point.

Suits filed by the city against the United Railways Co. for more than $1,000,000, under the mill-per-passenger tax, were decided in the city's favor Tuesday by Circuit Judge Shields. One of the suits named as defendant the St. Louis & Suburban Railroad Co., which has been absorbed by United Railways since the latter began its eight years resistance to the payment of the mill-tax.

The five suits against the United Railways Co. embraced the period from January, 1905, to April, 1908, and were for $1,148,312 and interest. The arguments were made last April.

Judge Shields, in an opinion covering 47 typewritten pages, cited the decision of the United States Supreme Court, upholding the city's right to impose the tax. He dwelt on two particular points urged by the company's lawyers.

The first was the company's contention that the city, having provided penalties for non-payment of the tax, had no right to sue for it as a debt. The other was that the payment of the more than $2,000,000 now due would cripple the company so that it could not serve the public properly.

As to the first of these points, Judge Shields said: "I do not think the penalties provided in the ordinance were ever intended by the Council to be exclusive of the right to bring suit. The penalties were imposed to prevent delay."

Not City's Fault.

As to the second point, he said: "The amounts have accumulated by reason of the defendant's refusal to pay and by tying up the city for years by an injunction against enforcement of the ordnance, and the delay can in no way be attributed to the city, as the ordinance fixed positive dates for payment.

"The United States Supreme Court has declared the ordinance valid, and this court cannot refuse to enforce it, merely because the amount has accumulated by reason of the litigation."

Arguments in the case before Judge Shields were made by City Counselor Walther and Associate Counselor Baird for the city, and by H. S. Priest and F. N. Judson for the company.

The company, it is anticipated, will appeal from Judge Shields' decision, as it has done from similar ones by Judge Fisher and Grimm. The city has thus far won nearly every point in the prolonged litigation, but has been unable to collect a cent.

History of Mill Tax.

The mill tax ordinance was passed by the Municipal Assmbly in 1903. It provided for the payment to the city of St Louis of 1 mill for each passenger carried on the street car lines. This superseded a tax of $25 on each street car formerly paid to the city.

The aggregate amount due to the city under the mill tax ordinance greatly exceeds $2,000,000. At the time the United Railways offered a compromise to the city in March, 1911, in return for an extension of franchises the tax amounted to about $1,750,000.

Nine suits aggregating more than $1,000,000 were instituted by the city Law Department in the Circuit Court to collect the mill tax. Each suit is based on the amount alleged to be due for periods of six months, and were based on the reports furnished to the city by the street car company stating the number of passengers carried.

When the ordinance was passed in 1901, it was directed against the St. Louis Transit Co., and the St. Louis & Suburban Railway Co., which were then separate lines. The United Railways later took over and united these systems, and continued the fight to prevent the collection of the mill tax by the city.

Injunction Filed.

An injunction suit was filed in the United States Circuit Court at St. Louis seeking to enjoin the collection of the mill tax. The city won this suit, and the injunction was ordered dissolved. The railway company appealed to the United States Supreme Court.

After the injunction was dissolved, the city filed several suits to collect various amounts alleged to be due in half-yearly periods, according to the provisions of the mill tax ordinance.

While these suits were pending the United States Supreme Court gave its decision in November, 1908, dissolving the injunction and approving the right of the city to collect the mill tax.

Reasons Given in Answer.

The attorneys for the United Railways filed answers to the suits then pending in the Circuit Court and set up several reasons why the company could not legally be compelled to pay the tax. It was contended that the ordinance practically declared the United Railways must pay a double taxation, and it was set up that the company already paid special taxes and a tax on its physical property.

DIES AFTER AUTO CRASH WITH AN AUTOMOBILE

Robert E. McConnell, 40 years old, of 5113 Minerva avenue, president of the McConnell & Pilcher Ice & Fuel Co., died Monday night at the city hospital from a fractrued skull, which he received last Friday night when a motor cycle he was riding collided with the automobile of Charles W. Mansur, 6227 McPherson avenue, in front of the St. Louis Club.

Mansur, with a friend and their wives, had come east on Lindell boulevard, and were turning into the driveway of the St. Louis Club, when McConnell, on his motor cycle, going west, ran into the machine. The automobile was being driven by a negro chauffeur.

McConnell leaves a widow, Mrs. Mamie McConnell, and two children, Joseph, 13 years, and James, 5 years old.

DOCTOR IS ARRESTED

Alleged Operation on Girl Will Be Investigated.

Dr. Joseph M. Blakemore of 2611 Wash street and Leo Loevier, 25 years old, of 1811 Rutger street were arrested Monday night by agents of the Board of Health and are held pending an investigation of the condition of Evelyn Graham, 17 years old, of 1908 Hickory street. Miss Graham is at her home, critically ill, the agents say, as the result of an illegal operation.

Dr. Blakemore denies having participated in any form of malpractice. Loevier says he has no knowledge of any operation having been performed.

2 HOMES ARE RANSACKED

Burglars Get $15 in Cash and $80 Worth of Jewels.

Burglars ransacked the residence of Mrs. Mamie Crabb, 5085 Kensington avenue, in her absence Monday evening and stole $15 and jewels valued at $75. Mrs. Crabb's sisters, Margaret and Delia Newman, were the chief losers.

The residence of Mrs. M. Cryder, 5211 Cabanne avenue, who with her son is visiting in South Bend, Ind., was entered by burglars Monday evening. A class pin valued at $5 was taken.

Sends Shots After Prowler.

Samuel Boales of 4119 Westminster place heard a noise in his chicken shed shortly after 1 a. m., Tuesday, and, arming himself with a revolver, went into the yard. Finding a man prowling about he fired several shots at the intruder. The latter jumped the back fence and fled through the alley toward Whittier street.

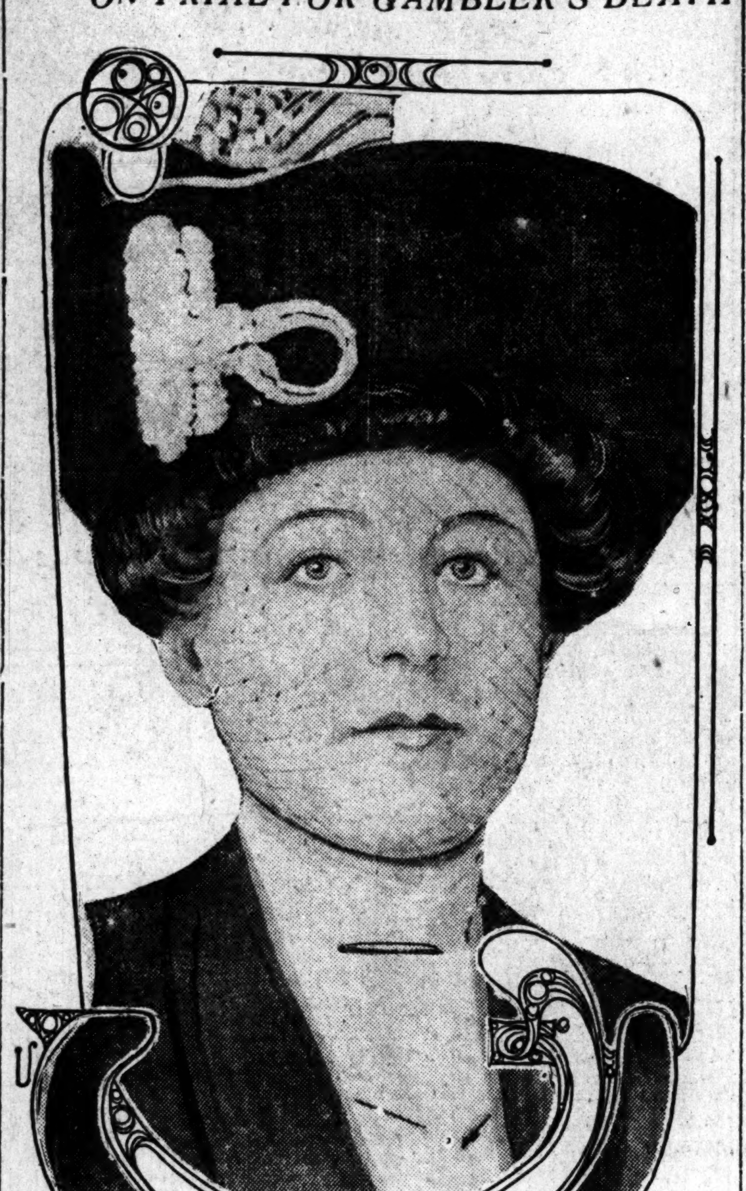
WIFE OF POLICE LIEUTENANT ON TRIAL FOR GAMBLER'S DEATH



MRS. CHARLES BECKER.

REPEATS HIS CHARGES AGAINST M'KINLEY LINE

E. S. Morris Tells Audience He Was Offered Place on System's Payroll.

E. S. Morris repeated to a North St. Louis audience in Military Hall Monday night the charge which he lately made in an interview printed in the Post-Dispatch that the McKinley electric system offered him a place on its payroll at a time when he was conducting an agitation against the new franchises sought by the company.

Morris said he was told, in a letter from an official of the company, that he would receive $50 a month, but was not told what his duties would be. He declined to consider the offer.

Morris also told of his experience in Mayor Kreismann's office when he went there to talk to the mayor about the franchise bill. He said he was "virtually thrown out," and that other officials also refused to hear him. He voiced the objection of residents along the company's line in North St. Louis to the hauling of freight, under the name of express, along the streets.

Tilden Stearns, an attorney for the company, told the audience that the company was desirous of taking its heavy traffic off the residence streets, and that the grant now asked would enable the company to do this, by providing it with terminal facilities. He told of plans for a river-front express station, near the McKinley bridge.

ANNA RICE OF PINE STREET APPEARS AT COLE HEARING

A woman, stylishly gowned in gray, and wearing many diamonds, appeared in Judge Moses N. Sale's office in the New Bank of Commerce Building. Tuesday morning at the hour set for resuming depositions in the $50,000 damage suit of Mrs Dorothy Walker Cole against Dr. Ernest H. Cole. The suit alleges that Dr. Cole alienated the affections of his nephew, John Jackson Cole, from his wife.

The woman displayed a subpena requiring her attendance, and admitted she was Anna B. Rice, of 2700 Pine street, and that she was the person lately sought as a witness in the case. There was testimony Monday that a watch was kept for 62 days by Dr. Cole in that neighborhood for his brother, Amedee B. Cole, and that 40 photographs were made.

"Why was I summoned here?" the woman demanded of Judge Sale, who is special commissioner in the deposition taking. "I don't know any of these people. I know nothing about the case."

Judge Sale told her that, if she really knew nothing of the case, she would only need to say so when questioned, but that she could not be excused from appearing. She was told to return Friday morning.

It was recalled that when a process server went to the Pine street house to serve the subpena, the woman met him at the door and told him Anna Rice had removed from that house. He suspected that she was the one he sought, and insisted on her taking the paper, which she threw into the yard.

The deposition-taking was postponed until 10 a. m. Wednesday.

Disease That Killed 20,000 Kansas Horses Disappears.

TOPEKA, Kan., Oct. 15.—The horse plague that caused the death of more than twenty-thousand horses in Kansas and loss of more than two million dollars during August and September has disappeared as mysteriously as it came. J. C. Mercer, State Livestock commissioner, has not had a new case of the disease reported to him since a week ago Saturday.

Mercer said no known cure for the disease had been found and he was unable to account for its disappearance.

SCHEPPS TELLS OF MEETING BECKER IN DARK AFTER CRIME

HOW GUN MEN WERE PAID

Witness at Meeting to Blacken Rosenthal's Character Before Murder.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Dapper little Sam Schepps, gambler and under-world hanger-on, whom District Attorney Whitman's men seized at Hot Springs, Ark., took the witness stand at the trial of Police Lieutenant Charles Becker today.

Rose, Vallon and Webber having given their coinciding versions of the alleged plot to slay Herman Rosenthal, the Prosecutor hoped to find further corroboration in the story of Schepps. The little gambler has described himself as the "keystone of the arch."

Schepps gave his residence as Hot Springs, Ark. He told of knowing Jack Rose and former Lieut. Becker, and of carrying messages between the two. He said he was at the meeting at Dora Gilbert's house when Rosenthal's former wife made the affidavit "blackening the gambler's character," on the night before the murder.

Tells of Murder Car.

Schepps also told of getting into the murder car at Fourteenth street, with Rose and Harry Vallon, of picking up "Dago Frank" and their driving to Webber's poker rooms. Sam Paul, "Whitey" Lewis," "Lefty Louie" and "Gyp the Blood" were waiting on the street, and all went up into the poker rooms, Schepps said, and sat down at a table.

"Bridgie Webber," he continued, went out and returned with the message that Rosenthal was at the Metropole.

"What happened then?" asked Assistant District Attorney Moss.

"Lefty, Gyp, Whitey Lewis and Dago Frank went out."

Schepps said he went out later. He said that about 1:20 o'clock that morning, half an hour before the murder he saw Lieut. Becker driving in an automobile on Forty-second street. After the murder he met Harry Vallon at the Elks Club. Thence he went to his apartments on Fourteenth street, and then to the apartment of the gun men.

"Did they say anything to you?"

"They asked me if there was any message from Jack Rose. I told them there was some money coming to them."

Payment of Gun Men.

Schepps then described the payment of the gun men the day of the murder Webber giving the money to Rose, who handed it to "Lefty Louie."

Schepps said he then went with Rose to the home of Harry Pollock and stayed with him there until 10:30 that night. The next morning, Schepps said, he returned to Pollock's house, remained there all day and at the request of Rose, went to Lieut. Becker's house in the evening.

"I said to Becker," Schepps continued, "Rose told me to tell you that he is sick and feels terrible and wants me to find out what you were going to do.

Meeting in the Dark.

"Becker said: 'Tell him not to worry; everything is all right. They've got to prove who killed Herman Rosenthal before they convict any one.

"I took a cigarette out and lighted a match. Becker said, 'Don't light that match here. There's some one watching across the street and they might see you.' "

"Was the apartment light or dark?"

"Dark."

The witness said that previous to the murder, Jack Rose had sent him to see 'Dago Frank," "Gyp the Blood," "Lefty" Louis and "Whitey" Lewis, and to tell them to "be sure and not come downtown with any guns on you. You might be framed up. And be sure not to have any guns around the house."

WILSON WAS NOT AFRAID OF $12,500 M'CORMICK GIFT

C. H. Dodge Testifies He Asked Harvester Official to Take the Money Back.

T. F. RYAN AIDED HARMON

Gave $77,000 for Ohioan's Primary Campaign and $35,000 for That of Underwood.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—Cleveland H. Dodge, who collected $85,000 for Gov. Wilson's campaign, which included $12,500 from Cyrus H. McCormick of the International Harvester Trust Co., told the Clapp Committee today he realized "there might be some question" about the McCormick money.

Dodge said he feared the Government's suit to dissolve the Harvester Company might arouse adverse criticism, and he asked McCormick to take the money back. The question finally, was left to Gov. Wilson.

"The Governor said he was perfectly willing to receive the money, and was not afraid to take it," said Dodge.

"Mr. McCormick gave the money just as he would have given it to Princeton University."

Senator Oliver's questions brought out that Thomas D. Jones, another contributor to the fund, was connected with the Harvester Company. Dodge told of lending $25,000 to the Trenton (N. J.) True American, early in Gov. Wilson's term. It had nothing to do with the presidential preconvention campaign, he said.

$150,000 for Harmon.

Of the $150,946.45 expended in the interest of Gov. Harmon in the Democratic primary contest this year, Lieutenant-Governor Hugh L. Nichols of Ohio told the committee that $77,000 was contributed by Thomas F. Ryan. Senator Bankhead also testified that Ryan gave $35,000 of a fund of $52,000 collected for the advancement of Representative Underwood's candidacy. Ryan will be a witness before the committee

William F. McCombs, who managed the Wilson campaign, and his aid, William McAdoo, had previously accounted for $208,193 used in the Wilson campaign.

Nichols told the committee that Gov Harmon contributed largely to his own campaign. He said that $122,000 had been collected, but the expenditures amounted to $146,000 in the national campaign, and that Gov. Harmon supplied the difference. In addition to this Nichols filed a statement of $4946.45 collected and expended in Ohio.

The principal contributors mentioned in Nichols' statement were: R. M. Thompson, $3000; Representative Francis Burton Harrison, $5000; E. C. Wheeler, $8500; J. F. Fanning, $5000; William Dudley, $2500; Thomas F. Ryan, $77,000, and James J. Hill, $15,000. Senator Pomerene of Ohio, a member of the investigating committee, was credited with a contribution of $250 in the account.

No Standard Oil Money.

Under examination, Nichols brought out that it had been charged in the campaign that J. P. Morgan & Co. and the Standard Oil Co. had contributed to the Harmon fund. "Not a dollar was received from either," he declared.

Senator J. H. Bankhead outlined to the committee the expenditures in behalf of Representative Underwood. The contributors mentioned in his statement were: Thomas F. Ryan, $35,000; James Auerback, $7500; S. R. Bertram, $2500; J. H. Woodward $2500. Small contributions amounting to $2[illegible]0 brought the fund up to $25,000.

Josiah Quincy of Massachusetts presented to the committee the report of Miss E. M. Mitchell, treasurer of the Wilson campaign in the State, accounting for expenditures of $4,036.60 in the pre-convention campaign.

Frederick C. Penfield of Philadelphia testified that his contributions to the Wilson fund amounted to $12,000. Senator Dixon of the Roosevelt forces, on the stand before the committee, said his information was that Penfield had given the Wilson forces about $4[illegible]0. Penfield declared no other members of his family made contributions although Senator Dixon had said that the $48,000 gift might have been in the name of Mrs. Penfield.

Illinois Primaries.

The Democratic organization fight in Illinois dwarfed the presidential contest in the recent primaries, according to Roger C. Sullivan. Sullivan declared that he knew of no money spent for aspirants to the Democratic presidential nomination in the State, although he contributed $40,000 or $50,000 to the primary fund, to maintain control of the organization.

"You were the Democratic leader in Illinois?" asked Senator Oliver.

"Yes, you might call it that. When they are unfriendly they call it a boss," the witness replied.

Sullivan said that the contribution of between $40,000 and $50,000 represented all of the money spent on his side of the Democratic primary fight. He said that in 1908 the Democrats spent about $47,000 in the State and about $71,000 in Cook County.

"But I should judge the Republicans spent several times that," he volunteered.

"That's what they all say," remarked Senator Oliver. "The other side is always the one that spends the money."

McCombs was recalled to the stand.

"What candidate was Thomas F. Ryan for at the Baltimore convention?" he was asked.

"I have no means of saying," he said. "He was against us. I don't know who he voted for, but it was my assumption that he was against Gov. Wilson."

Parker on the Stand.

The much-disputed Republican campaign fund of 1904 was the subject of a long examination of Judge Alton B. Parker. Judge Parker placed in the record extracts from his campaign speeches in which he charged that the Republicans were backed by the "trusts" and "corporations," referring specifically to a "committee" including James Stillman of Standard Oil group, Daniel G. Reid of the Rock Island, Charles F. Brooker of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, George W. Perkins of the New York Life Insurance Co., Robert Bacon of J. P. Morgan & Co., H. C. Frick and E. H. Harriman. He said that information as to this "committee" came to him through an old friend, the late Col. Daniel S. Lamont.

WOMAN'S STORY AGAINST GIBSON IS BROKEN DOWN

Woman Says She Never Knew Lawyer Accused of Szabo Murder.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The remarkable story told by "Mrs. Rose Guerra" of dealings with Burton W. Gibson, the lawyer accused of the murder of Mrs. Rose Menschik Szabo, has broken down.

According to a statement by Assistant District Attorney Wasservogel, the prospective witness against Gibson has admitted that her story was untrue, and she told it, she said, at the instance of "a New Jersey lawyer," whose identity she has not made clear, to get information from the prosecution in the Gibson case. Her real name is Helen Laura Rockwell, and she never knew Gibson, according to Attorney Wasservogel.

IMPRACTICAL HOME RULE.

We assume that our Socialist friends of the Central Trades and Labor Union are serious in urging a home rule measure providing for elective tripartisan police and election boards, with one professional, one business and one laboring man on each.

Let us reason together.

How would it be possible to elect a tripartisan board and leave any freedom of choice to the voters?

Under the law the three candidates of the three leading parties would be elected. There would be practically no competition between the candidates of the three leading parties in the general election.

Instead of running against each other all three would be elected. If the terms were unequal then the candidate of the leading party, not having a representative on the board, would by force of law be seated, regardless of the returns.

The candidate selected by each of the leading parties would be seated by law. He would be elected, therefore, by the party, either through primaries or conventions, or he would be named for the ticket by the City Central Committee, as in the case of the bipartisan School Board.

The voters as a whole, by the plan, instead of being given a voice in the selection of Police and Election Commissioners, would be deprived of all power of selection.

But a further restriction is urged by the Central Trades and Labor Union upon the three leading parties in their choice of candidates for the boards. One must select a professional man, another a business man and the third a laboring man.

How would this selection be made? Who would be invested with the power to designate the professional man to run in one party primary, the business man to run in another and the laboring man to run in the third? Who would have the power to compel the voters of one party to vote only for a professional man, of another to vote only for a business man, and of another to vote only for a laboring man.?

If the parties should refuse to name the particular kind of man designated by law and the voters should refuse in the primaries to select the particular kind of man designated by law, who would have the power to name the Police and Election Boards regardless of the voters?

We do not believe a law which so restricts the freedom of electors is constitutional. If it is constitutional it is impractical—it is ridiculous.

If we are to have home rule the measure providing for the appointment of the Police, Election and Excise Boards by the Mayor is the wisest. If these offices were made elective it would invite the concentration on them of all the elements in all the parties which want the privilege of violating law. It would bring the police into politics of the worst kind.

To vest the appointive power in the Mayor is in accord with progressive policy. It is in harmony with the commission plan which aims to concentrate power and responsibility on one man or on a very few elective officers. It is in harmony with the short ballot.

If the Mayor, who is elected by the whole city for many important functions, should be given these additional duties and responsibilities, the people of the city might be more thoroughly aroused to the importance of electing to the mayoralty none but men of the highest character and capacity. The Mayor's sense of duty and responsibility would be intensified.

A SYMPOSIUM ON POLITICS.

Supt. Oscar Leonard's plan for a series of political discussions at the Jewish Educational Alliance headquarters, Ninth and Carr streets, seems to the Post-Dispatch a campaign feature of unusual merit. One evening is to be set apart for each political party and the speakers assigned to present the claims of each are to permit a 30-minute intermission for suggestions from the floor.

It is to be assumed that no small part of the audience at every meeting will consist of foreign-born citizens, some no doubt newly naturalized, whose chief reliance for information is a press printed in a foreign tongue, which cannot devote to politics the space accorded by newspapers printed in the English language. The symposium, in which campaign issues will be presented from all sides, will be an excellent preparation for the duties of election day and ought to counteract a tendency toward too great racial clannishness in political action.

Party managers will not be unappreciative of this opportunity to appeal under highly favorable circumstances to naturalized voters, and should assign to the meetings speakers, preferably men not candidates for office themselves, who will explain simply and clearly and with a minimum of buncombe the important questions the voters are to decide Nov. 5.

A tidal wave is thought to have passed over the Great Lakes. In three weeks more it will sweep the rest of the map.

COL. ROOSEVELT.

Although Col. Roosevelt suffers more from his wound than was at first anticipated, the report of his condition at this writing is favorable. His wonderful vitality, which was exhibited in a striking manner immediately after the shooting is reasserting itself.

The effect of the wound doubtless was aggravated by Col. Roosevelt's conduct within the hour following the attempted murder. It was foolish, but characteristic of him that he declined surgical aid and disregarded his injury until he had faced the audience at the Milwaukee Auditorium and attempted to deliver the speech which had been promised. It was a dramatic event—scarcely surpassed in history—when Col. Roosevelt showed his torn manuscript and bloody vest to the people and said "I do not care a rap about being shot, not a rap."

Commenting on his happy life; on his good fortune in having been able to do many things he wanted to do, and remarking that he was interested in doing other things he added, "I am telling you the literal truth when I say that my concern is for many other things. It is not in the least for my life."

This carelessness of personal danger and disaster; this marvelous presence of mind and quick seizing of the psychological moment to press home his own purpose vividly exhibit the qualities which have made Theodore Roosevelt the most conspicuous man of his time. The incident was a superb demonstration of his fortitude, courage, energy and resourcefulness.

The Post-Dispatch has opposed Col. Roosevelt's ambition for re-election, but we have freely expressed admiration for many of his qualities and have praised many of his achievements. We yield to no one in admiration of the bright manhood he displayed in Milwaukee. It was an extraordinary climax of an extraordinary campaign in which there is so much of good that one regrets the vital objections which impel millions of patriotic and progressive Americans to reject Col. Roosevelt's candidacy.

Political friend and foe alike rejoice that the crank who shot Col. Roosevelt failed of his murderous purpose. We voice the sentiment of the American people when we congratulate him on his escape from death and wish him a quick recovery from his injury.

A CRAZY PAY DAY SCHEDULE.

The objections to the former schedule of teachers' pay days were that pay days were placed too far apart and that they were not correlated with any civilized system of chronology or the customs of the commercial world governing the payment of bills.

Under the new schedule, just adopted by the board, six pay days are placed five weeks apart, two are placed three weeks apart and two are placed two weeks apart. Thus, while the number of pay days is increased by two, six will continue to be separated by the same inconvenient interval as the entire eight under the former plan and the schedule lacks even the merit of regularity and orderly arrangement It might be suspected that somebody had exercised ingenuity in seeing just how irrational, intricate, inconvenient and crazily disjointed an arrangement he could devise.

It was for no such beauty bright that the teachers voted overwhelmingly in their referendum If there are 40 weeks in the school year and 10 pay days, how far ought pay days to be part? Answer, not more than four weeks. The expert accountants in the office of the board should not find the problem so difficult.

CRIPPLED RALPH KNOBELICH.

Some day Ralph Knobelich, 8 years old and crippled, will understand the excuse assigned by the Kinloch principal for excluding him from school. Now, of course, he is too young to understand it. All he knows is that in some mysterious way it has something to do with consideration for those over on the girls' side of the room, and for girl acquaintances and friends, big or little, it is of course the duty of even a crippled boy always to be considerate.

When he does come to understand what a fantastic, monstrous excuse it is and realizes that on the same excuse children might be excluded because they have freckles or a snub nose or warts on their hands—that an Alexander Pope might for the same excuse be excluded not only from school but all public appearances because he was a hunchback and a Byron because he had a club foot—it will be fortunate if he is wholesome-minded enough not to become embittered over its cruelty. For greater even than the physical handicap of bodily imperfections is the mental handicap they often come to impose in time—the sense of being different from other persons, of being an object of aversion to not a few, the hidden resentments and smarts due to the readiness of others to disregard their rights and take advantage of their weakness.

Of boys with just such handicaps as Ralph's the State is much more solicitous than it is of other boys. To deprive them of an education is to deprive them of their single opportunity for usefulness and happiness. Special provision for teaching Ralph must be made from the public funds, if he is debarred from the usual facilities. But unless a better reason exists for special provision than the preposterous reason attributed to the principal, he should be admitted to the schools on the same footing as more fortunate pupils.

SHERWOOD FAMILY STRAW VOTE.

While enormous energy was being expended on unofficial polls of scattered and unrelated units among our citizenship, C. B. Sherwood of Kahoka, Mo., centered effort and took a straw vote of his own family. His tabulated figures show that one son in Colorado, one son in Oregon and 46 cousins, nephews, brothers-in-law, sons and other kinsmen in Clark County, Mo., are all going to vote the Bull Moose ticket.

The straw vote that does not venture outside of the privacy of the family circle is really the only kind of a straw vote that carries with it much weight. This Sherwood family showing should cause, not alarm and dismay, but jubilation, on the part of the advocates of Gov. Wilson. Practically every one of these 46 members of the Sherwood clan has been accustomed heretofore to vote the Republican ticket. The Colonel has no monopoly in unanimous support from big, old-fashioned Missouri family clans.

The former clans of stand-patism are pretty well broken up and dispersed, but now that the straw vote season is on, figures showing that at least 48 of somebody's sons, brothers, nephews, cousins, brothers-in-law and wife's relatives are for Wilson may be expected as soon as publicity on the Sherwood poll reaches the interior counties.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

How Muscatine Beat St. Louis.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

About seven or eight years ago I wrote on the free bridge question and characterized the Terminal Association and its bridge arbitrary as a Shylock demanding its toll for every pound of flesh as well as every pound of freight. This was because my shipments from Pittsburg were placed with the merchants of Kansas City frequently before the same date of shipments reached St. Louis merchants. Your morning papers refused to publish this injustice to St. Louis.

The Post-Dispatch did publish it, and wrote with it a strong editorial. And yet with all of your influence and a decision of the Supreme Court in your favor, well-paid, sharp lawyers are deferring the day of judgment, against the interest of a great city like St. Louis.

Traveling all the Western states, I have recently visited the Mississippi River cities, and again the free bridge of your city looms up as a feature of absolute wonder that your great and beautiful city does not put an end to this injustice that has damaged it to the extent of millions of dollars and hundreds of thousands in population.

There is a prosperous little city (Muscatine, Io.), with a bridge I think fully as long as Eads bridge, not a railroad bridge, built many years ago at a cost of $200,000 by these enterprising people, only a city of 10,000 then, now 20,000, and no big cities on the opposite bank. The toll is 2½ cents for footmen, 15 and 20 cents for one and two horse wagons and has repaid almost the entire investment. I send you a picture of this bridge.

Machine Music.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

There is a machine grinding out a lot of noise to attract people to a theater on Broadway and St. Charles street. The manager of the place calls it "moosic." A short time ago these machines ground out these whines for the giddy "merry-go-round," but even then they were compelled to go or some way-off background where they were not a nuisance. It is very hard on the people in the hotel over this theater. We can't possibly get any sleep until after 12 o'clock at night when the man shuts off his steam calliope. We have complained to the police, but they don't pay any attention to it. If we attempted to attract all that attention they would land us in Kankakee. What is the remedy?

HOTEL GUEST.

Ralph Johnstone's Death.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

After reading the article in last Sunday's Magazine Section of the Post-Dispatch, entitled "Human Vultures," I feel called upon to mention a few facts in connection with the death of Ralph Johnstone in Denver during the latter part of November, 1910.

I believe that had the writer of the article been on the aviation field at the time of the accident he or she would have heard many an exclamation of horror from "Colorado Vultures, who fly high," also would have noticed that the crowd of "morbid men and women" did not immediately swarm over the wreckage, fighting for souvenirs, as your article states, for the thousands of spectators were stunned and absolutely incapable of immediate action. The writer of "Human Vultures" might also have taken note of the fact that more than one woman cried out in horror and fainted.

I, for one, did not obtain any souvenirs, although I was one of the first to reach the wreckage and the unfortunate aviator's body, and I am sure I did not see anyone "tear a splinter from the body and run away, carrying his trophy, with the aviator's blood still dripping from its ends." It is true that a few men and women carried away souvenirs, but the investigators were able to discover the cause of the accident—a crumpled wing caused by defective repairing, and this would hardly have been possible had the machine been stripped to the extent your article would indicate. A witness of that accident needs no souvenirs to aid the memory.

If the band continued to play the "Grizzly Bear," it was for the same reason other bands have played on like occasions; to prevent panic, for the grounds were packed to the limit of their capacity, and a panic would surely have meant injury or death to many women and children. The band certainly had no time to change to a more appropriate piece of music.

It does not seem to me that your article is at all fair to the people of Colorado, who have many times shown themselves to be at least average human beings, with human emotions.

CHARLES GALE.

School Teachers' Pay Days.

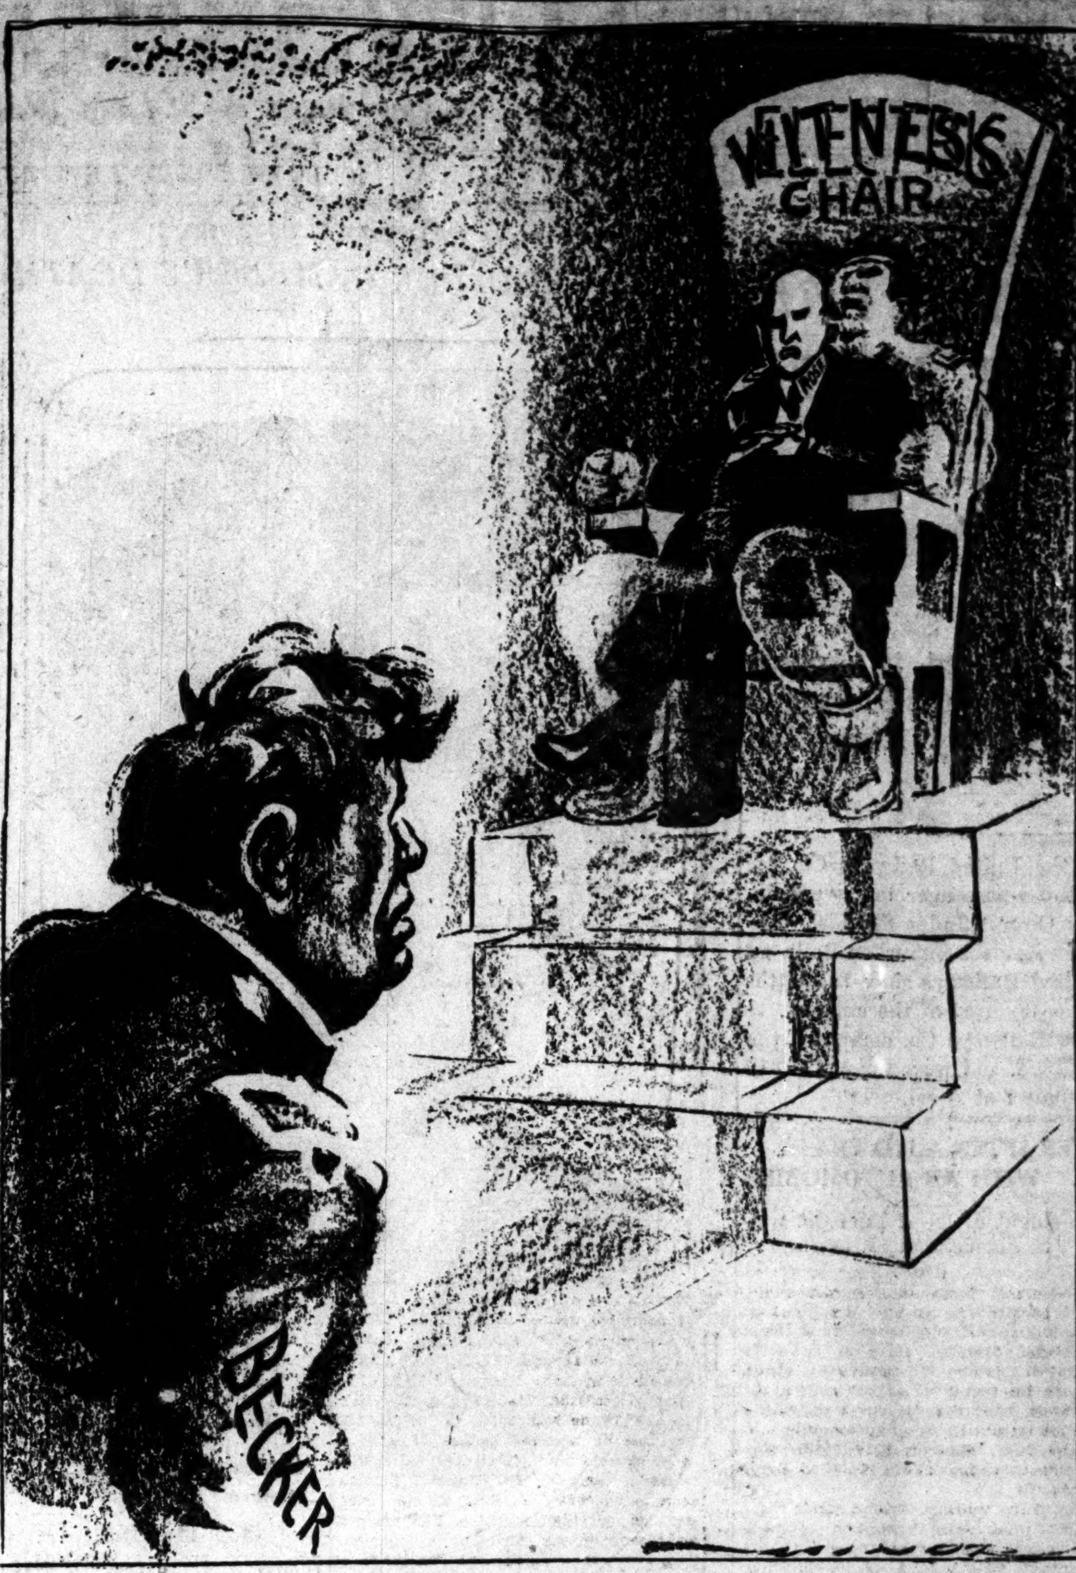
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch

In regard to the school teachers' 10 pay days, did the Post-Dispatch advocate and understand that the 10 payments were to be monthly payments? The superintendent's understanding of such measure certainly is classical, but I fail to find it on the square.

Is the following the new order of the payroll? Pay at the end of the second week; pay again after three weeks; pay again after five weeks; pay again after five weeks; pay again after two weeks; pay again after three weeks; pay again after five weeks; pay again after five weeks; pay again after five weeks; pay again after five weeks.

It's the same old story?

A FRIEND OF THE TEACHERS.



BECKER'S VISION.

THE EDUCATED WOMAN.

Helen Keller in Metropolitan Magazine.

I am not disposed to praise the educated woman, as we commonly use the term. I find her narrow and lacking in vision. Few women whom I meet take a deep interest in the important questions of the day. They are bored by any problem not immediately related to their desires and ambitions. Their conversation is trivial and erratic. They do not consider a subject long enough to find out that they know nothing about it. How seldom does the college girl, who has tasted philosophy and studied history, relate philosophy and the chronicles of the past to the terrific processes of life which are making history every day! Her reputed practical judgment and swift sympathy seem to become inoperative in the presence of any question that reaches to a wide horizon. Her mind works quickly so long as it follows a traditional groove. Lift her out of it and she becomes inert and without resource. Such a woman comes to the gravest responsibilities like the foolish virgins who hastened to the marriage with no oil in their lamps. She is not prepared for the battle of life. Before she knows it she may be in the midst of the fight, undisciplined and disorganized, struggling for all that is precious to her against an enemy whose position she has not reconnoitered. She sends her sons and daughters into the streets of life without the knowledge that protects. Ignorance gives her confidence, and she is fearless from want of understanding.

A TIBET STAMP.

From the London Chronicle.

A philatelic curiosity has just reached this country from Tibet. It is a postage stamp designed and executed apparently in anticipation of the return, after his long exile in India, of the Dalai Lama to rule once more over the land of the Llamas.

Of muddy, purple color, the stamps is very crudely designed and printed, and bears traces of the divine ruler's long residence in India. It has evidently drawn its frame and spandrel ornamentation from the same value of the Edwardian 1 anna stamp of India. In the place of the central portrait, however, there is the mysterious looking beast identified as the white lion of Tibet. Possibly by an error of drawing, the white lion is shown in color on a white ground.

The inscriptions are in native and English characters, the latter reading, "Tibet-Postage." The native characters are interpreted as (at top) Pod—Tibet, Shung—Government: (below) Yig—letter, The-Hu—postage or stamps, Kha-anna, Kang—one.

BOSSES AGAINST THE PEOPLE.

Consider what is involved in the suit to keep the Progressive state ticket off the Missouri ballot

It is an attempt on the part of politicians to prevent the people of Missouri from having the chance to express their will on the candidates for state offices.

Could there be better evidence of the politicians' fear of the new party, or of their bitter opposition to the rule of the people?

RHAPSODY.

WHEN the haze gets back in the atmosphere
Is a mighty pleasant season, too.
Then it is that the fields appear
Scintillant with the morning dew,
Merely to live is a joyous thing
Along about this time of year,
And O, how the Hunter's Moon can swing
Across the sky, and the stars can sing,
When the haze gets back in the atmosphere!

✣ ✣ ✣

WHEN the haze gets back in the atmosphere
The wild goose clamors in the sky,
And a thousand memories made dear
By other Autumns greet the eye,
The hickory leaves are turned to gold
That mounts the hillsides tier on tier,
And deep in the hoary forest's hold
The year grows beautiful and old,

✣ ✣ ✣

WHEN the haze gets back in the atmosphere
The heart of the world grows mellow, too,
And the sassafras' bright note of cheer
Imparts enchantment to the view.
Life is beautiful and sweet,
Soft are the bending skies and near,
And in this Paradise complete
All things are beautiful and meet,

THE MIDDLEMAN.

It is a question if the country can continue to support the middleman in his present luxury. The strain is telling, and both the end men are about done for.

The middle man has grown very fast these last few years. His is by long odds the most prosperous class. It virtually supports the automobile industry and the American roadhouse. No middleman is without money. Why should he be? He can buy a bushel of potatoes from the grower for about what it costs to produce them and sell them to the consumer for four or five times that. He can do the same thing with grain. He can and is doing it with every food product we have. Consider the fresh egg, how it sells for from 30 to 40 cents a dozen at a season when it should be available at 12 and 15, and our old friend butter. Is the farmer getting a big price for his butter and eggs? He is not. You may see the farmer in town any day. He is as gaunt as ever. The middleman is getting that money. Ask around. Any restaurant man can tell you that.

The next time you see a middleman, ask yourself if you think we can go on maintaining him at this pace. Look at the man himself, and mark his great fatness. Observe his big diamond, the massive gold chain he wears on his watch, and his colored chauffeur. Don't absolutely condemn the Republican party before you see this man.

He is plainly living beyond our means.

MY CAR AND I.

We glide along the winding road,
And leave a dusty wake;
Before us into beauteous foam
The gold and azure sky;
We give old care the slip today,
My motor car and I.
—Leslie's.

But pleasure is as pleasure does,
And what occurred, I will not say,
Except to wonder who it is
That scatters nails along the way,
I pumped the pump until I thought
I must with every effort die,
And I can't say when we'll go again,
My motor car and I.
—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

And just the other night I let
The throttle open up a bit,
And turned the juice-kaffoslem loose
To see what pace the thing could hit:
But I was asked to wait a while—
The Judge will fine me by and by;
We find we are not understood—
My motor car and I.
Denver Republican.

A month has passed. I have it not,
That one time was my pride.
We started countryward one day,
And on the way it died.
A country churchyard stood beside
The quiet rustic way,
So I pushed it in among the dead,
And it is there today.

GREAT EXPECTATIONS.

"Do you think you could support my daughter in the way to which she is accustomed to living?"

"I don't think I could do it now, but if the Democrats win, I ought to manage it."

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

CLEANSING.

GENEVIEVE.—Without daily cleansing brass will tarnish. Save the water in which potatoes have been boiled and use it to wash tarnished brass. It will come out as bright as new. A cleaner that will polish the worst of soiled brass is made by moistening shellac with alcohol. After polishing with this, rub with a soft, dry cloth. Use but little at a time as the alcohol evaporates. Velvet is good in cleaning brass.

HORTENSE.—Marion Harland cleaned badly soiled velvet with a mixture of equal parts of alcohol and ether, one-third as much naphtha, and a teaspoonful of ammonia to a pint of the blended ingredients. Bottle, cork and shake the preparation well. Sponge the velvet—always with the nap. It will look like a sorry affair when dry, but the next step in the process will bring it all right. Hang the garment in the bathroom and turn on the hot water until the room is full of steam. Shut door and windows and leave the garment in the steam for some hours. When cold and still damp, hang in outer air. When dry, hold hot iron upside down; wring cloth out of water, lay over iron, then put velvet wrong side next to wet cloth. While steam is passing through, brush on upper side with soft brush. Move wet cloth as fast as it dries to continue the rise of steam. Do not lay finger upon the newly-risen nap until velvet is entirely dry. Remember, alcohol, ether and naphtha are all inflammable.

DATES.

READER.—Halloween Oct. 31.

FLYER.—In his aeroplane, Aug. 25, 1911, Atwood broke the world's record, covering 1265 miles in an airline, and perhaps 100 miles more in his detours. Started from St. Louis 8:05 a. m., Aug. 14, reached Governor's Island, N. Y., at 2:30 p. m. Aug. 25.

BEVIRT.—Centennial celebration Oct. 3-9, 1909. With black smoke belching from 24 smokestacks, until the whole river front was blotted out; with engines pounding and crowds on deck waving and cheering in response to the waving and cheering of the crowds on shore; with factory, locomotive and river craft whistles blowing a shrill farewell, and carrying the hopes and good wishes of millions of waterway advocates in the Mississippi Valley, President Taft's fleet of a dozen vessels, bearing the President, Cabinet Ministers, United States senators and representatives, many Governors and other notables, followed by a swarm of minor escorting boats, steamed majestically out of St. Louis harbor at 5 o'clock p. m., Oct. 25, 1909, bound for the Lakes-to-the-Gulf Deep Waterway Convention at New Orleans. (Results for deep waterway were rather shallow.)

HEALTH HINTS.

S. T., A. J., FEMALE.—You should go to the Y. W. C. A., where you can get competent advice free.

BLUE EYES.—If you "just can't quit eating too much," you cannot reduce your flesh. Don't drink vinegar; it might kill you.

EVERYDAY READER.—Weakness of the eyes may be the cause of your sleepiness after reading 15 minutes. Bathe the eyes with salt water—a mild solution—or consult a physician.

LAW POINTS.

S. J. O.—Burn your money.

JEAN.—A personal note is collectible any time within 10 years after date.

W. X.—Supreme Court Justices are appointed by the President. (Fifteen amendments to the Constitution.)

ED.—Having a lease you need give lessor no notice that you will vacate at expiration. Lease expiring Jan. 1, be sure to move Dec. 31.

G. C. B.—Tenant is not required to show prospective buyers through his flat. He must vacate if landlord gives him a month's written notice.

D. W. H.—In Illinois you cannot vote on first papers. You will find the Constitution of the United States in the World Almanac, at this office, or in Public Library.

F. E. A.—Your right, title and interest she cannot convert to her own use, as she states to you. She can dissolve the partnership and pay the debts and expenses thereof, but half the surplus (if any) you can claim.

MISCELLANEOUS.

B. O. K.—Telegraphy not in public schools.

H. S. BOY.—"The saucier and worse they were" is correct.

NEMO.—"Funeral private" means that only relatives and intimate friends are expected to be present.

B. B.—You will get correct information as to "absolutely genuine" at 320 Century Building, 9th and Olive.

PERPLEXED.—State law compels your neighbor to pay half expense of repairing division fence. See a lawyer.

HUNT.—For wages and cost of living in European cities, ask in Public Library reference room. (Bulletins of the Bureau of Labor.)

X. Y. Z.—Floor invitation to V. P. ball includes souvenir; balcony invitation is merely a ticket to the balcony. No invitation is transferable.

GIRLS' CLUB.—Refreshments for Halloween party may include old-fashioned doughnuts, sweet cider, pumpkin pie, apples, nuts and home-made candy.

KRING.—Roosevelt was awarded the Nobel prize ($40,000) in 1906; with this money he endowed the Foundation for the Promotion of Industrial Peace. He was made LL.D. by 9 universities and one college in the United States. In 1910 Cambridge and Oxford conferred upon him the degree of LL.D.

MRS. P. S.—A writer on tortoises says: If a tortoise kills insects like worms or slugs, it is also capable of doing mischief in a garden. It has a fancy for nice tender seedlings, and a Moroccan tortoise was once caught in the very act of reveling in a bed of young stocks; little sunflower plants also pleased him, and tender lettuce. Nor did he reject fruit, strawberries being his specialty, though slices of apple, banana, tomato and orange also proved acceptable. Green gooseberries he liked, but their hardness and roundness were a trouble to him. Having made a fairly good dinner, he would retire on a sunday afternoon under the kitchen table, though he did not sleep soundly, for if there was a larger fire than usual he put out his head, think perhaps that summer had returned. During the winter months it is a good thing to give a tortoise a little warm milk as a restorative.

H. G. Y.—Halloween games: On a table place a bottle, and on the mouth of the bottle place a cork. This should be balanced on the top of the bottle, and not pressed into it. Now provide your subject with an ordinary walking stick. Place him at the other end of the room, and tell him to walk quickly across the floor and knock off the cork with the single poke, or a single hit with the stick. Not one person in a hundred will be enabled to do this; they will nearly always strike above the cork or poke to one side. The reason for this is that everyone is unconsciously afraid of hitting the bottle, and this fear makes him aim higher than he would if the cork were resting on a wooden block. The result is he misses the cork nine times out of ten. It is best to place a newspaper under the bottle, in case it is broken. A Halloween stunt: Two men, two girls, or a man and a girl, stand face to face, almost touching each other. Now, at a given signal, they both have to whistle a tune which has been given to them, perhaps "Hail, Columbia," and the other "Yankee Doodle." In about five seconds they will begin to laugh, and as soon as they begin to laugh it is the end. Not one person in a hundred will be enabled to whistle through the piece to the end. Every time one or both break down they must give up a "forfeit," which must afterward be reclaimed by the usual process.

The Post-Dispatch Daily Short Story

A Victory Won

By Winston Clifford.

"FATHER will never consent to our marriage," Marjorie lamented tearfully.

"Why not," Tom asked, kissing the pretty, pouty lips.

"Because he'll say that you can't support me," she cried. "And I'll never be happy with anyone else."

"Of course you won't, for I don't intend to give you a chance to try it," Tom laughed, and caught her again in his arms. "Come, I want to kiss you again to celebrate," he said quietly, taking toll of her lips again.

"Celebrate what?" Marjorie asked, smiling, but not seeming to object to the process in the least.

"The anniversary of our engagement," Tom remarked. "It is now 10 o'clock. At exactly 9 o'clock you promised to marry me, so our engagement is an hour old," was Tom's explanation.

"Marry me without it," Tom suggested.

Marjorie shook her head. "No, I love father too well," she said slowly. "We'll have to think of something else."

"Marjorie Can't Marry Any Man Who Has Nothing More Than You."

can meet and defeat your honored sire, as the stories would call him, on Wall street. In the first place, he doesn't move along that thoroughfare himself, and in the second, I know about as much about frenzied finance as you."

"Father takes such good care of himself that I fear there's no chance of your saving his life," Marjorie put in sadly.

"To say nothing of it being a somewhat difficult task for a lightweight like me to pull off the rescue stunt with prospective father-in-law's 250 pounds," Tom grinned.

"All right, dearest, I'll try and see what he says right now," and before Marjorie could remonstrate he went into the house, for the two had been out on the veranda, and guided by the light under which Mr. Graham was reading his evening paper, soon put the case before him.

"So you want to marry my daughter?" was the quick question.

"I do, sir," Tom replied. "She's dear and sweet enough to make everyone want to do that."

"Mr. Graham shook his head. "No, Tom," he said decidedly, "Marjorie can't marry any man who has nothing more than you, with my consent. Of course she can go ahead if she wants to without it, but I don't think she will," and no amount of pleading would change him. He and his wife had married on a very small salary, and he always felt that her early death was caused by the hardships she went through before he was earning enough to take care of her properly.

Marjorie fretted, but to no purpose. Occasionally she saw Tom, but always felt she was wronging her father in doing so. Tom worked and saved, but seemed to make no progress in his suit.

Mr. Graham was unhappy, too. He liked Tom, but felt that his daughter was worthy of someone who had already made his mark in the world, and so would not give his consent.

"I'd gladly share a crust with you, dear," she told Tom on one of the occasions when they met.

"I guess I could buy two of them," he said doggedly. It was hard to be called a pauper, when he was earning a fair salary, was not dissipated, and was working day and night to attain his cherished object.

"I didn't mean that, dear," she sobbed, clinging to him.

"I know, sweetheart," he said sadly. "I guess it's just another phase of the high cost of living," and once more he set himself to solve the problem of how to overcome the opposition of his father-in-law to be.

Matters were in this very unsatisfactory state when Mr. Graham was invited to be one of the speakers at a banquet given a visiting dignitary. He was surprised to find Tom at the same table with himself; in fact, to find him there at all, but he did not know that Tom was a friend of the son of the man who had originated the banquet, which would have explained his presence.

The affair passed off agreeably, the great personage departed, and some of the visitors drifted into the lobby of the hotel, Mr. Graham among them. After receiving congratulations upon his well chosen speech, which was one of the best of the evening, his attention was attracted towards a somewhat noisy group over in one corner, and seeing Tom among them he sauntered in their direction. If he had gone deeply into the reason, it would have been that he was trying to find full justification for his attitude toward the young man.

As he came up, one of the number, the son of Tom's employer, was saying tauntingly:

"Afraid to drink, are you?"

Mr. Graham remembered that he had noticed that Tom's wine glasses had been turned down during the banquet.

"No," Tom said quietly, and Mr. Graham realized that Tom was not contributing to the noisy conversation of the group.

"Then what makes you a spoilsport?" continued the young man, who had evidently been drinking too much.

"Me? Oh, I don't drink because I don't care for it, that's all. The next-day headache seems too high a price to pay for a somewhat questionable pleasure the night before," and he laughed easily, then added:

"Come on, Bob; let's go home."

"You're afraid to drink. I dare you to take a drink, just one to show you know how," and the tone was so taunting that Mr. Graham fully expected to see Tom turn with his friend into the cafe; but that young man only laughed again, and throwing his arm about the shoulder of his tempter, said quietly:

"You're coming with me," and managed to get him away from the convivial crowd.

Mr. Graham jammed his hat down on his head and went home. For a full hour he studied over the matter, with the result that the next evening he sent for Tom. When that astonished but delighted young man arrived, he told him briefly:

"Take my girl. I'm satisfied. A man who can control himself can always control others. I need you in my business."

"I need him, too, father," Majorie whispered delightedly.

With his arm about Majorie, Tom shook Mr. Graham by the hand. "I guess we all need each other," he said happily.

THE POCKET ENCYCLOPEDIA

WHY is oak wood stronger than pine? Because the molecules of the oak have a greater power of attraction for each other, and so would take a greater force to separate them.

The Best Cough Syrup Is Easily Made at Home

Costs Little and Acts Quickly. Money Refunded If It Fails.

This recipe makes a pint of cough syrup, and saves you about $2.00 as compared with ordinary cough remedies. It stops obstinate coughs—even whooping cough—in a hurry, and is splendid for sore lungs, asthma, croup, hoarseness and other throat troubles.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with ½ pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, and add the Sugar Syrup.

This takes right hold of a cough and gives almost instant relief. It stimulates the appetite, and is slightly laxative—both excellent features.

Pinex, as perhaps you know, is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in guaiacol and the other natural healing pine elements.

No other preparation will do the work of Pinex in this recipe, although strained honey can be used instead of the sugar syrup, if desired.

This plan has often been imitated, but the old successful formula has never been equaled.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.—ADV.

One Day in the Pope's Life

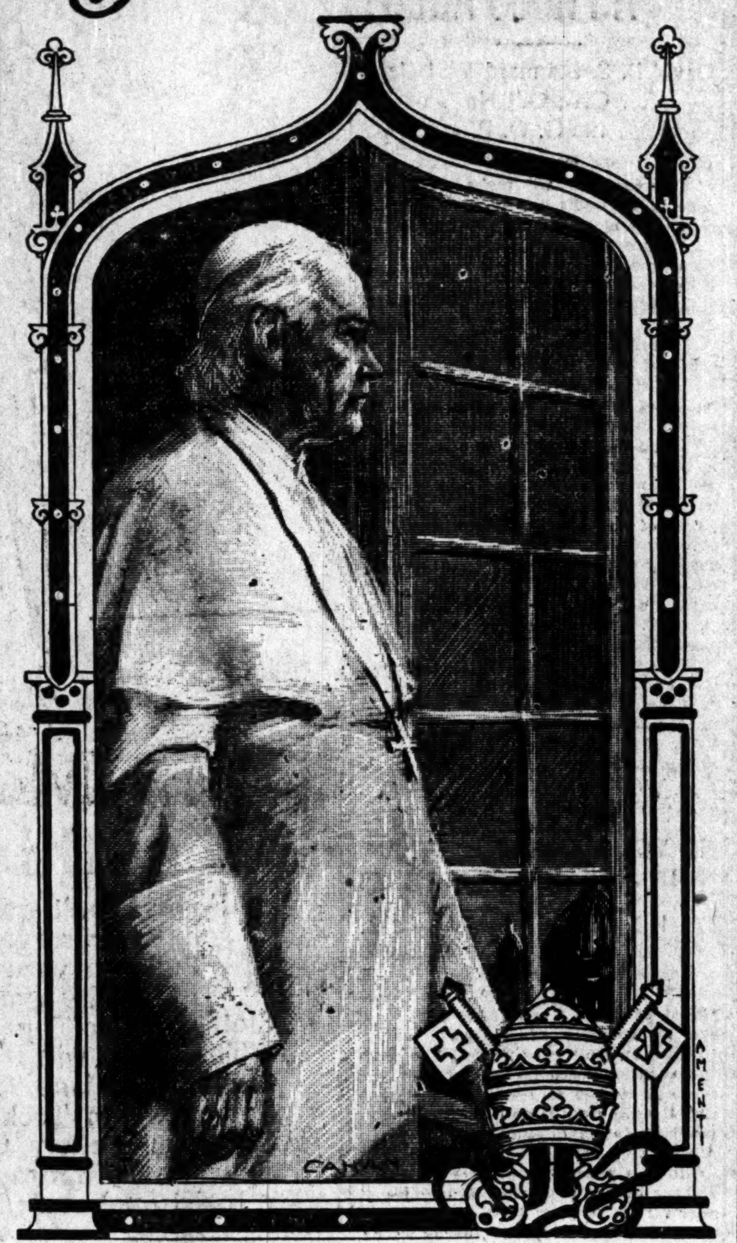
(Translated by Arthur Benington From "La Tribuna" of Rome for the Post-Dispatch.)



His Holiness, Pius X, looking out over Rome from a window of the Vatican.

THE sun has not yet peeped over the tops of the Alban hills when the white old man is already up. In the piazza below the fountains are sobbing in the glow of the not yet extinguished lamps. The electric lights still shine in the pontifical halls where the armed guards are on watch; they are put out one by one like little falling stars.

A bugle sounds the reveille of the Swiss Guards, the bronze gates swing ajar; the first tramcars go clanging through the Via di Porta Angelica, Rome shakes off its sleep; the bustle of city life begins, the sun splashes its rosy rays upon the window panes of the Loggie and over all the pile of Michelangelo, as if to salute the rival splendor of those masterpieces of art.

Pius X is praying.

During his illness of last year by the advice of his doctors, a spacious apartment on the second floor of the palace was fitted up as a bedroom for him, it being evident that the room on the third floor which he had been occupying was too close during the summer. He needed to breathe more freely; his cure was perhaps, due to the change. But as soon as he was well Pius X, who does not like very large rooms, had his old apartment on the third floor remodeled. The bedroom, which had really been too narrow, was made a little wider, and he returned there very gladly as soon as possible. Up there on his ordinary cot, beside which stands a little table with a few objects on it the Pope sleeps.

Pius X's bedroom is that which has the last window to the right on the third floor; it has also two windows on the southeast side of the palace.

Why does Pius X want his chaplain so near, even at night? It is said that he has presentiments and haunting fears. He is afraid, among other things, of dying suddenly; and, sincere believer that he is, he desires that the priest who will commend his soul to God be near at hand in any emergency. To one who asked him about this he said:

("It would be strange if, among all the Cardinals and Monsignori and prelates in the Vatican, the Pope should die without a priest at his side!")

This exclamation alone reveals to us all the well-learned piety, not without good-natured humor, that the good Bepi feels and professes.

THE BEGINNING OF THE POPE'S DAY.

ON the southeast side another room near the bed-chamber is fitted up as a place of study and prayer.

As soon as he has risen, the Pope performs the duty that is most characteristic of the priest, that which as pastor and as Bishop was for so many years his dearest custom; he goes to celebrate mass in a little private chapel adjoining Mgr. Bressan's room. His mass said, he assists at the mass that one of his private chaplains, Mgr. Bressan or Mgr. Pescini, says upon the same altar. Thus he unites almost symbolically the ministry of the priest with the duty of the Catholic.

Then he repairs to the dining room (the fourth window on the third floor counting from the right) and takes a cup of coffee and milk.

At 7 precisely he descends in the elevator to the second floor, where he amuses himself in the spacious well-lighted study with its three windows facing the piazza (the fifth, sixth and seventh, still counting from the right). In the winter the morning descent of the Pope from the third to the second floor is announced to the prelates in the Vatican automatically and infallibly. They have noticed that when the Pope's elevator starts the electric lights in the other apartments are dimmed for an instant.

The Secretary of State, Cardinal Merry del Val, is received at 9 for the transaction of the business that pertains to his high office. This call, naturally, has no fixed limits; it may last 10 minutes or two hours. But at ordinary times when there are no great problems to be solved, the Pope can by 10 or 10.30 at the latest receive the other Cardinals, who take precedence over lesser personages in visits and audiences.

Unless the Pope be indisposed, every morning after the Cardinals the Bishops are received; then begin the audiences asked by laymen. Last of all are held the so-called general audiences, which take place either in the same pontifical apartment or in the rooms adjoining the Pope's study. At these visitors flock to receive the papal benediction. Pilgrimages and national parties of Catholics are received in the Hall of the Consistory. When Pius X hears the noon gun on the Janiculum and the pealing of the bells of St. Peter's, even if in the middle of a reception, he pauses and at once recites the Angelus Domini in company with those present.

The receptions and audiences over, the Pope, preceded by two noble guards and followed by two Chamberlains of the Cape and Sword, by Maestro di Camera, Mgr. Ranuzzi de Bianchi and by one of the assistant chamberlains, either Mgr. Caccia-Dominioni or Mgr. Arborio Mella, generally returns to his study for a brief rest; then he ascends in the elevator to his favorite apartment on the third floor, and about 1 o'clock he lunches frugally.

The burden of etiquette laid aside, Pius X becomes Bepi again in an atmosphere of peace and calm. There his spirits revive, the weight of his 77 years becomes less heavy and the pain of the disease that racks him, gout, becomes less poignant. There, with Mgr. Bressan and Pescini, both Venetians, he can speak his dialect freely and give himself up without fear of indiscretion to joking and intimate chat. The wearing effects of his homesickness and his chafing against the restraint of his personal liberty diminish and some of the wrinkles vanish from the brow of the former pastor of Riese at the remembrance of the years of freedom, of the spiritual and sweet despotism of his rule at Venice, upon the sea, in a gondola.

A SERIES OF NINES BROKEN AT LAST.

AMONG the latest jokes I have heard this: Assiduous newspaper reader that he is, he saw last month what was published about the coincidence of the number 9 in the successive phases of his life; nine years pastor, nine years patriarch, nine years Pope; having been elected Pope on Aug. 4, 1903, the nine years of his pontificate expired on Aug. 4 last. Therefore—well, Pius X, without worrying about this prophecy that hung over him, said with a smile:

"El diga: galo visto sui zornai quela storiela del nove? La sara anca bela, ma no la xe vera pergnente."

("Say, did you see in the newspapers that yarn about the nine? Very pretty, but this time it won't be true.")

And, as he is infallible, he was right.

But let us take a look at Pius X at luncheon. The table is oval and rather large. He sits at the head. At the same table, but with a certain distance due to the rank of the Sovereign Pontiff, sit the two prelate chaplains, Mgr. Bressan and Mgr. Pescini. Pius X broke the fashion that the Pope must eat alone. Imagine the scandal that was aroused in certain quarters! And the scandal grew when it became known that Pius X had on a very few solemn occasions permitted his sisters to eat at the same table with him.

HIS MENU AND HIS WINES.

A MENU specially designed for his age and infirmities is served to Pius X. It is not true, as has been reported, that he has a big appetite and needs much food and drink. Generally he eats a soup, preferably of chicken broth with rice, a little boiled fowl or a veal cutlet; some fish or some other dish of "white meat" with cooked vegetables and fruit. He drinks mineral water and a glass of very old Bordeaux. On account of his gout he has been obliged to give up the ruby-tinted Valpolicella, which he liked to sip when Bishop of Mantua. If Popes be known by the wines they drink, it is well to recall that Leo XIII, exquisite and aristocratic, drank nothing but champagne. After luncheon, Pius X takes a cup of coffee.

Mgr. Bressan and Pescini have a less frugal repast. So it sometimes happens that the Pope, eyeing a dainty dish the two monsignori are enjoying, leans forward to look at it with the gesture of an eager child, and finally, taking courage, puts his fork into the plate of one of the two chaplains, saying humorously:

("It would scarcely be committing the sin of gluttony to taste that, eh?")

By 2 o'clock the luncheon is usually over. Sometimes when the weather is mild and the air clear the Pope rests awhile at the window. At this height he seems to be on an observatory, so great is the space below. Passersby in the Piazza San Pietro see through the half-closed shutters a patch of white that moves slowly and suddenly disappears. That patch of white is Pius X gazing out almost furtively at Rome.

At 2:30 he goes to his bedroom. Then from the Piazza San Pietro and the Piazza Rusticucci his attendants may be seen closing the shutters.

AFTERNOON AND EVENING ROUTINE.

ON summer and autumn afternoons Pius X takes a walk in the Vatican Gardens. Leaving his carriage he stops awhile before the reproduction of the Grotto of Lourdes; then he takes a few turns along the paths, says a word or two to the persons in his suite, to the gardeners or to whomever he meets.

At 9 sharp the customary dimming of the electric lights is noted, the Pope is going up in the elevator to his rooms. He says the rosary with his companions and then sups. The evening meal is very frugal: A "minestra"—generally broth—two eggs, some cooked vegetables, preserves. Soon afterward he retires. Mgr. Bressan in the adjoining room does likewise.

When Patriarch Sarto was not yet Pope and Mgr. Callegari was not yet Cardinal, he was living near the Padua Seminary, where Patriarch Sarto as a guest of Mgr. Callegari had many opportunities to enjoy the good cookery of the Seminary chef, whose name was Inchiostri. Of him Pius X retained the highest esteem, so much so that, not being able to give up the Venetian cooking, with its special ways of preparing rice, fowl, etc., at a moment that he was not feeling the weight of the tiara upon his head, he was heard to exclaim:

("No, no; I will get that Padum cook to come here!")

No sooner said than done. He telegraphed or wrote to Mgr. Callegari and Inchiostri came at once to Rome and was installed by Pius X as Pontifical arch-cook.

HOW HIS SISTERS ARE CARED FOR.

EVERY morning at 6 Inchiostri may be seen in the Campo de' Fiori doing the Pope's marketing, picking out the most wholesome and favorite fruits and vegetables. Inchiostri also has to do the daily marketing for the three sisters of Pius X.

If you should happen to pass through the Piazza Rusticucci and lift your eyes to the windows of the apartment occupied by the Sarto sisters you will see up there at the angle of the facade a wire stretching from this building to another close by. Follow that wire with your eyes; it runs along the Via di Porta Angelica, rests upon the headquarters of the anti-clerical association "Giordano Bruno," crosses the street, is affixed to the dark, dismal building opposite, in which the Swiss guards are housed, then circles around the walls of the Vatican, and after other turns, takes a swift and straight flight upward and ends in the Pope's bedroom.

Bepi—let us once again, without a shade of irreverence, without an idea of disrespect, make use of that familiar name—Bepi wanted beside his little cot a telephone apparatus that would enable him to hear the voices of Rosa, of Maria and of Anna when his heart grew heavy, when his soul was oppressed by a more than usually severe weight of sadness and longing for home!

Some popes in bygone days were charged with nepotism. Not even Pius X's greatest enemies would raise such an issue against him. His love for his sisters and his care over them is so simple, so human, that it has endeared him to even those Italians who have no love for the Pope.

Opinions as to his greatness as a Pope may differ, but he will live in the hearts of Romans as a Pope who never permitted his dignity to alter the simplicity of his character or the warmth of his heart.

Stubborn Colds May Lead to Consumption

Did you ever have a cold that would not let go; a cough that persisted, that prevented sleep and made waking hours miserable? Eckman's Alterative is the proper remedy in such cases. Perhaps some simple medicine may be effective where it is only a tickling in the throat; but when your chest is sore and simple remedies don't answer—then take Eckman's Alterative. Neglect often leads to more serious trouble. A case in point follows:

718 Cherry St., Phila., Pa.

"Gentlemen: In July, 1905, I first noticed the conditions that showed I had Consumption. I lost weight rapidly; had a hollow cough, hemorrhages and very severe night sweats. My brother recommended Eckman's Alterative. In the fall of 1905 I began to take it. At this time I am perfectly well and robust. My appetite is good and my weight has increased from 110 to 140 pounds. Not a trace of my old trouble remains. I will gladly express the merits of this medicine to anyone."

(Signed) M. L. GERHARDT.

Eckman's Alterative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Troubles and in upbuilding the system. Does not contain poisons, opiates or habit-forming drugs. For sale by Raboteau Drug Co., Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., Judge & Dolph Drug Co. and other leading druggists. Ask for booklet telling of recoveries, and write to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for additional evidence.

ORIGIN OF FAMILIAR THINGS

Written for the Post-Dispatch

By REV. MADISON C. PETERS.

CRAVAT—Corruption of Crabat or Croat. Was first introduced into France by French officers on their return from Germany in 1636. The Croats, who guarded the Turkish frontiers and acted as scouts on the flanks of the army, wore linen around their necks, tied in front, and the officers wore muslin or silk. When France organized a regiment on the model of the Croats, these linen neck cloths were imitated and the regiment was called "The Royal Cravat."

Penknife—Until 1820 pens (from Latin penna, a feather) were made out of quils, or large feathers, of the goose or other birds, and being soft, they split and had to be remade; so the knives that remade these pens got to be called "penknives."

Lead Pencil—There is no lead in the lead pencil; the right name for it is graphite, from a Greek word which means "to write." Graphite is changed coal. Graphite used for pencils is ground to powder, then subjected to great pressure, made into firm plates and sawed into small strips ready for the pencil. Graphite when reduced to powder is very soft, and when a hard pencil is required it is necessary to mix different materials, as clay, chalk, etc., with the powder to harden it. The finest graphite comes from Borrowdale, England, and the Siberian mines. There are mines at Ticonderoga, N. Y., and at Strobridge, Mass.

MELON—The first date of the melon is lost in antiquity, but Pliny records its use, and as he died in A. D. 79, the melon is probably as old as the cucumber, which is one of the vegetables named in the early Bible history, though some claim that melons were really meant. Carrots were in use before the Christian era. The origin of the pumpkin no one seems to have been able to place, but we read that pumpkin pies were made more than 300 years ago, after this recipe: Cut a hole in the side, take out the seeds and filaments, stuff with a mixture of apples and spices, and then bake till done. A book was written on radishes 1900 years ago. The ancient Greeks offered turnips, beets and radishes in their obligations to Apollo. Pliny tells us that parsnips were brought to Rome from the banks of the Rhine at the command of the Emperor Tiberius for use on his table.

Turkey—When the Spaniards discovered the City of Mexico, the commonest meat was the turkey. When it was first introduced into European farmyards in 1530, the people named it on the theory that it was an Asiatic fowl. The Germans for a while called it Calicut cock; the French still call it dinde or India fowl, and the English call it Turkey fowl, but the Oriental country from which it came, according to the theory of John Fiske, was really Mexico.

BREAKFAST—Until a little over a century ago there were only two meals a day, dinner from 9 in the morning, in the fifteenth century, to noon in the seventeenth century, and supper from 5 in the afternoon to 7 o'clock. Breakfast up to 100 years ago was mainly a draft of ale or tea or chocolate. In the eighteenth century dinner was gradually postponed until 6 o'clock in the afternoon, which made breakfast a necessity, and a little bread and some radishes were added to the morning draft. A hundred years or so ago cold meats began to be served for breakfast, to the great surprise of everybody. Its novelty made it fashionable and led to the giving of breakfast parties, but these breakfasts were seldom served before 11 or 12 o'clock. Breakfast finally became an institution as a necessary thing in the long stretch between supper late at night and dinner the next afternoon. This acceptance of breakfast a little over 100 years ago made England for the first time a three-meals-a-day nation.

Photograph—A German named Schultz obtained the first actual photographic copies of writing in 1727. To Thomas Wedgewood is due the honor of first producing pictures on sensitized surfaces in 1802. In 1839 John Daguerre perfected the daguerreotype process, the first practical photography.

Watches—Timepieces moved by a spiral spring instead of a weight were made as early as the sixteenth century, though the law which governs the mechanical theory of springs was first enunciated by Huygens in the seventeenth century.

Silk—The first silk was made B. C. 2500 by the wife of a Chinese Emperor. Aristotle at 350 first mentions silk among the Greeks. It was not until A. D. 530, however, that silk began to be cultivated in Europe. The first eggs were brought to India by monks.

Drug Stores—Pharmacy and medicine were first made separate professions by the priests in the tenth century. The preparations were sold to the rich and given away to the poor. The first mention of apothecaries in France was in 1484. The father of apothecaries was Constantine Afer of Carthage.

The Oxford Coat

Here is the very newest idea in sweaters. The lines are rather conservative, but the big sailor collar and turn-back cuffs in contrasting color stamp it "good style." Cut Rate Castle Rentals.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—In a lecture at the London Salon of Photography, Alexander Keighley gave instances of the poverty of the Italian nobility. The ducal palace at Gubbio has manure heaps in its courtyard, and is probably rented at $50 a year, while an Italian medieval castle in fair preservation had been sold to an Englishman for $195.

"THE LIVE MODEL CORSET"

The fame of Kabo corsets has grown out of the repeated season's experience that the new things are first found in Kabo corsets; not only new styles, but new ideas that benefit the woman who wears a corset.

We were the first to conceive the excellent idea of fashioning and fitting corsets to the perfect figures of living models. We were first to issue a fashion book so exact and so complete that it served as a guide to gowns and hats as well as to corsets.

We maintain a Parisian connection that insures our having always the first of the new fashion ideas.

REPUBLICAN CITY COMMITTEE HIRES A PRESS AGENT

David B. S. Stannard Will Hereafter Give Out News of the G. O. P.

The press agent will make his appearance in St. Louis city politics Wednesday. The news of the Republican City Committee will be passed out to St. Louis newspapers hereafter by a publicity man.

The press agent will be expected to discover hidden virtues in all the G. O. P. candidates for city office and to see that duplicated copies of his comments upon them are properly in the hands of all city editors several hours before the editions go to press.

The publicity agent of the committee is to be David B. S. Stannard, who is also secretary of the anti-single tax league in St. Louis.

One of the city committeemen explained to a Post-Dispatch reporter Tuesday that the members of the committee were seldom around when the reporters called, and for that reason the G. O. P. had not been getting the desired amount of publicity.

"Our press agent will get all the news and hand it out while it's hot stuff," said the committeeman. "Stannard is a former newspaper man, and we don't know of anybody more capable of making a good press agent than someone who has been in the news gathering business."

NO POOR FARM INMATES IN 29 KANSAS COUNTIES

Total Dependents for State 831, Many Being Mildly Insane or Feeble-Minded.

TOPEKA, Kan., Oct. 15.—The State Board of Control has found that 29 of the 105 counties of Kansas have no inmates on their poor farms. Eleven of the counties have no poor farms and one county has so few dependent poor that it rents out the poor farm and pays pensions to its dependents out of the proceeds.

Out of a population of nearly 1,700,000, Kansas has only 831 persons inmates of poor farms. Wyandotte County, with a population of nearly 125,000, has 14 wards. Shawnee and Reno counties have 41 each and Sedgwick County has 31 and Leavenworth and Crawford counties have 28 each.

Many of these poor-farm inmates are not paupers but are mildly insane, feeble-minded or children. There are 86 insane, 59 feeble-minded and 93 children. The counties which have no destitute charges are mostly in the western part of the State.

ENGLISHMAN ENTERED IN PERFECT HUSBAND RACE

In Addition to Pearson Virtues He Lights Fire Each Morning and Never Boasts of It.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—The assertion of Mrs. Pearson of Cincinnati in the Sunday Post-Dispatch that her husband is the most perfect husband in the world, is contested by Mrs. Frost of St. John's road, Walthamstow, who thinks hers is the best.

She enumerates the virtues of her husband according to the Pearson scale and declares him perfect, admitting, however, that he smokes occasionally.

To offset this trifling demerit, she says that during their six years of married life her husband has been up first every morning. He lights the fire and does the preliminary work toward getting breakfast.

This is not regarded by Mrs. Frost as so wonderful as the fact that her husband has never reminded her of his performing this service.

Presbyterian Ministers Demand Gov. Hadley to Enforce Law.

Copies of a resolution passed by the Presbyterian ministers of St. Louis, urging a fight against the social evil, were mailed to Gov. Hadley and the members of the Police Board of St. Louis Tuesday. The resolution passed at the monthly meeting of the ministers Monday, is as follows:

"It is the sense of the Presbytery that we heartily endorse every honest effort that is being made for stamping out the social evil and that we demand of Gov. Hadley that he enforce the laws of the State."

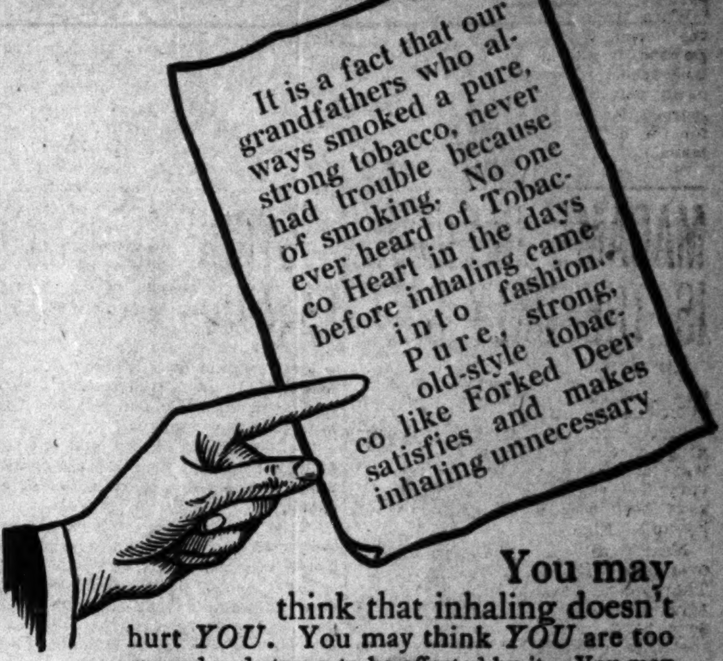
Men! Stop Inhaling!



It is a fact that our grandfathers who always smoked a pure, strong tobacco, never had trouble because of smoking. No one ever heard of Tobacco Heart in the days before inhaling came into fashion. Pure, strong, old-style tobacco like Forked Deer satisfies and makes inhaling unnecessary

You may think that inhaling doesn't hurt YOU. You may think YOU are too rugged and strong to be affected by it. You may think the habit won't get YOU.

But it has "got" thousands who have thought the same—men with magnificent physiques—men who inhaled ever so little at first—men who thought, until TOO LATE, that they could conquer inhaling.

And all because they didn't know the pleasure of a rich, full-strength tobacco that didn't have to be inhaled to be enjoyed—like

Pipe Tobacco

Pleasure Without Peril

Forked Deer is a full-strength tobacco so richly fragrant of pure leaf—so tasteful—that it satisfies without being inhaled.

It is rid of all dirt, dust and stems by our own exclusive process. Nothing in it but the smokable part of the leaf. And it's dopeless. That's why Forked Deer is matchless for men who want a man's smoke. Don't inhale! Try Forked Deer.

HIGH GRADUATES DO NOT KNOW POTATOES

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 15.—Forty-five members of a class of 100 in the Cleveland Normal School were unable to identify a potato vine with the tubers attached when displayed in the classroom, and 81 did not recognize a beet. In the same class, 29 were unable to locate the 10 principal buildings of the city, all within three blocks of the public square. Normal School pupils are graduates of the High School and Women's College, and the diploma for which they are working qualifies them as school teachers.

When these facts were presented to the Normal School faculty by Dr. Jean Dawson, it was agreed that the Cleveland school system must be extraordinarily defective, and the topic was adjourned for one week when a search for the defect, and a remedy will be taken up.

Dr. Dawson's discovery was accidental, due to her request to a pupil who was going to the country to bring back a few plants and vegetables. She was surprised at the few able to identify the common things. Then followed definite experiments with pupils of the sixth, seventh and eighth grades and of the Normal School. The results of these tests dismayed the teachers. Dozens were unable to identify articles that they see each day, or eat almost in natural state, and locate buildings they could not but see on their way to school.

HURT, MOTORS 20 MILES

SANTA FE, N. M., Oct. 15.—With his leg broken near the knee, George H Casner dragged himself nearly 300 yards to his motor car, cranked the car and drove 20 miles to Santa Fe for treatment.

All women get billious, headachy and constipated—simply because they don't exercise enough. They don't eat coarse food, or enough fruit and green vegetables. Those are nature's ways of keeping the liver active; but very few women employ them. The next best way is delightful, fruity Syrup of Figs.

Nearly all ills of women can be overcome with Syrup of Figs alone. There is no need to have sick headache, backache, dizziness, stomach sour and full of gases, billious spells, sallowness, coated tongue, bad breath, bad complexion and nervousness. The surest and safest remedy is one or two teaspoonfuls of delicious Syrup of Figs. Try this tonight—you'll feel splendid in the morning when the bile, clogged up waste and poisonous matter have gently disappeared from your system, without nausea, griping or weakness. Your head will be clear, complexion rosy, breath sweet, stomach regulated; no more constipation, gases, pains and aches.

It is simply a matter of keeping your stomach, liver and bowels clean. Then you will always be well—always look and feel your best.

But get the genuine—the old reliable. Ask your druggist for "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna." Refuse, with contempt, the so-called Fig Syrups sometimes substituted to fool you. The true, genuine, bears the name California Fig Syrup Company; look for this on the label.—ADV.

Since we secured the American rights thousands of men and women from all parts of the world write telling of the phenomenal results obtained by its use. People who have been bald for 30 years now glory in beautiful hair. Others who have had dandruff all their lives have got a clean, healthy scalp after a few applications of this wonderful drug.

We don't care whether you are bothered with falling hair, prematurely gray hair, matted hair, brittle hair or stringy hair; dandruff, itching scalp or any or all forms of hair trouble, we want you to try "CRYSTOLIS" at our risk.

We give you a binding guarantee without any "strings" or red tape that it won't cost you a cent if we do not prove to you that "Crystolis" will do all we claim for it, and what's important, we have plenty of money to back our guarantee. Madame Charles de Gheest of Paris, France, and her son, Henri de Gheest, have taken apartments at the Buckingham Hotel for the winter. Madame de Gheest, who was formerly Miss May Scullin, was here for several months last year with her father, John Scullin, with whom her son came over to spend two years. Mr. Scullin is still at his farm in Helena, N. Y., and will return about Nov. 1. Charles de Gheest will join his wife and son here on his way to and from Mexico, where he has had interests for a number of years.

Mr. and Mrs. Lindell Gordon and their children, Miss Mary Randolph and Master Lindell Jr., have returned to St. Louis after an absence of two years, and are stopping at the Westmoreland. They have been traveling abroad for the past year, and prior to that they had a place at Topping Hill, Lincoln, Mass. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon are going to build a home in Brentmoor and resume their residence in St. Louis.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin S. Puller of 3840 Lindell boulevard have returned from Europe, where they spent the summer.

Mrs. F. V. L. Brokaw and her daughter, Miss Marion Brokaw, have returned from Northfield, Mich., where they have been since the beginning of summer and are at their apartment in the Kingsbury.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Schwartz of 4022 West Belle place announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Rebecca Schwartz, to Robert Hykens. The marriage will be some time in the spring.

Mrs. Josiah Fogg of 3964 Westminster place and her daughter, Miss Mary Fogg, who were in Ocean Grove, N. J., all summer have returned from New York, where they stopped on the way home.

Mrs. James Finney How is expected home from abroad the latter part of next week and will open her home at 5115 Lindell boulevard for the season.

Mrs. Francis D. Hirschberg, who has been stopping with her sister, Mrs. Samuel W. Fordyce Jr., at Hazelwood, since her return from Europe, is visiting her brother, John M. Frost and Mrs. Frost at their country place near Bardstown, Ky. Mrs. Hirschberg will go to California the last of November to spend the winter with her brother, Reginald Frost, and Mrs. Frost at Redlands.

An out-of-town wedding of interest Saturday was that of Miss Mary Conroy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Conroy of Buffalo, N. Y., and Harry C. Brueggeman, which was solemnized in Granite City, Ill., where Mr. and Mrs. Conroy are living temporarily.

The ceremony took place in the morning at 10 o'clock in the pastorate of the Catholic Church, the Rev. Father Murphy officiating, and was followed by a breakfast at the home of the bride.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvina Brueggeman of 120 North Newstead avenue.

Mrs. William Nisbet Matthews of 5505 Cabanne place departed Monday for Chicago for a week's stay. Miss Vera Clark of Minneapolis, Minn., who has been visiting her, has gone to New York to resume her art studies.

Miss Aurelia Simon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Simon, and Charles Edward Monfort, son of Albert H. Monfort of Kansas City, Mo., were married at a nuptial high mass at 8 a. m. Thursday at St. Ann's Church. The bride wore a tulle veil arranged Juliet cap-fashion entwined with valley lilies, and a gown of accordion-pleated chiffon over soft silk and shadow lace, trimmed with Irish lace and rosebuds. She carried a shower of bride's roses and valley lilies. The bride was attended by Miss Edith Hites, Edward L. Simon, brother of the bride, acted as groomsman. Miss Hites wore a gown of pink satin brocade trimmed in Chantilly lace and embroidered bands. She carried a colonial bouquet of Killarney roses. The Rev. Father Galvin officiated; the Rev. Father Franzen assisting.

About 60 guests were present at the breakfast that followed. The out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Monfort of Kansas City, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. Maurage Demerns of Terre Haute, Ind.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto U. Von Schrader, who have been at their place at North Hero, Vt., for several months, will not return to St. Louis this autumn, but will open their country home at Laurel, Md., for the winter. They have given up Mrs. Frances D. Hirschberg's house on Lindell boulevard, which they have had for the last year, and Mrs. Samuel W. Fordyce, Mrs. Hirschberg's sister, will occupy it this winter.

A pretty affair of Saturday was a surprise linen shower given by Mrs. Robert Lee Beall in honor of Miss Abigail Curran, whose marriage to Sol. W. Gross of Normandy will take place Nov. 6. The presents, many and beautiful ones, were hidden in the bride-to-be's chair, which was decorated in long red and white streamers.

Those present were doubly surprised when two tiny messengers, Harriot Symons and Frederick Niemueller, robed in white, presented each guest with an envelope in which the engagement of the hostess' daughter, Lisa Lee, to Dr. Charles Squires Chase, was announced. The groom-to-be, a son of Mrs. E. C. Chase of Hillsboro, Ill., formerly of St. Louis, and the late Dr. E. C. Chase. Those present were.

RUBE'S PLUCKY PITCHING SAVES THE GIANTS AGAIN

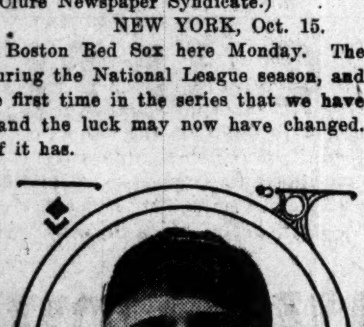
By CHRISTY MATHEWSON.

(Copyright, 1912, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.

IT looked as if we outplayed the Boston Red Sox here Monday. The Giants got going as they went during the National League season, and from now on, look out. It is the first time in the series that we have received the "breaks" in the game, and the luck may now have changed. McGraw is the man who can ride it, if it has.



"CHRISTY" MATHEWSON...

The turning point in the game came in the first inning, when no one was expecting it. O'Brien we knew to be wild, and we hoped to get him on this weakness as soon as his name was announced as the pitcher. McGraw was after him from the third-base coaching line, and Robinson from first, and they are tough talkers.

But the funny part of it all was that when the "break" came, these two old field generals almost let it get away from them. It was so obvious and unexpected.

With one out in the first inning, Doyle beat out an infield hit to Yerkes and stole second on what was to be a hit-and-run play, but Snodgrass missed the ball. He struck out later. Murray hit one that looked as if it were going through to the outfield, but Wagner made a phenomenal stop and held Doyle on third base, Murray being safe also. Merkle and McGraw held a consultation before Fred went to the bat. McGraw had decided to try the double steal and told Merkle to wait for a couple, in the hope that O'Brien would go bad with the men on bases. Merkle took one strike. Then O'Brien made a deliberate balk. He could not have accomplished it better if he were doing it as an illustration of what a balk is for a moving-picture camera. He turned squarely towards first base and raised his arm as if to throw and then did not let go of the ball. He never stepped out of the box. For a minute no one claimed it. It was so obvious that it had missed. Robbie held up his hand and rushed toward the plate, where Klem was umpiring.

"That was a balk," shouted Robbie.

"Balk, balk," yelled Mac.

Klem signaled the base runners to move up a base apiece, but Larry Doyle had been so busy attending to himself at third that he had not seen the play, and did not yet understand that he was to score.

"Come in," yelled McGraw with suitable gesture. Larry did not need a second invitation.

Miscue by Boston Flinger Starts Rally That Gives Giants Victory

THAT balk beat O'Brien. He could not come back. He just caved in, and right there our luck changed, and we got all of the "breaks" afterwards. With two out, we gave O'Brien a harder whaling in that inning than any other pitcher had received in the series. Merkle followed along with a double that brought home Murray, and Herzog got a double. O'Brien was going very bad now. Being a youngster, he had no chance to get a new hold on himself. Meyers singled, Wagner breaking the ball down, and with Herzog on third, the double steal worked because Yerkes made a bad return to the plate on the short throw. Meyers got to third on Yerkes' error, and scored when Fletcher beat out a short infield hit. If Fletcher had not been nipped off first base we might have collected two or three more runs. We had the Red Sox in the air in that inning, and played them entirely off their feet.

It was the balk that did it.

"Didn't know what all the fuss was about," declared Larry Doyle, when somebody asked him why he took so long to score.

Rube Marquard pitched a great game and deserved all the credit that there is to be given. He has shown his class in this series. He started to work with a sore arm and did not have anything for the first three innings. The Red Sox were hitting the ball hard, but several good plays saved runs. In the first three innings Marquard was depending almost entirely on his knowledge of the weaknesses of the Boston batters. His fast one had no pop on it, and the curve would not break.

"I'm afraid that his arm is hurting him," McGraw said once, as he sent Crandall to warm up.

But Rube seemed to get all the stiffness worked out of the wing after the fourth, and he was never better. He was popping his fast ones through there and putting the ball just where he wanted it and the curve was breaking for him.

It was a great exhibition of pitching and only one man got on the bases after the fourth inning, and that was because a ball to Doyle took a bad bound. Rube showed these fellows something about left-handed pitching.

Red Sox, Nervous and Excitable, Make Worst Showing of the Series

THE Boston club looked worse than it has at any other time in the series. Of course a loser always looks bad, but the team seemed to lack the "pep" which it has carried so far, and it did not fight back at all, although that may be attributed to Marquard's fine pitching. I have been told that the men are very nervous and were particularly eager to get the series completed with yesterday's game.

"I came over on the train with the Boston club last night," a newspaper man, who is a friend of mine, told me after the contest, "and the players were very nervous. They are still afraid of the Giants, and they were very anxious to win that game today. If you can once get them on the run, I don't believe that they can take the other game needed."

Well, it looked as if we had them on the run over there, yesterday. If we can continue to get the "breaks" in the luck as they came yesterday, I would not be surprised to see us come through yet.

The Giants showed a great improvement in their fielding and hit the ball better. All the nervousness, which was so evident in the playing of the first few games, appears to have worn off, and the men are playing all over the lot. Snodgrass made one catch in the fourth inning with Stahl on first base that I think was the best of the series. He went back almost to the center field fence for the ball and pulled it down when going at top speed. It saved a lot of trouble, as things developed in that inning.

If the Giants can play the kind of ball that they showed yesterday in the game today they will win sure. Tesreau has been unfortunate in both battles so far. He is likely to win today. Of course, we are up against a hard man in this Joe Wood. He is as cool as ice and a great pitcher; but the chances are that he will not be as good as he was Friday with the strain of the series on his shoulders. His club is not apt to be as strong behind him. All we want now is the "break" in the luck, and we will pull through. It seemed as if the fortune of the team had turned with that balk yesterday. If we win today, I will take a chance on that game on Wednesday, and you just watch the Giants play.

MISS SEMPLE IS LOW MEDALIST IN CITY GOLF EVENT

Her Card of 93 Is Best in Algonquin Qualifying Round.

Miss Grace Semple of St. Louis, who fought her way to the semi-finals in the recent women's national golf championship, played in good form in the qualifying round of the city championship on the Algonquin Club's nine-hole course, Monday. Miss Semple turned in a card of 93 as a result of her double circuit, this being the best medal score of the day. It is eight strokes better than the card with which she qualified in the National tourney.

The first round of the tourney will be played this afternoon. Miss Semple being paired with Mrs. Gregg. Mrs. Peck, Mrs. Edwards and Mrs. Ray turned in other unusually good qualifying cards.

Miss Semple, 93.

SPORT SALAD

BY L. C. DAVIS.

The Last Stand.

The series standing three to one,
  It was a desperate case;
The coming battle must be won
  To keep them in the race.

They put their backs against the wall
  Prepared to do or die,
And to the valiant crew of Stahl,
  They hurled a bold defi.

  We'll tear you into shreds,
And knock your bloody, bloomin' blocks

"We'll let you have another taste
  O good old Ruben's wing;
Don't claim the flag with undue haste—
  Our hat's still in the ring!

  And Matty's arm is lame,
We're going to put you o'er the bumps
  And lick you just the same.

  We never make a squeal;
You'll find a foeman, Capt. Stahl,
  Well worthy of your steel!"

And every word they said was true;
  The Sox were overcome.
The final score was 5 to 2—
  And that was going some.

Barney M'Carty Has Tough Foe In Paddy Hogan

Turk Meets Turk in Feature of Tower Athletic Club's Opening.

McCarty is promoting the club himself as well as acting as principal in the main event. The organization has a gymnasium and hall at 5018 Florissant avenue.

Hogan is a rough and ready scrapper with plenty of experience. McCarty is back from a year's campaign in the "bushes" of Oklahoma and the territory. Their bout is scheduled for eight rounds.

Two Preliminaries Carded.

Appleton, a local lad, is meeting an experienced scrapper in Moffatt. Hess is from Philadelphia, where he is said to own a fair record.

The first bout will be staged at 9 o'clock. Jimmy Burke, formerly manager of the Cardinal, Louisville and Indianapolis baseball clubs, will referee the contests.

SALLEE, BACK IN FOLD, WILL WORK IN TODAY'S GAME

SLIM SAL IS GIVEN HIS PROMISED $1000 BONUS

HARRY SALEE, although absent from the club during the fall series at a time when he was badly needed, will get the $1000 bonus promised him at the start of the year if he stuck to his task and remained faithful to his job through the entire season. Sallee made good and worked through the final Chicago series, which wound up the season.

No mention of the local fall series was made in Sallee's pre-season agreement.

By W. J. O'CONNOR.

Stovall's men forgot all the baseball they ever knew and put up as weird an exhibition of the national pastime as any team ever did on a major League diamond.

When hostilities ceased the American League entry was buried under an avalanche of 10 runs to 4, giving the proteges of Roger Bresnahan an advantage of three games won and one lost in the inter-League battling for the city championship.

A double-header will be staged at Sportsman's Park, this afternoon. In a last desperate attempt to even up the series Stovall promises to use George Baumgardner on the hurling hillock for the first section of the double bill and come back with Weilenmann for the second half of the bargain matinee. A two-ply victory in Tuesday's frolic will give the Browns an even break, 3—3, in the series, and make the title hinge on the outcome of Wednesday's final frolic at Robison Field.

Sallee Back In Line.

In the first game Bresnahan probably will use Harry Sallee, the recalcitrant southpaw, who deserted the team after the close of the regular National League season in Chicago, Oct. 8, only to rejoin the ranks Monday, and Bob Harmon, the usually reliable right-hander, in the second. If the seventh game is necessary to settle the city championship, either Sanford Burk or Bill Steele will work for the National League nine.

The less said about Monday's game, the better. John Powell essayed to fling for the Browns, but after five singles and a base on balls, netting five runs, had been garnered off Powell's delivery, he was withdrawn in favor of Mitchell, who fared little better. Mitchell gave way to Napier in the fifth, and he, too, was hit hard.

Geyer Succeeds Burk.

Burk started for the Cardinals, but Sanford was wild and Bresnahan recalled him in the second. Geyer then went to the mound and Jakie had little trouble pacifying the Browns in the remaining rounds.

Four errors were charged against the American Leaguers, but only the leniency of the scorer saved Stovall's men from twice that number. Gus Williams returned to right field in place of Hogan and Gus kicked in with a boot, following the example of Brief and Shotton, who each made a miscue. The other error was charged against Pratt's record, Derrill booting Magee's roller in the sixth stanza.

Incidentally, Pratt was guilty of a most egregious error in the third. Derrill forgot that Koney had been retired at the plate, and with Evans on third and Hauser on first, Derrill took Oakes' grounder and squared off for a throw to the plate. He detected his mistake after it was too late and then went after an obvious double play, but his throw to Wallace was late, although it did force Hauser, and the double killing was ruined, Evans scoring. Stovall "called" Pratt for his thoughtfulness.

The only other play of consequence was Umpire Finneran's ruling in the third when he called Koney out at the plate. The "Big Train" was safe by several feet, but inasmuch as the Cardinals won, Finneran's adverse decision didn't count for much.

Gibson Joins Tiger Coaches.

COLUMBIA, Mo., Oct. 15.—The Tiger coaching staff was augmented today by "Doc" Gibson, former Harvard scrub, who assisted Roper and Hollenbeck here. This is considered as a good omen to the Tiger squad by the rooters, who are expecting Missouri to break the Ames hoodoo Saturday.

Missouri is short on quarterbacks, as Lake is out with a strained ankle and McWilliams cannot get in shape by the time of the game. Turley will have to be relied upon.

Snodgrass Saves Game O'Brien Handed Giants

Wonderful Catch of New York Outfielder, at a Time When Marquard Had Not Settled Down, Put New Life Into Scrapping Gothamites.

By HUGH JENNINGS.

Manager of the Detroit Tigers and Winner of Three American League Pennants.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.

RUBE MARQUARD now equals Joe Wood's record for winning games in the world's series, each having landed two. Rube got on "easy street" in the first inning of yesterday's game between the Giants and the Red Sox. The result was that, aided by great support, he maintained his lead to the end and landed the Giants in front by 5 runs to 2.

It took Marquard some time to get started. During the first four innings his curves were working very badly and he didn't have his usual speed. His fast ball didn't have the jump that Rube puts on it when he is going right. He was in danger every inning. But the Giants were out for that game and, as John McGraw said they would, they fought like men who had the nerve to keep the big end of the gate receipts from getting away from them forever.

The support they gave the Rube when the going was rough for him was simply great. Nothing that was anywhere in reach got away.

The climax came in the fourth inning, when the Sox were fighting tooth and nail to pull down the three-run lead the Giants had. To Snodgrass belongs the credit of probably saving the game. Stahl rolled a close one in Charley Herzog's direction and beat the throw to first. Heinie Wagner then gave the ball a terrible jolt. It sailed far over Snodgrass' head, labeled for the center field stand, and seemed a triple for Heine. But Snodgrass sprinted under the sphere almost to the fence, and made the most sensational and most timely catch of the entire series. Timely because, if the ball had got away, Stahl would have scored and Wagner would have reached third, with nobody out. Cady followed with a single on which Heinie would have scored had he been on third. The infield then came to Rube's rescue. Cady was forced at second, and Doyle's relay doubled up Collins.

Big Lead Helped Rube.

After that the Rube got working right. He might have not done so well with a one-run lead instead of three.

When the head of the Red Sox batting order came up in the fifth inning the fans didn't seem to feel very secure, even with the substantial lead. The Sox had been hitting Rube freely, and it looked as if they might continue to do so. But Rube retired the side on three fly balls to the outfield. His fast ball then had the jump to it. It looked easy to Hooper, Yerkes and Speaker, the two latter taking a crack at the first ball pitched to them.

The next inning was a joke, so far as the efforts of the Red Sox were concerned. Lewis, with one strike on him fouled to Meyers. Gardner was called out on three pitched balls. Two strikes were called on Stahl, and he struck wildly at a low fast one for his third strike.

No New York rooter was in doubt of the result of the game after that exhibition of pitching. The Sox got one more hit, a scratch over second that Larry Doyle knocked down but couldn't field in time.

"Make them pop up," is a saying among the players. Rube followed these instructions in great style. No fewer than 18 Red Sox hit the ball in the air and died. Only two of these flies were difficult, and they Snodgrass' great catch in the fourth and a fine catch by Jack Murray with his back to the right field fence, with Yerkes on the base. The Sox made eight hits off Rube's delivery, of which seven were made in the last four innings.

Manager Stahl changed his mind when his pitchers warmed up before the game and sent Buck O'Brien to the slab instead of Ray Collins. O'Brien had made an 11-inning draw of it in the second game of the series against Mathewson. But the young pitcher was knocked out of the box in the first inning yesterday.

Where the Balk Came In.

It is more than likely that the fact that he made a balk, after two of the Giants had been retired, was responsible for what happened to him. Up to that time the Giants had not hit him hard.

After Devore had been thrown out by Gardner, Doyle hit a slow roller to Yerkes and beat the throw to first by a narrow margin. Snodgrass was an easy victim for O'Brien. He fouled off three balls and then swung wildly at a spitter on the outside. While Snodgrass was at bat, Doyle tried twice for second and went back each time after a foul. On his third attempt he got the bag safely. Jack Murray followed and with three balls and two strikes on him, tapped a gentle one to Wagner. The Flying Dutchman worked fast, but Murray was a trifle faster and beat the throw, Doyle going to third.

Right here was the turning point of the game. O'Brien made a motion to throw to first to catch Murray, but failed to throw the ball. Then followed the finest exhibition of continuous hitting that we have seen in the series. O'Brien held Merkle down while he pitched two strikes on him. Next Merkle caught a spitter on the outside and hit against the right-field wall for two bases, scoring Murray. Herzog hit the first ball pitched down the left-field line for two bases, scoring Merkle. Chief Meyers hit to deep short. Wagner made a fine one-hand stop, holding Herzog on third, while Meyers made first.

Two unexpected plays by the Red Sox were then pulled off. Meyers, who shows fine judgment on the bases, even if he does lack speed, started for second. On Cady's throw to Yerkes, Herzog dashed for the plate. Yerkes made a very bad throw home and Charley slid in unmolested. The ball rolled to the grandstand and Meyers went to third.

Fletcher Helps Out O'Brien.

Meyers and Fletcher then gave the Red Sox their second surprise. Fletcher bunted along the third-base line, and before Gardner and O'Brien recovered from their surprise, the chief had scored and Fletcher was perched at first. O'Brien then pulled himself out of the deep hole he was in, assisted by Fletcher, who let himself be caught off first base.

The Red Sox then got on to Rube and made their two runs. Marquard had an awful time trying to take Gardner's bunt hit to the infield. By this time Rube succeeded in standing on the ball, Gardner had reached first. Stahl then hit a high fast one to center for a base. Wagner next stood at the plate while Umpire Klem called him out on strikes. It looked like curtains for the Sox when slugger Cady put up a foul fly to Meyers.

Manager Stahl here gave his useful utility man, Clyde Engle, a chance to show his worth. The ex-Highlander took quick advantage of his chance and drove the second ball Rube put up on a line to left field. The ball hit the fence and Devore failed to play it right on the rebound. Gardner scored and Stahl got home from first on Devore's fumble. Engle landed on second and stayed there when Hooper, with two called strikes on him, fouled to Meyers. In the next inning Ray Collins took O'Brien's place in the box and the Giants failed to score any runs on the young southpaw. They might have put two or three over if it were not for some reckless work on the bases and a well-founded dread of Tris Speaker's throwing ability.

RAY BRONSON TO MEET FERNS IN COLISEUM BOUT

Welterweight Title Claimants Will Both Make the Legal Limit.

Ray Bronson, the gentlemanly welterweight title claimant of Indianapolis, and Clarence "Wildcat" Ferns, who knocked out Art Magirl here in jig time, a few nights ago, have been matched by the management of the St. Louis Athletic Club for a battle late this month.

The contest is the nearest to being a championship affair that could be staged in the limited duration of the contest. Ferns and Bronson are probably the only two welters of class in the country able to make the true welterweight maximum of 142 pounds and be strong.

The club has not yet announced its complete card, but expects to stage three other contests.

Johnson Not Yet Signed.

Jack Johnson has not yet signed up for his fights with Langford and McVey, although there is no hitch over the terms. The documents have not been properly drawn up, according to the champion. Jack is not going to let that $50,000 get away from him if he can help it.

Mandot Trims Sherman.

Joe Mandot toyed with Joe Sherman in an eight-round bout at Memphis, Monday night. Mandot tried for a knockout in the later rounds, but could not rout his opponent out. Sherman recently fought a draw with Harry Trendall.

Charley Peterson won from Frank Peterson, 50—42, in the three-cushion tryout tournament at Petersen's. In the Class B three-cushion tournament, Welf defeated Morrell, 30—18.

C. B. C. Cancels National U. Game.

The football game between C. B. C. and the National U. eleven, scheduled for Saturday, has been called off. Instead of the original booking, Brother Lawrence intends to bring either Central College here or journey to Kansas City for a game with the Kaw City Medics. The National U. team's defeat at the hands of Western Military Academy Saturday caused the cancellation of the game with C. B. C. The collegians believed that the National team was not a worthy foe.

WELLS HAS HIGH IDEA OF HIS OWN FIGHTING VALUE

$5000 IS THE MINIMUM

British Boxer Also Demands $10,000 to Enter Ring With Carpentier.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—Bombadier Wells, champion heavyweight pugilist of England and aspirant to the crown worn by Jack Johnson, sits with his bride on the shore of Leigh-on-Sea, gazing patiently towards America. According to Jim Maloney, his manager, Wells is waiting confidently for the fight promoters of the United States to arrive with offers of record breaking purses to induce the English champion to re-enter the ring. To put it in Maloney's words: "America must come to us on bended knee. We are in the saddle. I have the best managers in the United States just where I want them, and they are bidding furiously against one another. Wells gets $5000 for his end before he enters the ring or he will never fight again."

Sports Laugh at Talk.

The sporting men in this country who knew Maloney and Wells three years ago, when the latter's record was even better than it is today, laugh at the couple and declare they will starve before they get a match on this side of the water. When Wells was fighting for McIntosh, he drew just $900 a fight and Bettison and the committee at the National Sporting Club refused to have him even at that figure.

Later they changed their minds and put him on with Storbeck, the South African, but he made such a poor showing Bettison now says he wouldn't have him at any figure.

Wells recently was matched to fight P. O. Curran, who would really give him a dangerous fight. He could take all Wells' punishment and keep after him. The promoter offered Wells $3500 as his end of the purse and Maloney accepted on the champion's behalf. When it came to signing articles, however, Wells did not like the opponent who had been selected for him and backed out of the match.

Carpentier Would Fight.

The same promoter offered Wells $5000 for a match with Carpentier, the French middleweight. Carpentier would be giving away something like 22 pounds, yet is eager to get into a ring with Wells. The latter professes to regard such a fight as "easy money," still when it came to a showdown, Maloney demanded $10,000 for the Bombadier's end of the purse.

Carpentier is really a Jack the Giant Killer. When he was a welterweight—that is, prior to his defeat of Young Josephs, the English welterweight champion, in London—Carpentier engaged in a number of exhibition bouts with Wells, who was training for his proposed match with Johnson. Although Wells was being touted as a world beater, Carpentier offered to fight him for the largest purse offered and a side bet of $5000. Wells seemed willing enough to take on the Frenchman, but when it came to signing articles insisted on $10,000 for his end of the purse, which was equivalent to a refusal to fight.

Talk of Match in France.

Now Wells and Carpentier are declared to be matched for a fight in France. As a matter of fact, the report is inspired and no match has been arranged yet. Wells really has an offer for such a fight from an English promoter, but it does not quite measure up to his estimate of his value and he hopes to manufacture a lively competition for his services on this side of the Atlantic.

RED SOX WIN TOSS AND PLAY AT HOME; SKIES CLEAR TODAY

BOSTON, Oct. 15.—Boston won a distinct advantage here yesterday, although losing the game to the Giants. While 30,000 fans were leaving the Polo Grounds Managers McGraw and Stahl tossed for the right to name the location of the deciding game, should one be needed. Boston won, and the Red Sox will play all remaining contests at their home park.

The skies were bright and clear early this morning and there was every prospect that the seventh actual and sixth technical game of the series would be played.

WRAY'S COLUMN

A LITTLE BOOMERANG.

THE boomerang is a treacherous little novelty. You launch it easily on a flight; but sometimes, when your back is turned, it wheels around, flies right back and beans you.

Baseball has its boomerangs. One of them is the habit baseball park owners have of countenancing over estimates of attendance.

For example, there was that crowd of Sunday.

The park management insists that its stands will seat over 25,000 persons. That being the case, judging by the overflow on the field, the scribes were justified in estimating the attendance at the Sabbath day battle here at not less than 18,000, and probably 20,000.

The management did not disturb this impression, and right there is where the boomerang came in. For the players, especially the Cardinal players, are raising a roar over the fact that they were paid off on a basis of 13,700 paid admissions, instead of 18,000 or 20,000, as the crowd had been estimated.

The park owners would do a real favor by giving out the turnstile report of attendance. There can be no real reason to keep the figures secret, unless it be to prevent the curious from learning just how quick-rich a game the baseball business is.

* * *

McALEER'S FIRST CHANCE.

JIMMY McALEER would gladly part with an eye rather than lose this world's series. James has seen every other glory the game holds as player and owners except flying the title flag. Not even in the days of the great Cleveland Spiders, of which he was a stellar member, was his name connected with a world's championship. The best his club earned then was the Temple Cup.

* * *

FROM PLAYER TO MAGNATE.

McALEER'S progress has been phenomenal, considering the little he appears to have done for the game. He was a failure at Cleveland and did only passably well here. He was unable to lift Washington. Yet every change he has made has been for his financial betterment, and the support of Ban Johnson has always been behind him. On one occasion, at a banquet, Johnson told all assembled there that he considered McAleer the greatest manager in baseball.

Where Ban gets it from is hard to say. But that he believed it is shown from the helping hand he has ever extended to James throughout the latter's baseball career.

And they do say that Ban B. Johnson came to the front financially to help McRoy and McAleer clinch 51 per cent of John I. Taylor's stock.

KILL THE FORWARD PASS.

FOOTBALL rules come and go. One that could well go and remain away is the forward pass, which this year has a vogue that is almost nauseating to the spectator, considering its inefficiency. It's a chance play of the extreme type. It is not effective on the average of one time in eight or ten, and when it does net a gain it's success is due more to a lucky break than to calculation and skill. It involves the loss of the ball and spoils much previous hard work, when risked and lost.

Its sole excuse for existence is to prevent the massing of defense, and it has served its purpose but little. Today teams play two men watching the forward pass, a safety man and the rest devoted to preventing line gains. Owing to the absence of the push-and-pull this is now feasible, while it has been found that two men can guard against the forward pass most of the time. Thus the defensive team is prepared in every case and does not have to open its line.

The play wastes time, makes the game haphazard and is not in line with the spirit of college football, the basis of which is carrying the ball. Until the forward pass is eliminated college football will never return to old ideals.

OLYMPIC WONDER, KOLEHMAINEN IS OUT FOR RECORDS

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—George Bonhag won't race outdoors again. He will continue his efforts to another year's indoor racing. Gentleman George will live to see several of his records go by the boards at the hands of one of the greatest living distancers the world has ever known.

Hannes Kolehmainen, the demon Finn, who cleaned up at the Stockholm Olympic games, hopes to establish new marks in a majority of distances in the 10 miles he is scheduled to run at the championship meet at the New York Stadium motordrome track on Saturday, Oct. 26.

While in the act of erasing the American marks, Hannes avers he also will try his hardest to tumble down two or three world's records held by Alfred Shrubb.

In preparation for a grueling race the best distancers hereabouts have entered, in hopes of making the plucky foreigner taste a dose of his own medicine. Kolehmainen has begun active training under the espionage of his brother William. His stunts consist of two miles of hard plugging on the Celtic Park course, followed by the hardest kind of rubbing dished out by experienced handlers.

Kolehmainen, running under wraps, gave an inkling of his unprecedented speed when he came within one-fifth of a second of smashing Bon-

What He Has Done.

The argument will be advanced that he can't finish 10 miles in record breaking time. These same critics forget that he ran 13 miles against the world's best with only a day's rest. His 10,000 meters (six miles and 376 years) victory was as decisive as could be expected.

There are many who believe he will traverse the 10 miles under 51 minutes. "Sparrow" Robertson, who in his day was one of America's best distancers, having held a title of 10 miles several years in succession, is of the opinion the Finn may even do better than this.

The opponents of Kolehmainen will consist of a dozen or more seasoned stars. Kramer's injury is patching slowly, and there is a chance he may start. The others that probably will lineup against the Finn include Louis Scott of the South Paterson A. C., Harry Smith, Bronx Churchhouse; Maguire of the Boston A. A., and Jim McNamara, the gritty Winged Festite. Scott won the race last year in the smashing good time of 53:29 1-5.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 14, 1912.

The members of the St. Louis Clearing House Association desire to express their great sorrow at the death of their honored president, Mr. William P. Kennett, on Oct. [illegible], 1912, and to record their appreciation of his worth to the community as a citizen and banker.

Born in St. Louis in 1850, his entire life has been spent in our midst, and the many positions of trust and responsibility that he has so ably filled bear testimony to the confidence and esteem of those with whom he was associated.

He was elected vice-president of this association in January, 1910, and became president in January, 1912, and his education and legal training, together with his experience in financial matters, well fitted him to perform the duties impartially and to the satisfaction of all its members.

Joining, therefore, with the members of his family in their grief, we tender to them our heartfelt sympathy and the assurance of the high esteem in which his memory shall always be held.

W. H. LEE, Vice-President.
W. W. HOXTON, Secretary. (c)

Homeseekers! Builders!

Issue First Forest Lawn Permit.

A permit for the first building to be erected in the new subdivision recently placed on the market by the Mercantile Trust Company for the Boulevard and Park Land Company at the southeast corner of Forest Park, under the name Forest Lawn, was issued yesterday. The permit was to Blanch I. Graham and provides for two two-story brick residences to cost $6000.

This gives you an idea of the quality of FOREST LAWN. Just think of it, beautiful home sites on the fringe of one of the world's greatest parks—every advantage of city and country and only 25 minutes from most any part of the city.

LAWN AV. LOTS

Each 30x130, on Lawn av. (one block west of King's highway and extending from Forest Park south to Berthold av.) at lower prices than any lot can be bought in Gibson Heights or anywhere in the neighborhood.

Street, sidewalk, gutter and sewer made; water and gas in street. The very choicest lots in central St. Louis for a residence, "bungalow" or flat. We recommend these lots to our clients as the best real value for the money to be found in St. Louis. See agent on ground daily during afternoons and all day Sunday, or call at office.

THE POST-DISPATCH DAILY RECORD OF MARKETS AND FINANCE

Mexican President Surprises Friends in Attack on Press and Democracy.

MANY DESERTING OROZCO

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 12.—President Madero sees in himself the making of a "dictator with a sword," according to the belief of Congressmen and politicians who attended a banquet a few nights ago at which the President was one of the chief speakers.

At the time the President delivered the warning there was much speculation as to whom he referred. But a few days later, when Madero invoked the law of suspension of constitutional guarantees, all saw a light. Madero was viewing himself as the "Iron Man" of the future. The pertinent paragraph of his address was:

"Long ago, when I first began my work, I decided that the will of the people was the will of God. This will must be respected, and I consider it my duty to see that it is. The present government has fulfilled its promises, and if the government freely elected by the people cannot sustain itself it will be proof that the Mexican people are incapable of democracy. It would then be necessary to call a dictator who will govern by the sword."

For Madero to view himself in this light is a surprise for those who thought they knew him best. He has always posed as an apostle of democracy. Also it was with surprise that the banqueters heard the President assail the press, an institution for the untrammeled liberty of which he fought.

"The portion of the press which has survived," said the President, "is in its majority a relic of the old regime. It tries to alarm and to deceive the people, but it tried to do so for 30 years and still the people revolted, and they will refuse to believe it now."

Factional Strife Changes Him.

It is believed that Madero's new attitude is due to the division in Congress. It was understood after the election that he Progressives, of which Madero is ead, had complete control of the lawaking body. Since the convocation, owever, the Progressive strength has en split into many factions and the aders intimate that they will join nds only on such presidential meass as suit them. Their attitude is t they would rather dictate to the sident than be dictated to.

adero has always opposed dictation, m strongly when it was directed at hi than at any other time. Congress m be in for a "sword" play.

STOCKS REFLECT STRENGTH IN THE EASTERN MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.

The stock market closed quiet. There was buying in Amalgamated and other Copper stocks and prices on the leading shares worked up about 1 point. Final figures showed irregular changes.

Stocks showed irregular changes, but mostly gains, at the opening of the Wall street market today, the better feeling in foreign political circles making for higher prices.

The shooting of ex-President Roosevelt, however, made for selling in some conservative quarters, as it was freely admitted on the exchange floor that the incident would mean several hundred thousand votes for the Bull Mooser.

Grain cables reflected the improved sentiment in foreign markets, by a sharp decline of ⅝d to 1d a bushel in wheat and 1d in corn. The London stock market, however, reflected irregularity, with most issues slightly lower.

Aside from the war news and the Roosevelt incident there was nothing of bearish importance to influence prices. The weather map is ideal for the gathering of corn and shipment of wheat, and trade reports are all favorable. Money continues firm in all important markets.

DETAILED REPORTS OF DAY'S WALL STREET TRANSACTIONS

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Stocks were almost buoyant in the early trading of today's market although trading was less active than yesterday. All the standard railways shares were prominent while Canadian Pacific made further progress towards recovery from its recent severe decline. Steel was less strong than numerous other industrials, while coppers reflected the better tone of the metal stocks in London.

High-priced railers like Lackawanna and New Jersey Central were conspicuous for gains of 20 and 10 points, respectively, while American Tobacco was the strongest specialty, rising over 5 points.

Higher prices were established after the opening, with the demand for the coalers and coppers unusually brisk. Steel and Reading crossed 78 and 178 respectively.

COTTON FUTURES QUIET, WITH A LOWER DRIFT

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The cotton market opened steady at an advance of 1 point to a decline of 4 points, owing to somewhat disappointing cables. Right after the call the market firmed up to a net advance of about 4 points on covering, foreign buying and a little support from trade sources.

The South was a seller on this advance, however, and the market soon turned easier again under renewed local pressure, liquidation and selling by one of the leading spot firms, with prices during the middle of the morning barely steady and from 4 to 6 points net lower.

Selling became more aggressive following reports from the South that exporters had practically withdrawn from the spot market, and prices here broke into new low ground for the season, or to a net loss of 11 or 12 points.

Some of the large spot houses were heavy sellers on this break, supposedly for Southern account, but the decline was checked by covering and the market was comparatively quiet around midday, with prices a point up or two up from the lowest. The late market was quiet.

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 15.—Good business done in spot cotton; prices steady. American middling fair, 6.57d; good middling, 6.35d; middling, 6.15d; low middling, 5.95d; good ordinary, 5.43d; ordinary, 4.95d. Sales, 12,000 bales.

HORSES AND MULES—The horse market today was on a fairly active appearance, with all classes going at prices which were about steady with yesterday. Fresh receipts were fairly generous. Eastern classes found the stronger demand early in the day. The mule trade continued on a slow and rather inactive basis, with all classes going at prices which were about steady with last week or yesterday. Fat cotton mules were the best sellers.

SHAFT BREAKS, RUNAWAY

While Herman Santo, an employe of the melting plant, was driving with Miss Lena Scheurer Sunday night, a buggy shaft broke and hit the horse, causing it to run away. The occupants of the buggy were thrown out. The young woman was taken to the office of Dr. Schroeppel where it was found that she was only slightly bruised. Santo's right was crushed when a buggy wheel over it.

GREEK'S VOCAL CHORDS CUT OFF IN KNIFE DUEL

Hugo Milan and Steve Pappas, laborers, fought with knives in a boarding house in East End place Saturday night. Pappas received a cut in the neck which severed an artery and cut off his chords of speech, while Milan suffered a slight cut on the little finger. Milan was arrested and Pappas was sent to the hospital.

Lower markets in Liverpool and on the Continent, based on more optimistic reports on the Balkan war, took the bull edge completely off the wheat market Tuesday. Prices dropped nearly 1 cent a bushel on the opening trades, and after hesitating scored further losses. Sentiment was decidedly bearish among the pit traders and professionals.

In corn the selling also carried more weight than the buying and prices lost a sharp fraction. Ideal weather for the gathering of the late crop, slack cash demands and sharply lower cables were factors back of the decline. Oats were easy along with other grains.

The disappointing American and Winnipeg closing yesterday, together with comparative firmness in Wall street, caused some easiness in Liverpool's wheat market and prices opened ¼d to ⅜d lower. European crop prospects are more favorable and the visible showed an increase. Following the opening there was some covering by shorts and prices advanced ⅜d on the hostilities in Turkey and Servia. Later the advance was lost, with the undertone heavy, with speculative selling on the larger and cheaper Australian and Canadian offers. Russia and India are both offering freely and spot markets were generally a penny lower. It is firmly believed that the Dardanelles will not be closed.

Liverpool corn opened ½d lower and later October further declined ½d with the decline in Buenos Ayres from the opening and the weakness in America. The distant month was firmly supported on firmer Plate offers, together with unfavorable European crop advices.

Liverpool wheat futures closed ¾d to 1⅛d lower, corn ⅜d to 1¼d lower. Paris wheat 2c to 4¼c lower, flour 3¼c to 3⅜c lower, Antwerp ⅝c lower.

Northwestern wheat receipts were heavy. Minneapolis had 468 cars, against 397 last week and 320 last year; Duluth, 702, against 563 and 508; Winnipeg, 1101, against 1115 and 674. Minneapolis wheat stocks increased 450,000 bu for three days.

Bradstreet's detailed figures showed: Wheat, United States and east of Rockies, increase 2,076,000 bu; United States and west of Rockies, decrease 470,000; Canada, increase 6,766,000; United States and Canada, increase 8,372,000; afloat and in Europe, increased 200,000; total increase 8,572,000. Corn increased 595,000. Oats decreased 929,000.

Total clearances of wheat, 827,000; flour, 45,000; corn, 40,000; oats, 483,000; wheat and flour, 1,130,000.

Local wheat receipts were 103,339 bu, or 62 sacks, 66 cars local, 26 through; last year, 27,500 bu, or 25 cars local. Corn receipts, 15,160 bu, or 304 sacks, 8 cars local, 4 through; last year, 52,800 bu, or 37 cars local, 7 through. Oats receipts, 64,600 bu, or 18 cars local, 20 through; last year 44,200 bu, or 24 cars local, 2 through.

The European wheat visible increased 180,000 bu, against 5,020,000 bu last week and 1,328,000 bu last year. The total now is 78,168,000 bu, against 77,988,000 bu last year.

Minneapolis wired: Cash demand is a little slow. Mills are picking up the wheat. No. 1 Northern 1c to 1½c over December. Velvet chaff 1c under December. Domestic flour trade moderate, but export flour sales have been of good volume."

Chicago wheat stocks decreased 284,000 bu for the week to a total of 5,396,000 bu; corn increased 268,000 bu to 1,373,000 bu. Oats decreased 10,000 bu to 2,039,000 bu. Contract wheat stocks decreased 141,000 bu to 1,888,000 bu.

Buying Orders Check a Decline in London Market.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—The stock market opened weak today. Supporting orders strengthened prices during the first hour and most of the opening losses were recovered. American securities started easy, with prices from ¼ to ¾ lower. Later Wall street support and renewed Berlin buying sent prices higher and caused a firm closing.

Swat Straightened Out and Helped the Giants to Win One

He is proud and happy, looking forward to a wonderful day at Boston, where he is preparing a new batch of tricks.

By SWAT MILLIGAN,
the Peerless Hitter of the Poison Oakr.

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 15.

EVERYTHING looks mighty rosy this mornin' and me and Mac set down and eat a big breakfast. It took us a long time to git the right dope but when we finally made up our minds to fire all them secret service men that has been crossin' us and get a regular one from the Willow Swamp League, we knowed we had things right.

Before going into that, though, I want to apologize to them people of New London, Conn., for not appearin' last night when they called for a speech at the train. I was so busy writin' my pieces that I didn't know nothin' bout it till Joe O'Brien come in after me and Matty. I sent out one of my secret service men and he took the bows. Them boys as New London, I want to say is the best and gamest rooters that ever I seen. I'm fur 'em.

Gittin' back to my subject me and Mack straightened things out by firing Secret Agents Doc Finley, Sparrow, Finn, Flynn, Fleischman, Doc Leiser, Frost, O'Reilly and Kinsella. It's jes' simply impossible to teach them fellows Willow Swamp tricks in a minute. When it come down to the pinch I sent out to the Swamp League and got a sleuth by the name of Hiram Heav, who used to pitch on a team known as the Dice Inspectors.

He is some sleuth and when I put him on the job yestiddy things hummed. The secret of the victory over the Red Sox was a very simple contraption, for the Willow Swamp League but may be new to folks around this diggins. There ain't but one way to beat a spitball pitcher and that is by using the galvanic curve destroyer and the Bobbletown balk producer. Simplest things in the world to work if you can get hold of a man that won't lose his nerve in the pinches.

Knowin' that somethin' important had to be done right at the start me and Mac laid our plans to git Buck O'Brien on the balk producer in the very first innin'. The idea was to git his nerve and make him spill the beans later on.

The balk producer is made especially for a spitball pitcher and can't be worked on no others. I 'spose you [illegible] enough 'bout electricity to [illegible] water is a sure shot [illegible] pekuliar stuff.

SWAT MILLIGAN.

work on spitballers. Durin' the night me and Mac and Hiram Heav went out to the Polo Grounds and put a little copper plate in the ground bout four feet to the right of the pitcher's box and in a line with first base.

The idea was to make a pitcher step on this copper plate when he throwed to first to ketch a runner. Jes back of the rubber we had a zinc plate laid in the dirt and painted so as you couldn't know it was there. We then had a secret wire attached by a patent process so that at a certain time, Hiram could pull the string and start the whole shebang goin'.

The balk producer works on the plate that is laid in the direction of first base and we laid our plans so we could get that started first. The idea is to have a pitcher start to throw to first and then make him stop sudden like. That is a balk and gives the runners a extra base. Git the idea?

Yestiddy when Doyle was on third and Murray on first, Buck O'Brien started makin' throws to first to ketch Jack off. Then I give Hiram Heav, who was hid in the little cubby hole back of the Giants' bench the office to pull the string. It was the most remarkable thing you ever seen. Buck O'Brien in steppin' to first put his big feet kerslap down on that copper plate. His back foot was on the zinc. He had wet the ball and [illegible] the air from behind and tried to draw that wet baseball right over his shoulder. A bolt of somethin' or other struck him in the arm as the kick of 10 killowats and the muscles in his arm contracted so that the ball was drawed right back to his shoulder and held there till Hiram Heav turned off the current. He hollowed and yelled but it did no good. It was too late for Buck to throw to first and he was guilty of a balk. It was what we know was a 10-killowat balk and in the Willow Swamp League counts for two bases, but under the rules he had to be satisfied with jes one, that was enough to start things goin' and then me and Mac was busy.

In another minute we had started the galvanic curve destroyer and it was all off with Buck O'Brien. In front of the pitcher's box we had another one of the copper plates and the minute he would wet that ball it would start so full lectricity that me and Mac could see little flashes of lightnin'. The rest was easy.

All we needed was our patent bat with lodestone center and that electricity-charged ball curved right in and decoyed to the bat so that it could be knocked a mile. Hiram Heav worked the switch perfectly and when all the boys had smacked the ball until they got five runs, they had put the spitballer out of business. When Ray Collins come in, of course the galvanic curve destroyer was off, because he is a straight pitcher and don't wet the ball.

The cutest thing of the day, though, was how me and Mac worked the old magnetograph on them Red Sox batters while Marquard was in the box. If you will remember, we tried this the other day, but Dicl. Kinsella pulled the wrong string and made Cap'n Lary Doyle do a three-leaguer. A popupograph is worked by layin' a patent contraption under the batter's box and stringin' a certain kind of wire to the secret cubby hole, where the levers is marked. Before the game we always send Dick Hennessy, the bat boy, over to the Boston bench so that he can sprinkle a fine powder on their bats and sensitize them. The idea is that when they come up with these bats all we has to do is to pull the lever. The magnetograph exerts an influence on the sensitized bat by pullin' it down two inches every time the hitter swings. This makes him hit the ball low and pop flies to the infield or the outfield. By usin' the magnetograph at the right time yestiddy we made them Boston batters pop up 19 fly balls.

With Hiram Heav to help, I guess me and Mac is bad, eh? We has got somethin' framed for today and we is makin' our last stand. We has got Hiram Heav on the job. Just keep your ear to the ground and listen.

At the Bank.

Teller: You should have said so before. It's too late now.

Temperate.

"I DON'T care for beer except on a very hot day."

The Summer Camp.

COL. GILFORD HURRY, Commissary of the National Guard of New York, was condemning an officer who, on an annual encampment, had fussed too much over his men.

"A famous editor," he says, "watched this officer one night during the last encampment as he showed the boys how to fold their clothes, how to spread their bedding, how to wrap themselves in their blankets, how to drape their mosquito netting, and so forth, and finally, when the officer took leave, called after him:

" 'What have I forgotten?'

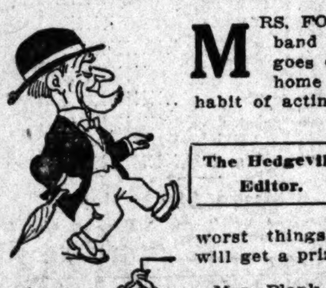
Increase in Value.

THEY had a cow that was practically worthless. It was going blind and hadn't given a drop of milk in years. So Ikey decided to take it to the auction and get rid of it at any price.

"How much am I bid for this thoroughbred, prize Jersey cow?" thundered the auctioneer. "She's solid and hearty, gives two quarts of rich, creamy milk a day, has a calf every year, she's gentle"——

"Vait, vait!" interrupted Ikey. "I didn't know vat a fine cow dat vas. I've changed my mind. I von't sell her now."—Mack's National Monthly.

HERE, THERE AND EVERYWHERE. BY EVERYBODY.



MRS. FORK says that her husband is all right when he goes out, but when he stays home he has a disagreeable habit of acting natural.

The Hedgeville Editor.

Mrs. Plank has hired a new cook so her husband will take his meals out.

Henry Kirk came near getting into trouble for speaking insultingly to a woman. But he proved in court that she was his wife.

Some people's idea of being good is to feel sorry for anybody that is in trouble.

IN former times even high born ladies and gentlemen seem not to have troubled even to wash their hands with any frequency. Even the fair and witty Margaret of Navarre on one occasion avowed her neglect of elementary cleanliness in the frankest way.

"Look at these lovely hands of mine," said she to one of her courtiers. "They have not been washed for eight days, yet I'll wager they outshine yours."

In an old French manual of etiquette, "Loix de la Galanterie," published in 1640, says the Chicago News, the complete dandy is advised to "take trouble to wash his hands every day [illegible]"

How to Become—

An After-Dinner Speaker

Say: "Mister Toastmaster."

Cough.

Adjust your tie.

Step back from the table and place both hands on the back of your chair.

Cough once more and say: "Mister Toastmaster and Ladies and Gentlemen."

Say: "We are gathered here tonight to—to—to"——

A Miner

STAKE out a claim and dig a hole in the ground. Keep on digging until you find gold, silver, copper, iron or any other mineral that has a commercial value. When you find it, bring it to the surface and sell it.

If you find nothing, it shows that you have dug the hole in the wrong place, which is a fatal error.

A Druggist

LAY in a stock of strictly pure drugs and chemicals and hire two or three expert pharmacists and a handwriting expert to decipher the doctor's prescriptions.

Then stand in the doorway of your shop and watch the crowds flock to the apothecary across the street who has an up-to-date soda fountain and a complete line of souvenir postcards.

Brother Was Lying.

POLICE courts are not always marked by an atmosphere of piety, says the Kansas City Star, but the exception to the rule occurred in a court where a very religious man against whom one of the neighbors had made a complaint was being tried for some trivial offense. The complaining witness was called to the stand to relate his side of the story and the defendant listened closely for several minutes. Then his personal feelings overrode court etiquette and he rushed up to the Judge, fervently exclaiming: "Your Honor, the brother is lying. Praise the Lord!"

Ticklish Foothold.

SOME real estate dealers in British Columbia were accused of having victimized English and Scotch settlers by selling them fruit ranches situated on the tops of mountains It is said that the captain of a steam boat on Kootenay Lake once heard a great splash in the water. Looking over the rail he spied the head of a man who was swimming toward his boat. He hailed him.

"Do you know," said the swimmer, "this is the third time today I've fallen off that bally old ranch of mine?"—Everybody's Magazine.

Of Course Not.

"You must have been mistaken, Caroline," said the lady of the house. "There aren't any such things as ghosts."

Aunt Caroline drew herself up haughtily.

"Dey ain't, ain't dey? Well, what would you say if I tole you he done spoke to me? Yessum, I heard him."

"Why, what did he say?"
